State Booze, Drug Study Rapped

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state-commissioned study on alcohol and drug abuse underestimated the use of hard drugs among blacks, said a Detroit official and a state Appeals Court Judge.

The report, paid for with $150,000 in state funds, shows there are 22,000 heroin users among whites in Michigan and 11,000 among blacks.

The report also shows three out of 10 youngsters, about 281,000 of them under 18 years of age, likely tried alcohol this month. About 115,000 persons of that age can be considered regular drinkers.

Drinking and marijuana smoking have become so common among Michigan 13-to 17-year-olds that one of two in that age group probably took a drink sometime last year. One among five tried pot, the report showed.

Michigan residents guzzled an average of 27 gallons per person in one year at a total cost of $1.3 billion, the study showed. More than 240 million gallons of beer, wine and hard liquor were consumed between July 1973 and June 1974.

The figure on numbers of heroin users is far below the actual number, said state Appeals Court Judge George Bashara. The actual number in the Detroit area alone is probably 35,000 and 52,000 statewide, said Bashara, who got those figures from the federal Drug Enforcement Administration.

Edward Leibson, director of the Wayne County Department of Substance Abuse Services, said he is concerned the study, and others like it, could lead to actual reductions in drug treatment programs in large metropolitan areas.

Leibson said the report does not reflect large numbers of black heroin addicts in the De-

Cookie Case An Isolated Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says that aside from one isolated case in Ohio, it found no further defects in the thin mint cookies distributed by Girl Scout councils.

The FDA said Thursday it had reached that conclusion after completing its evaluation of the cookies manufactured by the Burry Division of Quaker Oats.

Girl Scout councils in eight states were warned Tuesday not to sell the cookies after two slivers of glass were discovered in separate cookies in one box bearing the code number 5034.

The FDA said this was the only contamination found and that on the basis of its own analysis and information provided by Ohio authorities, it planned no further action.

The Ohio Agriculture Department said its tests also had shown that the glass slivers in the one box was an isolated incident.

According to the FDA, 5,527 cases of code 5034 cookies were manufactured in January and most of them were believed to have been distributed.

The FDA said the following 11 Girl Scout councils had received code 5034 cookies: combined council for South Bend, Ind., and Benton Harbor, Mich.; Falmouth and Sanford, Maine; Elyria and Sandusky, Ohio; Hannibal, Mo; El Paso, Tex.; York, Pa.; Canton, Ohio; Kittanning and Butler, Pa.; Logansport, Ind.; Columbus, Ohio; and Milwaukee, Wis.

North Viet Army Close To Saigon

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnamese forces overran another district capital in the central highlands today, threatening the loss of a ninth province, and took a base just 30 miles from Saigon.

The South Vietnamese government rushed more than 1,000 paratroopers to the defense of the capital.

Diplomatic and government sources in Washington and Phnom Penh said Cambodian President Lon Nol will depart shortly and that it would be a hopeful step toward negotiations with the Communist-led insurgents. Premier Long Boret formed a new cabinet but it was expected to be only a caretaker government. The U.S. airlift to Cambodia will be extended at least another month, U.S. sources said.

The South Vietnamese government rushed the paratroopers to positions within 10 miles of Saigon on the western flanks. The reinforcements were flown from the northern provinces around Hue, where sharp fighting also was reported.

As the Saigon government abandoned chunks of territory, hundreds of thousands of refugees streamed out of the affected provinces.

Up to 80 per cent of the 200,000 residents of Hue were said to have fled southward to Da Nang, 40 miles down the coast. The exodus of frightened civilians made its way in a stampede of cars, motor bikes and barefoot walkers.

About 130,000 refugees from the central highlands completed a five-day trek to the coast Thursday during which they said they were subjected to ambushes and shelling attacks along the way. The 20-mile-long caravan included cars loaded with kitchen utensils, mattresses and furniture, and a senior South Vietnamese officer called the operation a "nightmare."

The district capital that was overrun today was Kien Duc, in the lower central highlands. It fell after a 500-round artillery barrage and an infantry assault, military sources said. The loss threatened to cost the government the Province of Quang Duc, which would be the ninth lost of South Vietnam's 44 provinces.

The base that fell was at Duc Hue, near the Cambodian border 30 miles northwest of Saigon. The Saigon command said tank-led North Vietnamese forces attacked the base, knocking out the defenders' radio communications, and that the local militia force retreated.

Hanoi radio said "within a fortnight a vast area covering approximately a quarter of the whole of South Vietnam" and "with a total population of nearly one million" has been taken by the Viet Cong.

Spring In Evidence As Big Day Arrives

Spring came at 12:57 a.m. today.

Robins were all over the place. The winter frost was already out of the ground in most of southwestern Michigan. Even the weather forecast sounded like spring: Wet and windy today and Saturday.

Although the temperature dipped from the low 50s Thursday noon to the 30s as spring arrived, the mercury is forecast to stay well above the freezing point.

Temperatures were mild over most of the country from the Plains to the Atlantic, although it was chilly enough to produce snow along the northern fringe of the nation from northern Minnesota, across northern Michigan to northern New England. Snow extended down to Traverse City and Cadillac in Michigan's lower peninsula.

WANTS PROPERTY TAX RELIEF

Bowman Stalls Milliken Plan

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee says he'll block an increase in the state income tax until he gets some relief for property tax payers.

The apparently adamant position of Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, Thursday stalled until at least Monday any action on Gov. William Milliken's proposal to boost the tax from 3.9 to 4.6 per cent. It left lawmakers and the governor's office alike questioning how long Bowman would fight the increase should he not win what he called "stabilization" in property tax assessments.

Senate leaders cancelled a rare Friday session they scheduled earlier to discuss the tax measure, and Bowman's stand threatened passage by the legislature's adjournment next Wednesday for an extended Easter vacation.

Earlier this week, Bowman revealed he wants—in return for the tax increase—a rollback in property tax assessments from 50 per cent of true cash value to 45 per cent over five years. On Thursday he all but ruled out support for the income tax bill unless he gets his way, and challenged the Senate to "discharge" his committee of the measure.

"Anything we do as a committee has to be dovetailed with property tax stability," he told his committee in a brief, 20-minute meeting called to discuss the tax situation. Declaring he is waiting for reaction from House leaders and the governor's office on his proposal, Bowman said:

"I don't have anything to bring up now."

He had drafted a substitute bill calling for a sixth-tenths of a per cent increase coupled with a rollback, to 25 per cent, of the tax credit for business inventories. Milliken's proposal is a seven-tenths raise, and he opposes the inventory tax credit reduction.

On the floor of the Senate, Bowman later told his colleagues the committee "is not going to take further action until we are convinced that along with a tax increase we have a proposal to stabilize property taxes. Before I'm through with the tax bill we're going to get it or we're going to sit here until it's done."

Bowman told reporters later

Michigan Citizens Lobby To Fight Income Tax Hike

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Leaders of the group that spearheaded the drive to repeal the sales tax on food and drugs threaten they'll launch another petition drive should the legislature raise the state income tax.

The Michigan Citizens Lobby, which organized the drive to put the sales tax removal on last November's ballot—where it won—said Thursday it will fight Gov. William Milliken's proposal to raise the income tax to replace the lost revenue.

The bill, boosting the tax from 3.9 to 4.6 per cent, has passed the House and is in the Senate Taxation Committee. It is intended to replace for the state treasury the $220 million or so the sales tax on food and drugs produced each year.

But Barbara Grossman, director of the Michigan Citizens Lobby, said her organization intended the food tax removal to be a "full tax cut, not a tax shift."

Citing a poll which showed 63 per cent of Michigan taxpayers oppose such a tax increase, she said the lobby "will launch a drive to roll back the income tax increase" should it pass.

Mrs. Grossman said the lobby has presented the Senate a list of alternative ways to raise revenue—"alternatives that would not fall on middle income and working families"— to make an income tax increase unnecessary. She urged public pressure to oppose the hike.

Among the alternatives the lobby listed a tax on services purchased by other businesses, a sales tax on amusements and recreation, taxation of capital gains as regular income, an increase in the cigarette tax and others.

Detroit Lions Creating A Traffic Snafu

For the past few years the Detroit Football Company has been executing more razzle dazzle plays in the courts and financial circles than its Lions have been carrying out on the field.

According to the pre-season appraisals by the sportswriters and oddsmakers, this differential may continue for an indefinite period. The Lions are not due immediately for Super Bowl, yet their owners predictably may keep the spotlight focused on their non-athletic activities.

William Clay Ford, the company's majority stockholder and chief executive, has been at odds with Detroit civic interests since at least 1970 over Tiger (Briggs) stadium in downtown Detroit.

Common to many big city installations erected around the World War I era, it has outlived its drawing power. The structure itself is crumbly. Changing neighborhood patterns create hazards to the person and his automobile. Traffic has grown exceedingly congested.

So has the cost of building anew in more pleasant surroundings. This barometer causes the Cost of Living Index to resemble a donkey ambling uphill.

The Lions and the Detroit Tigers baseball team first approached their common difficulty as a possible joint venture (limited partnership), but preliminary cost estimates for new construction and sharp disagreement as to sharing the burden scratched this initial pass.

The two ownerships, nudged by civic interests trying to revitalize downtown Detroit, then explored the possibility of their taking a minority position on the construction cost and a municipal bond issue assuming the larger share.

This fell through because the two teams could not agree on a site location. The Lions opted for a suburban setting. The Tigers held to a downtown spot overlooking the river.

Subsequently the Tigers took the riverfront zone provided municipal financing assumed the entire construction. The courts knocked this pitch out of the park before it could go on the ballot. They ruled the Tigers' commitment on a stadium rental was so speculative as to transgress the rule against public money being diverted to private purposes.

The Lions had better luck.

Neighboring Oakland county fans put across a bond issue to build a Pontiac stadium which by lst report is running $50 million minimum. Forewarned by the earlier miscues in the Detroit proposal, the Oaklanders devised a scheme which is legally airtight.

The stadium will be ready for play this season.

One of its supportive members, a significant one, is not in the same condition.

Last week the Oakland County Road Commission declared $35 million is needed immediately to install a road system adequate to handle the Pontiac stadium's traffic.

In the haste to bring a new investment into town, the Pontiac and Oakland people gave no thought to what might be involved in making that attraction accessible.

Not only must the customer be able to get to and from the stadium with some measure of convenience, the traffic generated by him can not be permitted to choke the surrounding neighborhoods.

The chance for inducing the Oaklanders to tax themselves a second time for the Pontiac stadium is remote. So beating the path to Washington already has begun.

Electing individual villains for this fault is useless in face of the real problem itself.

This is the absence of planning and foresight in land use for one area whose effect splashes far beyond the immediate vicinity.

The legislature has been grappling with the difficulty for two years. Governor Milliken listed statewide zoning as a major point in his 1973 State of The State message. Currently there is a watered down version in committee study. Its format seem to be a case by base review of major real estate developments such as the Pontiac stadium and a scheme by some developers to convert part of the scenic Irish Hills into a Michigan Disneyland.

One tool, of more limited scope, already exists. This is countywide planning. Its adoption is optional with each county.

Local control has the virtue of greater flexibility than going to Lansing for a decision, but unless the local planners are endowed with an outlook reaching beyond their political boundaries, parochial decisions and results are guaranteed.

This column has expressed a guarded approval for Milliken's first thought. The concept itself is theoretically sound, but rigid zoning can be counterproductive and the tendency in government is never to reverse or amend a decision once made, however greatly changing circumstances render it obsolete.

Another fallacy in hard and fast zoning is its creation of questionable values and special benefits which the passage of time itself turns into outright selfishness.

So little information is presently available on the pending Land Use bill as to make it impossible to say if it could be the tool to meet future Pontiac stadium questions.

Actually the bill in its present form is no more than a step. It calls for creating a State Land Use Commission which would be required to submit a plan to the legislature for its acceptance, amendment or rejection.

Consequently until the experts put something down on paper, comment at this time would be guesswork.

The nub of the problem is to prevent a mistake such as the Pontiac stadium from inhibiting a productive, socially sound use of Michigan's acreage.

An elasticity which flows in all directions is the paramount requirement.

The Performance Was Phenomenal

For a small package with no onboard human guidance, Mariner 10 has performed with phenomenal precision. On its way now to orbit around the sun and eventual destruction, the Mariner explorer has given science much new knowledge about our universe.

Although the principal target of Mariner's investigations was the planet Mercury, it also provided scientists with a close look at Venus, one of the more mysterious of our sister planets.

One of the more significant discoveries made by Mariner was Mercury's magnetic field, made in an early sweep and explored later in one of the vehicle's final trips past the planet closest to the sun.

MINING BILL WOULD DASH U.S. ENERGY HOPES

Editor,

Electric utility company hopes for lower fuel costs in the future received a major setback in the U.S. Senate last week when it passed legislation setting up stringent regulations for the strip mining of coal. The vote was 84 to 13.

Moreover, if the bill, which now goes to the House, is enacted into law, a major source of low-sulfur coal in the west either will be inaccessible to utilities or available at a price much higher than anticipated.

The new bill requires states within 30 months to adopt regulations governing strip mining and forbids stripping unless the land to be mined can be reclaimed and returned to its approximate "original contour."

The bill also contains a provision allowing surface owners to veto strip mining by those owning mineral rights, and it taxes surface-mined coal 35 cents a ton and deep-mined coal 25 cents a ton to help pay for reclamation of abandoned mines and strip-mined surfaces.

Senator Lee Metcalf (D-Mont.), long a foe of electric utilities, said the provisions of the bill are "absolutely necessary to prevent coal operators from depositing western farms, ranches and plains."

A spokesman for the National coal association, which opposed the bill, told news media that added expenses because of the provisions of the bill could raise the price of coal by $2.50 a ton, "Thus making coal less rather than more competitive as a fuel."

It is indeed ironic that with more coal vitally needed to achieve energy independence, Congress continues to opt for legislation that makes that goal virtually impossible.

Trinity Lutheran church of St. Joseph has been accorded the honor of being named among the first seven churches in the northeastern quarter of the United States encompassing 16 states, it was revealed today.

In an article printed in "The Christian Quarterly," leading Protestant publication, the local Lutheran church was named as one of the leading congregations most worthy of study in a poll of 100,000 ministers. The article, titled "Great Churches of America," was based on the results of the poll of Protestant ministers, and states that "suburbia present American Protestantism today with what may be its greatest opportunity. Suburbia also poses its most baffling problems." Trinity Lutheran church, which grew to fame in mid-west Protestant circles during the pastorate of the late Rev. Louis Nuechterlein, is the largest Protestant church in the twin city area with several thousand parishioners.

The tragedy of the tornado which swept a large area in southern Illinois, Indiana and other states this week touched the heart of Charlie Stewart, who can neither read the story of the devastation nor see the pictures of the devastation — for Charlie is blind. He makes his living selling newspapers and magazines.

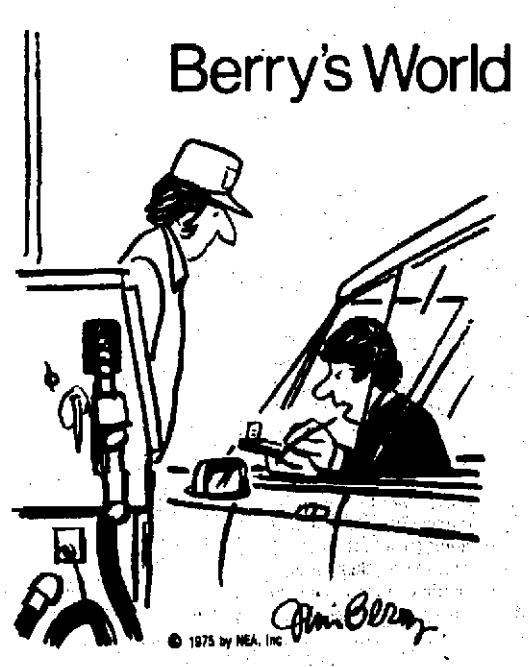

Charlie came to The News-Palladium this morning and contributed $5 to the Red Cross relief fund. Yesterday the Benton Harbor Malleable gave $100 and the Berrien County Branch of the Red Cross voted $100. The American Laundry company in Benton Harbor came through today with two fine contributions to the relief fund. The company itself sent in $25 and the employes of the concern, between 30 and 35, sent it $18.35. It was a 100 per cent collection from the employes, each employe giving something as his or her resources would permit.

— 75 Years Ago —

The outlook for a fruit crop in Berrien county was never better. Peaches, the leading crop, are helped by the prolonged winter, and owing to the reported failure of peaches in the south and east, a high price is expected. This is shown by the fact that agents are already making liberal offers for orchards — something never before known at this season. In other fruits — strawberries, pears, grapes and bushberries — the yield promises to be the greatest on record in the county. There is a probability that the West Michigan Nursery Co. will build a canning factory at Eau Claire this year to handle their surplus fruit.

Harry Weber, of Benton Harbor, and a capitalist of Lamont, Ill., will open a bank at Eau Claire.

It is said by those in a position to know that more timber has been cut and shipped in Van Buren, Cass and Berrien counties this winter than in any other season for the past eighteen years. Most of it has been basswood and other soft wood for the berry box factories, although there has also been a fine lot of hickory.

Sports Today: Bloody Mayhem

WASHINGTON — A man pays $7 to see a hockey game today and what he purchases is a war. The only difference between the players and soldiers is they don't wear bandoleers on ice. Some of the game's survivors have grown rich doing things outlawed in Geneva 50 years ago. Blood flows, bones break, eyes are blackened, flesh rips. Some time after the third quarter, they should evacuate the wounded by helicopter.

This is sport?

It is only if they have begun measuring ability by intimidation. What goes on in America's arenas today must be defined as mayhem. If it continues unpoliced, the summary scores of the future may read: "runs, hits, errors, fractures, transfusions and fatalities." Grantland Rice, bless him, must be weeping in that great pressbox in the sky.

Assuredly, hockey is the offensive champion of the matter. Last year a NHL sport named Dave Forbes stuck his stick in an opponent's eye, provoking lengthy loss of vision, not to mention 30 stitches of repair. No doubt worried about what the kids in the audience might think, old Dave explained his actions after being indicted for assault as "aggressive brotherhood.

"People don't understand what goes on out there," old Dave assured the children. "Players have mutual respect for each other."

Unfortunately, such respect is not confined to hockey. Football is organized destruction, professional 'basketball has become an aggregate of mercenary Huns, auto racing is the sport to see if one enjoys the odor of roasting hair. Baseball used used to be the national pastime, now save an occasional field rumble ("Lemme lay the lumber on him," as they say) it has given way to the Roller Derby. One must pause here to describe the Roller Derby adequately: It is commercial guerrilla activity.

Dr. Paul Weiss, a Catholic University academic who has written a volume on the philosophy of sport, says pastimes like poetry were invented out of virtuous need but like poetry, have been vulgarized. He understates it.

The other evening, the middleweight boxing champion of the galaxy, a chap named Roberto Duran, knocked an opponent unconscious for half an hour, then boasted: "If I had been in normal shape, he would have gone to the morgue instead of the hospital." Vulgarization? Watching a boxing match is often the same as watching someone kick his dog.

To be sure, there are those who'd buy season tickets to dog kicking. Some fans in the realm enjoy anything with stench, so long as there are odds. If a tiger kills a man, as Shaw said, it's terrible, dut if a man kills a tiger it's sport. It is these fans, as much as anything else, who demand the worst from athletes. They are morbid voyeurs, some of them without whose support sport owners and participants would be drudging away at time-clock jobs.

This shame is not confined to America, of course. (Many nations stoop as low for recreation — a bull fight, to illustrate, is as competitive as Christians vs. Lions and once every decade, some boob is gored and so gives testimoney to the ticket sellers' insistence of pavilion suspense.) Ordinary Fellow Wins A Right

WASHINGTON — An ordinary fellow rebelled against the system the other day, and won.

It was no big deal. It has nothing to do with reforming governments nor inspiring generations. But it was very satisfactory, in its way.

In today's society, the average homeowner is subjected helplessly to a variety of indignities and pressures imposed by an impersonal system. Real estate taxes go up. Heating bills go up. Electricity costs go up. Etc., etc.

Most of us just hunker down and absorb the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune.

But a person has to draw the line somewhere. That time came recently for a suburban Washington development homeowner named Richard Albright. He went to court to defy his neighbors and win the right to enjoy his favorite television programs.

When Thomas Jefferson wrote that every American is entitled to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," he could not have dreamed that pursuit some day might include the freedom to watch television.

Can a man's home be his castle without basketball being broadcast into the living room every Saturday? Can revolution be far behind if the kiddies have no way to watch "Seasame Street?"

The American way for many people now means comfortable, free evenings at home watching everything from advertising trash to informative documentaries. It does not matter what they watch. Their right to do it has become practically a cornerstone of democracy.

The Fairfax County Circuit Court said that a community association may not impose upon a homeowner an unreasonable antenna ban. Albright lives in a new development of modern houses which imposes a restrictive covenant outlawing rooftop antennas. Such covenants, covering a wide variety of outside additions or colors changes, are fairly common in development contracts to preserve the "architectural integrity" of the community.

But after Albright moved in, he discovered that his television reception was lousy. The developer had promised to build a master antenna but never got around to it.

Albright did the sensible thing and erected a rooftop antenna so that his family could watch television without eyestrain and irritation. The local homeowner's association told him it violated esthetic standards and sued to force him to go back to bad reception.

Whether Albright's victory will help other homeowners with similar problems is uncertain. There is no constitutional right to good television. (In fact, the Surpeme Court said last year there is not even a constitutional right to education).

But this little episode involves more than just Albright's desire to spend a pleasant evening in front of the television tube. There is a genuine conflict here between a citizen's need for free communication and his need for a decent environment.

The judge felt that easy access to information was more important than a rooftop eyesore.

Lucky Albright. It came just in time for the opening of the baseball season.

Detroit Lions Creating A Traffic Snafu

For the past few years the Detroit Football Company has been executing more razzle dazzle plays in the courts and financial circles than its Lions have been carrying out on the field.

According to the pre-season appraisals by the sportswriters and oddsmakers, this differential may continue for an indefinite period. The Lions are not due immediately for Super Bowl, yet their owners predictably may keep the spotlight focused on their non-athletic activities.

William Clay Ford, the company's majority stockholder and chief executive, has been at odds with Detroit civic interests since at least 1970 over Tiger (Briggs) stadium in downtown Detroit.

Common to many big city installations erected around the World War I era, it has outlived its drawing power. The structure itself is crumbly. Changing neighborhood patterns create hazards to the person and his automobile. Traffic has grown exceedingly congested.

So has the cost of building anew in more pleasant surroundings. This barometer causes the Cost of Living Index to resemble a donkey ambling uphill.

The Lions and the Detroit Tigers baseball team first approached their common difficulty as a possible joint venture (limited partnership), but preliminary cost estimates for new construction and sharp disagreement as to sharing the burden scratched this initial pass.

The two ownerships, nudged by civic interests trying to revitalize downtown Detroit, then explored the possibility of their taking a minority position on the construction cost and a municipal bond issue assuming the larger share.

This fell through because the two teams could not agree on a site location. The Lions opted for a suburban setting. The Tigers held to a downtown spot overlooking the river.

Subsequently the Tigers took the riverfront zone provided municipal financing assumed the entire construction. The courts knocked this pitch out of the park before it could go on the ballot. They ruled the Tigers' commitment on a stadium rental was so speculative as to transgress the rule against public money being diverted to private purposes.

The Lions had better luck.

Neighboring Oakland county fans put across a bond issue to build a Pontiac stadium which by lst report is running $50 million minimum. Forewarned by the earlier miscues in the Detroit proposal, the Oaklanders devised a scheme which is legally airtight.

The stadium will be ready for play this season.

One of its supportive members, a significant one, is not in the same condition.

Last week the Oakland County Road Commission declared $35 million is needed immediately to install a road system adequate to handle the Pontiac stadium's traffic.

In the haste to bring a new investment into town, the Pontiac and Oakland people gave no thought to what might be involved in making that attraction accessible.

Not only must the customer be able to get to and from the stadium with some measure of convenience, the traffic generated by him can not be permitted to choke the surrounding neighborhoods.

The chance for inducing the Oaklanders to tax themselves a second time for the Pontiac stadium is remote. So beating the path to Washington already has begun.

Electing individual villains for this fault is useless in face of the real problem itself.

This is the absence of planning and foresight in land use for one area whose effect splashes far beyond the immediate vicinity.

The legislature has been grappling with the difficulty for two years. Governor Milliken listed statewide zoning as a major point in his 1973 State of The State message. Currently there is a watered down version in committee study. Its format seem to be a case by base review of major real estate developments such as the Pontiac stadium and a scheme by some developers to convert part of the scenic Irish Hills into a Michigan Disneyland.

One tool, of more limited scope, already exists. This is countywide planning. Its adoption is optional with each county.

Local control has the virtue of greater flexibility than going to Lansing for a decision, but unless the local planners are endowed with an outlook reaching beyond their political boundaries, parochial decisions and results are guaranteed.

This column has expressed a guarded approval for Milliken's first thought. The concept itself is theoretically sound, but rigid zoning can be counterproductive and the tendency in government is never to reverse or amend a decision once made, however greatly changing circumstances render it obsolete.

Another fallacy in hard and fast zoning is its creation of questionable values and special benefits which the passage of time itself turns into outright selfishness.

So little information is presently available on the pending Land Use bill as to make it impossible to say if it could be the tool to meet future Pontiac stadium questions.

Actually the bill in its present form is no more than a step. It calls for creating a State Land Use Commission which would be required to submit a plan to the legislature for its acceptance, amendment or rejection.

Consequently until the experts put something down on paper, comment at this time would be guesswork.

The nub of the problem is to prevent a mistake such as the Pontiac stadium from inhibiting a productive, socially sound use of Michigan's acreage.

An elasticity which flows in all directions is the paramount requirement.

Although the principal target of Mariner's investigations was the planet Mercury, it also provided scientists with a close look at Venus, one of the more mysterious of our sister planets.

One of the more significant discoveries made by Mariner was Mercury's magnetic field, made in an early sweep and explored later in one of the vehicle's final trips past the planet closest to the sun.

MINING BILL WOULD DASH U.S. ENERGY HOPES

Editor,

Electric utility company hopes for lower fuel costs in the future received a major setback in the U.S. Senate last week when it passed legislation setting up stringent regulations for the strip mining of coal. The vote was 84 to 13.

Moreover, if the bill, which now goes to the House, is enacted into law, a major source of low-sulfur coal in the west either will be inaccessible to utilities or available at a price much higher than anticipated.

The new bill requires states within 30 months to adopt regulations governing strip mining and forbids stripping unless the land to be mined can be reclaimed and returned to its approximate "original contour."

The bill also contains a provision allowing surface owners to veto strip mining by those owning mineral rights, and it taxes surface-mined coal 35 cents a ton and deep-mined coal 25 cents a ton to help pay for reclamation of abandoned mines and strip-mined surfaces.

Senator Lee Metcalf (D-Mont.), long a foe of electric utilities, said the provisions of the bill are "absolutely necessary to prevent coal operators from depositing western farms, ranches and plains."

A spokesman for the National coal association, which opposed the bill, told news media that added expenses because of the provisions of the bill could raise the price of coal by $2.50 a ton, "Thus making coal less rather than more competitive as a fuel."

It is indeed ironic that with more coal vitally needed to achieve energy independence, Congress continues to opt for legislation that makes that goal virtually impossible.

Firm Lists BH School Men As Directors

E.E. BENTLEY

By JAMES SHANAHAN
BH City Editor

Richard F. Helser, superintendent of Benton Harbor schools, and E. E. (Bill) Bentley, president of the board of education, are on the board of directors of a Kalamazoo-based governmental consulting firm.

Also a member of the board of Professional Public Consultants, Inc., is Kalamazoo Atty. Darrel D. Jacobs, who represents the Benton Harbor board of education in labor relations.

The Kalamazoo Gazette reported Professional Public Consultants (PPC) bills itself as "a full-service consulting firm working with public education and local governmental units."

The board of directors of PPC last month announced James L. Caplinger, former Kalamazoo city manager, had been appointed executive director.

Helser and Bentley told The Herald-Palladium Thursday they are on the board of directors by virtue of owning stock in PPC. Both said they are not working members of the firm and not involved in the actual operation which is headed by Caplinger. Bentley is manager of displays and conventions for Whirlpool Corp.

The Kalamazoo Gazette reported "management by objective systems" is the main service the firm provides school systems and local governments.

Labor negotiations, community involvement and public relations are among the services provided in addition to specific program planning, the Gazette said.

Helser described the firms "as just getting started," said he was impressed with its potential and "stuck a little money in some stock."

Helser said as far he knows the firm does not yet have any working contracts with governmental units. He said he understands contracts are in the talking stage, principally with township governments and county road commissions.

Also listed on the board of directors is Dr. Evart Ardis, of Ann Arbor, a University of Michigan placement specialist. Helser said he understands more directors will be added to the board.

The Gazette said Caplinger resigned as city manager Dec. 8 after 6½ years. The newspaper quoted him as saying the philosophies of himself and the Kalamazoo city commission had "drifted apart."

Caplinger will remain on the city payroll at his $32,000 annual salary until June, serving as a consultant.

AT MORTON, THEY NIP CRIME IN BUD

Principal Taps Students And Parents To Help Curb Minor Problems

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

"Call the police" may be the first thought for residents of the Henry C. Morton elementary school neighborhood when they observe minor problems involving school children.

But not any more if Morton Principal Clarence Hodges has his way.

As a type of crime prevention, Hodges has asked neighbors to call him instead of police when minor problems arise with students after school in the Morton area on Benton Harbor's northeast side.

NEW LOCATION: The Benton Harbor office of Beneficial Finance System has moved to 1675 Reeder street, just north of Napier avenue, in Benton township. Beneficial was in the Fidelity building in downtown Benton Harbor 47 years as an original tenant. Manager Art Kalinas stands in front of new location with Mrs. William Schumacher, who with her husband owns building. (Staff photo)

Residents are still urged to contact police first when a serious crime or accident occurs.

The crime prevention step is part of a program called "Serve Our School to Save Our School" or "SOS to SOS."

The SOS program is an attempt by Hodges to get parents and residents more involved with the Morton elementary school, 267 North Hull avenue, Benton Harbor.

As another facet of SOS Hodges has asked parents of Morton students to donate some of their spare time to supervise school activities such as recess and library sessions.

Residents near Morton school are asked to call Hodges from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the school if they are having problems with students on their way home from school.

Hodges said he will respond immediately in person to the scene. He said many times in the past residents will call the police, who will respond as soon as possible, but may be delayed because of other complaints.

Also Hodges said by knowing most of his students and their routes home he can tell who is causing the trouble.

Hodges said he is mainly concerned with minor incidents such as newspapers being taken, broken windows, scuffles and other mischief. He said if he comes across something serious police will be notified immediately.

According to Hodges, once he locates the youth who caused the problem he will contact the parents and discuss alternatives to correct the situation.

He emphasizes, "This isn't strictly a disciplinary program, it's more of a corrective program."

According to Hodges, the program is not entirely new. He said, "In years past I used to patrol the area in my car just after school closed at 2:30 p.m."

"But with spring just around the corner this is the time when students begin to stay outside longer and are getting a little restless after being cooped up all winter," he said.

"So I can use a little help from the residents," Hodges said. Hodges said he did not feel Morton was having any more problems than any of the other area schools.

"We're just interested in the student for his own sake. When a child finds out you're concerned he's actually happy and responds better when he's corrected," Hodges said.

Hodges has been principal at Morton since the 1966-67 school year.

Hodges said he has been assured of cooperation from the Benton Harbor police department and especially the Crime Prevention Unit.

Firm Lists BH School Men As Directors

By JAMES SHANAHAN
BH City Editor

Richard F. Helser, superintendent of Benton Harbor schools, and E. E. (Bill) Bentley, president of the board of education, are on the board of directors of a Kalamazoo-based governmental consulting firm.

Also a member of the board of Professional Public Consultants, Inc., is Kalamazoo Atty. Darrel D. Jacobs, who represents the Benton Harbor board of education in labor relations.

The Kalamazoo Gazette reported Professional Public Consultants (PPC) bills itself as "a full-service consulting firm working with public education and local governmental units."

The board of directors of PPC last month announced James L. Caplinger, former Kalamazoo city manager, had been appointed executive director.

Helser and Bentley told The Herald-Palladium Thursday they are on the board of directors by virtue of owning stock in PPC. Both said they are not working members of the firm and not involved in the actual operation which is headed by Caplinger. Bentley is manager of displays and conventions for Whirlpool Corp.

The Kalamazoo Gazette reported "management by objective systems" is the main service the firm provides school systems and local governments.

Labor negotiations, community involvement and public relations are among the services provided in addition to specific program planning, the Gazette said.

Helser described the firms "as just getting started," said he was impressed with its potential and "stuck a little money in some stock."

Helser said as far he knows the firm does not yet have any working contracts with governmental units. He said he understands contracts are in the talking stage, principally with township governments and county road commissions.

Also listed on the board of directors is Dr. Evart Ardis, of Ann Arbor, a University of Michigan placement specialist. Helser said he understands more directors will be added to the board.

The Gazette said Caplinger resigned as city manager Dec. 8 after 6½ years. The newspaper quoted him as saying the philosophies of himself and the Kalamazoo city commission had "drifted apart."

Caplinger will remain on the city payroll at his $32,000 annual salary until June, serving as a consultant.

AT MORTON, THEY NIP CRIME IN BUD

Principal Taps Students And Parents To Help Curb Minor Problems

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

"Call the police" may be the first thought for residents of the Henry C. Morton elementary school neighborhood when they observe minor problems involving school children.

But not any more if Morton Principal Clarence Hodges has his way.

As a type of crime prevention, Hodges has asked neighbors to call him instead of police when minor problems arise with students after school in the Morton area on Benton Harbor's northeast side.

Residents are still urged to contact police first when a serious crime or accident occurs.

The crime prevention step is part of a program called "Serve Our School to Save Our School" or "SOS to SOS."

The SOS program is an attempt by Hodges to get parents and residents more involved with the Morton elementary school, 267 North Hull avenue, Benton Harbor.

As another facet of SOS Hodges has asked parents of Morton students to donate some of their spare time to supervise school activities such as recess and library sessions.

Residents near Morton school are asked to call Hodges from 2:30 to 3.30 p.m. at the school if they are having problems with students on their way home from school.

Hodges said he will respond immediately in person to the scene. He said many times in the past residents will call the police, who will respond as soon as possible, but may be delayed because of other complaints.

Also Hodges said by knowing most of his students and their routes home he can tell who is causing the trouble.

Hodges said he is mainly concerned with minor incidents such as newspapers being taken, broken windows, scuffles and other mischief. He said if he comes across something serious police will be notified immediately.

According to Hodges, once he locates the youth who caused the problem he will contact the parents and discuss alternatives to correct the situation.

He emphasizes, "This isn't strictly a disciplinary program, it's more of a corrective program."

According to Hodges, the program is not entirely new. He said, "In years past I used to patrol the area in my car just after school closed at 2:30 p.m."

"But with spring just around the corner this is the time when students begin to stay outside longer and are getting a little restless after being cooped up all winter," he said.

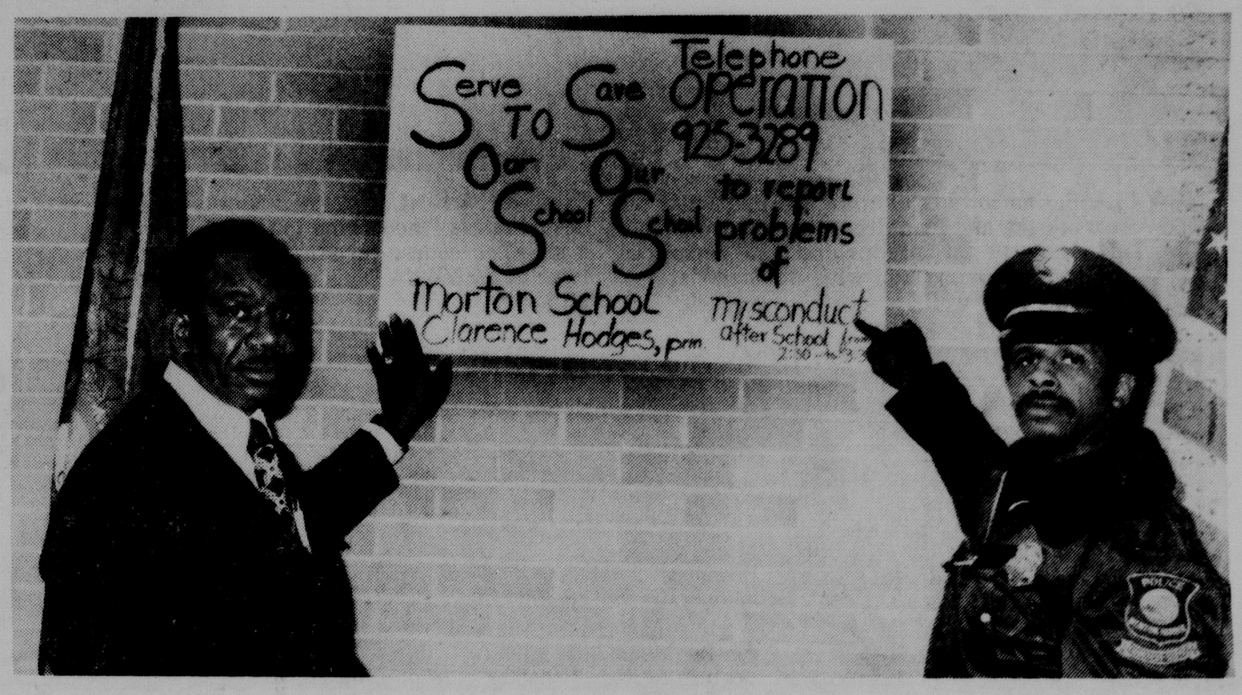

"So I can use a little help from the residents," Hodges said. Hodges said he did not feel Morton was having any more problems than any of the other area schools.

"We're just interested in the student for his own sake. When a child finds out you're concerned he's actually happy and responds better when he's corrected," Hodges said.

Hodges has been principal at Morton since the 1966-67 school year.

Hodges said he has been assured of cooperation from the Benton Harbor police department and especially the Crime Prevention Unit.

"I know the program will work, I just need the help of what has been, up to this point, a kind of untapped source — the residents of the Morton school area, Hodges said.

Special Award At EMU

Donna Tinberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tinberg, 1216 Hillcrest, St. Joseph, has been awarded an upperclass residential award for leadership at Eastern Michigan university.

The scholarship helps pay dormitory room and board expenses.

Miss Tinberg is a sophomore majoring in special education. She is also active in residence hall government on campus.

Hot Clam Pepper Combo

The heat's on with Hot Clam and Pepper Combo! In saucepan, cook two tablespoons chopped green pepper in two tablespoons butter or margarine until tender.

Add one can (10¾ ounces) condensed New England clam chowder, one soup can milk, and one-half teaspoon dry mustard. Heat, stir occasionally. Makes about three cups.

March Goes Out With Lamb

Passover and Easter come early this year. For tradition-minded cooks this means that March will go out with lamb on the table. Lamb, of course, is customary fare for Easter dinner and for Passover Seder meals.

In addition to being traditional, lamb is a good source of vitamins B-1 and B-2, iron and niacin. And, most cuts of lamb are naturally tender because they come from sheep under one year old.

When buying lamb, look for the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) grade shield. This is a reliable guide to good eating characteristics such as tenderness, juiciness and flavor.

There are three USDA quality grades that you should look for at the meat counter: Prime, Choice and Good.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) says the grade you are most likely to see in stores is USDA Choice. This is high quality meat that will be tender, juicy and flavorful. Choice lamb chops and roasts are suitable for dry heat cooking. Prime grade lamb is the highest quality but is not carried widely at the retail level. It has generous marbling — flecks of fat within the lean — which contribute to the flavor and juiciness. Prime chops and roasts are excellent for broiling and roasting.

In addition to quality grade, AMS meat grading specialists also advise consumers to pay attention to the cut of the meat. Regardless of quality, some cuts of lamb are naturally more tender than others. Cuts from the less-used muscles along the back of the animal — the rib and loin sections — will always be more tender than those from the active muscles such as the shoulder, flank and leg.

The most tender cuts make up only a small proportion of the lamb carcass — and they are in greatest demand, and command a higher price than other cuts.

Consistently tender lamb cuts include the sirloin chop or steak, the loin chop, loin roast, rib chop and rib roast. You will find that most cuts of USDA Prime and Choice lamb — including shoulder cuts — are tender and can be oven roasted, broiled or pan-broiled. A leg of lamb graded Choice or Prime, for example, is a delicate delight when oven roasted.

The less tender cuts — the breast, riblets, neck and shanks — are sometimes more economical — and can be braised slowly to make excellent and tender lamb dishes.

Let In Sunshine

Let the sun shine in with a colorful pajama bag that's easy to make out of laundry-loving fabrics.

A 20-inch yellow circle and a 22-inch orange circle make up the body. Cut the 22-inch circle in half and insert a 16-inch "invisible" zipper according to package directions. This will form the back of the pajama bag. Using a nose and mouth cut from the orange fabric, two half-dollar size circles for eyes and two four-inch magenta circles for cheeks, topstitch the features into place on the yellow circle to form a cheerful, smiling face. Stitch several rows of orange rickrack in various widths across the top of the face.

To complete the bag, place the wrong sides of the two circles together, and topstitch ⅛-inch from the edge of the yellow circle. Then trim off the orange circle and you have a gay, decorative pajama bag that's a snap to keep clean and bright.

It has generous marbling — flecks of fat within the lean — which contribute to the flavor and juiciness. Prime chops and roasts are excellent for broiling and roasting.

In addition to quality grade, AMS meat grading specialists also advise consumers to pay attention to the cut of the meat. Regardless of quality, some cuts of lamb are naturally more tender than others. Cuts from the less-used muscles along the back of the animal — the rib and loin sections — will always be more tender than those from the active muscles such as the shoulder, flank and leg.

The most tender cuts make up only a small proportion of the lamb carcass — and they are in greatest demand, and command a higher price than other cuts.

Consistently tender lamb cuts include the sirloin chop or steak, the loin chop, loin roast, rib chop and rib roast. You will find that most cuts of USDA Prime and Choice lamb — including shoulder cuts — are tender and can be oven roasted, broiled or pan-broiled. A leg of lamb graded Choice or Prime, for example, is a delicate delight when oven roasted.

The less tender cuts — the breast, riblets, neck and shanks — are sometimes more economical — and can be braised slowly to make excellent and tender lamb dishes.

Let In Sunshine

Let the sun shine in with a colorful pajama bag that's easy to make out of laundry-loving fabrics.

A 20-inch yellow circle and a 22-inch orange circle make up the body. Cut the 22-inch circle in half and insert a 16-inch "invisible" zipper according to package directions. This will form the back of the pajama bag. Using a nose and mouth cut from the orange fabric, two half-dollar size circles for eyes and two four-inch magenta circles for cheeks, topstitch the features into place on the yellow circle to form a cheerful, smiling face. Stitch several rows of orange rickrack in various widths across the top of the face.

To complete the bag, place the wrong sides of the two circles together, and topstitch ⅛-inch from the edge of the yellow circle. Then trim off the orange circle and you have a gay, decorative pajama bag that's a snap to keep clean and bright.

Church Has Donkey For Palm Sunday Parade

TIM MILLS AND 'HEZEKIAH'

COLOMA — The Coloma United Methodist church which initiated the Palm Sunday parade in Coloma has its own donkey to use in this year's parade.

The parade begins at 10:30 a.m. and joining with the Coloma United Methodist church will be the Riverside United Methodist church, the First Congregational United Church of Christ, Coloma, and Newhope United Methodist church of Bainbridge.

The congregation of the Coloma United Methodist church had been unable to locate a donkey to use in this year's parade. Through several contacts, the Rev. Carl Hausermann, pastor, was able to find a donkey in Shipshewanna, Ind.

The donkey is a gift to the church through an anonymous donor and will be boarded at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Mills. The Mills' son, Tim, will give the animal special care.

The donkey has been named, "Hezekiah," in memory of the stubborn king of Israel in the Old Testament. However, the donkey is reported to be very gentle, according to the Rev. Hausermann.

"Hezzy" will make her first appearance in the Palm Sunday parade which will begin at Gilson Park and continue through the downtown area.

Lenten Meditation

Rev. Curtis W. Runkel
Zion Evangelical Church, St. Joseph
Today's Scripture: John 12:1-3

Mary's impulsive act of pouring the expensive ointment on the feet of Jesus disgusted and enraged Judas and the other disciples. Much better, they reasoned, to have exchanged it for funds to feed and clothe the poor.

Poverty in Palistine during those days was a grim and dreadful fact; gross overcrowding, horrible housing and not a little unemployment were all too common then as now.

To argue against the disciples is difficult. Didn't Christ himself devote his ministry to feeding the hungry, attending the sick, quieting the anxious and befriending the lonely?

He emphasized the concern for others and identified with the poor by saying, "As ye do it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye do it unto me."

But Jesus also realized that often well intended good works for the poor and many attempts at social reform turn out to be human disasters both for the givers and receivers. Disasters because they are not motivated rightly. Christ said, "She did a beautiful thing" meaning that an act of adoration and dedication to God brings us to a wonderful oneness with Him.

From that relationship comes the motivation and direction to effectively serve man.

These Lenten Meditations are coordinated by the Berrien County Council of Churches.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

The Time To Quit Is Now

Dear Ann Landers: I read your response to the 14-year-old girl whose parents didn't want her to smoke so she did it behind their backs. She thought it would have been a lot smarter if her folks had given their permission rather than making a "sneak out of her."

I know a little about smoking because I started at 15 for the same reasons that most teenagers start. They think it's cool. They like the feeling of freedom and independence it gives them. They feel grown up. Never mind the holes burned in their clothes, the bad breath, the $300 a year spent on the damned things. Their smoking friends won't say anything — except maybe, "Got a cigaret? I'm out" — but their non-smoking friends view them as weak and hooked by a dirty habit.

If I sound like a square, let me tell you that I've tried such an assortment of illegal drugs it would make your head swim. I've had pot, LSD, uppers and downers, mescaline, cocaine and even heroin. But the only thing I CAN'T get off of is cigarets.

So please, Ann, print this letter for your teenage readers with this message from me. QUIT NOW. You might not be able to later — and it's a lousy habit that can ruin your health. — Old Enough To Know Better

Dear Better: Thanks for your letter. And now a message from me to YOU. There is no such thing as CAN'T — only WON'T. Millions of nicotine addicts have kicked the habit and you can, too. Suffer a little now for the added benefits that will last you a lifetime.

Wants Child

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are taking care of my sister's son who is 18 months old. She asked us if we'd keep him until we got tired of him.

He is such an adorable little guy I don't see how anyone could ever get tired of him. Our own little girl will be four years old next month.

My sister is 22. This is her second out-of-wedlock child. The first one died from neglect. She is the type who moves from guy to guy and won't listen to anyone.

My husband and I have always wanted two children, a boy and a girl. This little nephew is just like a son. Is there any way we can adopt him legally? We love him very much — which is more than I can say for his mother. She rarely calls and hardly ever comes to see him. Can you help us? — Want Him Desperately

Dear Want Him: Your sister is the only person who can give you permission to adopt this child legally. I hope, with all my heart, that she will. Obviously he has a wonderful home with you and it would be an act of wisdom and generosity if she would sign the papers.

Show her this column if you think it will help. I'm keeping my fingers crossed.

Ugly Mole

Dear Ann Landers: Recently a very fine man who has taken me out several times embarrassed me by asking a rather personal question. He wanted to know why I didn't "do something" about a hair-sprouting mole on my cheek. I told him I had seen a doctor and he said to leave it alone because it's deeply rooted and removal might be dangerous.

My friend said the doctor was full of baloney. What about this, Ann? — Surprised

Dear S.: If the mole is deeply rooted the removal might leave an indentation, but it would look better than a hair-sprouting mole. See another doctor. The only moles that might produce problems upon a removal attempt are those near the eyelids or the nose.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Almost Reverent

Ever watch men at a sportsmen boat and travel show?

Some of them have that frustrated, trapped look like they are reading Playboy and their wives are turning the pages.

Others run their fingers over the motors and the hitches with the childish excitement of Tom Sawyer launching a raft.

As I watched my husband last week eyeballing a mobile bachelor pad, I can honestly say I have never seen a look on a man's face like that before.

He was almost reverent as he stood in the middle of the overstuffed deep purple shag carpet on two levels that took the place of furniture. His eyes took in the wet bar, and the refrigerator, the wine cellar conveniently positioned into what the designer referred to as a "fellowship" area. They came to rest on a reclining chair (what else?) next to the driver's seat.

I touched his arm, "I don't want to know what you are thinking. I don't care. We've had a good marriage, three wonderful children and I've never been sorry I stuck with you when you let your G.I. insurance lapse."

He steadied himself, "I'll be all right. It's just that I had forgotten what it is like to see a wine rack that doesn't hold unpaid bills."

"I know," I comforted. "I felt the same way the day I went into Clara Creech's home and found a pencil by the telephone. You don't forget things like that."

"What happened?" he said slowly, clutching an ice bucket to his chest. "How did we let our camping get so...uncivilized?"

"Well, one of the kids wanted to bring a friend, so two of them had to sleep on the converted kitchen table, one in a rack overhead and the other in a cot in front of the door.

"We had no place to store our daughter's guitar so we had to tape it to the commode and hold it on our lap everytime nature called.

"The shag rug was impractical after the cupboard doors flew open when you stopped suddenly and we had wall-to-wall corn meal. And we can't sacrifice storage space. After all, where would we put the Frisbees, the sleeping bags, the transistors, the sweaters, the rain gear, the 102 plastic pieces of Ft. Courage, and Brucie's vaporizer for his asthma?"

"It's okay," he said holding up his hand for silence, "just give me a minute."

Here is a good hand with which to test your friends' ability to defend. However, don't laugh at those who fail the test. We doubt if one bridge player in a thousand will make the winning play.

South wins the first club, leads the nine of diamonds and lets it ride after West plays low. If East also plays low, he is a bridge genius. If he goes up with the queen, he is just an ordinary player. Yet some real study will show that the play of the queen can't succeed in defeating the contract.

East should know that his partner holds the ace of diamonds because there would be no reason for South to lead any card but the ace if he held it.

How many diamonds does South hold? Probably exactly two. He has bid two suits and notrump. He surely has 11 cards outside of diamonds. So if East plays low, South will lead a second diamond, play dummy's jack and watch the hand collapse since South will never be able to bring in the diamond suit.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My family insists that I am deaf. I keep telling them that they just talk too softly and they mumble. They think I need a hearing aid. I think they need speech training.

Mr. R.O., Wash.

Dear Mr. O.:

Your letter is a variation of one I frequently receive from readers.

Many people with hearing impairment simply refuse to acknowledge this defect. They delude themselves into thinking that those who surround them are at fault. They will not come face to face with the reality of an existing hearing problem.

In their unwillingness to admit their handicap, many deafened people narrow their areas of interest and limit their personal activites. They give up dinners and bridge parties. They pretend boredom with social relationships in an effort to conceal their deafness. They manipulate their lives in the home and at work to adapt to the hearing impairment they deny.

Your family does not mean to be critical of you because you can't hear. Rather, they want to help you confront the problem and seek the medical help you need.

Some families who live with a deafened or hard-of-hearing person inadvertently fall into the trap of shouting and raising their voices so the deaf can hear better. This only serves to delay the admission of deafness, finding the cause of deafness, and getting the help to correct it.

When the false self-imposed stigma of deafness is removed, the deaf person has taken the first step towards a happier, revitalized life.

Complete examination of the hearing mechianism by an ear specialist will take the guesswork out of your problem.

Tests with tuning forks, audiometers and electronic equipment can readily demonstate the nature of your hearing problem, its severity and the possible benefits of a hearing device.

Today the deaf are being liberated from the silent barriers that confine them to an anxious, frustrating, humorless, and often friendless existence.

Wide horizons in modern medicine and technology have been opened for the relief of many hearing problems.

Greater benefits in your work or career will come your way this year. If you manage your money wisely, you can accumulate a sizable nest egg by year's end.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My family insists that I am deaf. I keep telling them that they just talk too softly and they mumble. They think I need a hearing aid. I think they need speech training.

Mr. R.O., Wash.

Dear Mr. O.:

Your letter is a variation of one I frequently receive from readers.

Many people with hearing impairment simply refuse to acknowledge this defect. They delude themselves into thinking that those who surround them are at fault. They will not come face to face with the reality of an existing hearing problem.

In their unwillingness to admit their handicap, many deafened people narrow their areas of interest and limit their personal activites. They give up dinners and bridge parties. They pretend boredom with social relationships in an effort to conceal their deafness. They manipulate their lives in the home and at work to adapt to the hearing impairment they deny.

Your family does not mean to be critical of you because you can't hear. Rather, they want to help you confront the problem and seek the medical help you need.

Some families who live with a deafened or hard-of-hearing person inadvertently fall into the trap of shouting and raising their voices so the deaf can hear better. This only serves to delay the admission of deafness, finding the cause of deafness, and getting the help to correct it.

When the false self-imposed stigma of deafness is removed, the deaf person has taken the first step towards a happier, revitalized life.

Complete examination of the hearing mechianism by an ear specialist will take the guesswork out of your problem.

Tests with tuning forks, audiometers and electronic equipment can readily demonstate the nature of your hearing problem, its severity and the possible benefits of a hearing device.

Today the deaf are being liberated from the silent barriers that confine them to an anxious, frustrating, humorless, and often friendless existence.

Wide horizons in modern medicine and technology have been opened for the relief of many hearing problems.

Music May Be Health Hazard

CALIFORNIA, Pa. (AP) — Super-loud rock music is a health hazard and may be illegal under certain conditions, according to a safety consultant.

Randall Davidson, who heads a private firm here called the International Safety Institute, says he has measured the sound levels at hundreds of nightclubs and discotheques across the country.

He says bands often play at a decibel level between the rumble of a subway train and the roar of a jet plane at takeoff.

In numbers, that comes out above the allowable limit of 115 decibels for 15 minutes specified under the federal Occupational Safety and Health Standards Act of 1970, he says.

Discotheque patrons are not covered by the law, but club employes are.

"I've seen kids who would come out of those places and not be able to hear for two or three days," said Davidson. "It causes high blood pressure, migraine headaches and all the stomach problems that go along with being upset."

Dr. F.A. Van Atta, senior scientist of the Labor Department division charged with enforcing the act, said strict enforcement of noise standards in discotheques isn't likely, however. Nationwide, there are 800 inspectors to investigate an estimated 2.4 million places of business for all types of safety hazards, and loud music in nightclubs isn't a high priority, he said.

Paroles Are Going Computer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State Corrections Department officials will soon start using computers to help decide whether an inmate should be paroled.

The Dick Tracy-like technology will be used by the state Parole Board starting in about six months to indicate prisoners who appear likely to turn to crime again if they are released before their sentences are up, William Kime, department deputy director, said Thursday.

With computerized profiles, Kime says, the board will have an additional tool to use in making parole decisions.

Sleeping Pills Blamed In Death

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An accidental overdose of sleeping pills caused the death of Norman Treigle, former star of the New York City Opera Company, the Orleans Parish coroner has ruled.

Treigle's death "was definitely not a suicide," the coroner, Dr. Frank Minyard, said Wednesday. He said that conclusion was reached after careful study of toxicology tests.

OUT ON BAIL: Patricia R. Swinton leaves federal court in New York Thursday after posting $200,000 bail. Mrs. Swinton, 33, was captured in Vermont earlier this month as the last fugitive in a 1969 terror bomb scheme. (AP Wirephoto)

MALPRACTICE

Bill Would Bar Suit Soliciting

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Attorneys would not be able to solicit medical malpractice cases under legislation introduced in the House.

"This would eliminate the so-called ambulance chasing by those attorneys who derive a major portion of their income from medical malpractice cases," explained Rep. James Smith, R-Grand Blanc, sponsor of the bill.

The bill would allow an attorney to handle a malpractice case if the plaintiff voluntarily entered into a contract for the attorney's services.

Smith cited complaints by doctors that they either can not get their malpractice insurance renewed or can't afford the cost. Malpractice insurance companies have said the increasing number of malpractice suits and the high awards are giving them serious problems.

N.Y. Doctors Settle Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Physicians who struck 22 private and city-operated hospitals here returned to work today, ending the first strike by doctors in the nation's history.

A contract offer by the League of Voluntary Hospitals that had been rejected by representatives of the 3,000-member Committee of Interns and Residents (CIR) was resurrected late Thursday afternoon, and shortly after 6 p.m. the settlement was announced jointly by the league and the CIR.

It's News TODAY

Patty Sighting Uncertain

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — Fremont County Sheriff John Vernetti's "positive identification" of fugitive heiress Patricia Hearst in the Canon City area has faded to "something that was only a possible sighting." Vernetti said early Thursday evening that an unidentified rancher had bought lunch last week at a nearby Penrose cafe for a woman who fit Miss Hearst's description. "We do have a positive I.D. of the young lady at this time as being Miss Hearst," he said, adding that he believed the daughter of San Francisco newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst Jr. had set off for New Mexico. Thursday night, after Vernetti's office was deluged with requests from news media for more information, he issued a statement saying, "All we have is one man who said he saw her. As it stands this individual's testimony is very shaky."

Mail Spying Data To Be Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee intends to release testimony that at least two former postmasters general knew the CIA was monitoring international mail at New York's largest airport in the 1950s and 1960s. Chairman Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., of the House civil rights subcommittee planned to release the testimony if the Justice Department supplied no substantive objection.

Panel Pushes Farm Price Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting with unusual haste, the Senate Agriculture Committee is expected to approve with few changes a House-passed farm bill that could raise the prices of dairy products by $495 million within a year. The Senate panel is expected to consider the measure today, less than 24 hours after it won approval in the House. A committee spokesman, however, said the full Senate was unlikely to take up the measure until after Easter.

Device Detects Hidden Aliens

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is developing a new electronic device for U.S. Border Patrol agents to detect persons being smuggled into the country inside cars or trucks. The machine operates on the same principle used to monitor earthquakes. It is activated by air wave vibrations created by slight muscular movements, including heart beats and the involuntary muscular action of the digestive tract.

Assault Victim Not Cass St. Resident

Booker T. Washington, of 574 Cass street, Benton Harbor, was not struck on the head by a pool stick as reported in this newspaper Thursday.

The man who was hit was another Booker T. Washington, 37, of room 205, Harbor hotel, 209 Territorial road, according to Benton Harbor police. The mistake in address occurred when a reporter looked in the telephone directory to check the address and found a Booker T. Washington listed at 574 Cass street.

Booker T. Washington of Cass street was working at Bendix when the attack was reported to Benton Harbor police Wednesday. The Booker T. Washington of the Harbor hotel received six stitches for a head wound after being struck with a pool stick at the Harbor hotel, police said.

Lacy Takes Stand, Denies Going To Govatos' Store

George Lacy, Jr., accused of murdering John Govatos Jan. 4 at the Oasis party store, took the witness stand yesterday and testified that he never went to the Oasis on Jan. 4.

The 22-year-old Lacy, of 524 Whitcomb court, Benton Harbor, was the first defense witness called by Lacy's counsel, Atty. James Ford. The move came as a surprise to some court observers, since Ford has some 13 other witnesses to call.

Lacy told the jury he never even talked to co-defendant Donnie Marshall about the Oasis, and said his Saturday night (the night of the murder) was spent at bars with other people, driving around in a car in Benton Harbor, and partying.

"I didn't go nowhere with Donnie Marshall," Lacy exclaimed.

Lacy's testimony came during the seventh day of the trial in Berrien Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes' court. Much of the trial today was expected to be cross-examination of Lacy by Berrien Prosecutor John A. Smietanka, and then Ford will continue calling witnesses.

Court sources feel the trial could continue into next week, which would make it the longest criminal trial in recent Berrien circuit court history.

On Wednesday, Marshall, 21, of 169 Bellview, Benton Harbor, told the court he and Lacy were at the Oasis on Jan. 4, and that both shot Govatos with a .38 pistol. He said the idea to rob the store and kill Govatos was Lacy's.

Marshall said the murder occurred sometime around 11 p.m.

Lacy, however, testified that between about 10:30 and 10:45 he went to a woman's house, picked her up, and went to a bar. "I was there, I was at the bar," Lacy stated without being asked a question.

Marshall had testified that Lacy borrowed a .38 revolver from Charles Howard, held as a material witness in connection with the case, on Saturday afternoon, and that the revolver was the murder weapon.

Lacy, though, gave a different version, and said that while driving his taxi (he was a part-time driver for Twin Cities Taxi) about 7 p.m. he was dispatched to meet Howard and another man.

Lacy said Howard asked if Lacy had his .38. Lacy said no. Then Marshall, who also was a cab driver, pulled up, and Marshall gave Howard the .38, Lacy testified. He said Marshall pulled the gun from under the front seat of the cab.

After that, according to Lacy's testimony:

He picked up a "dude" and drove him to South Bend, drinking wine along the way, and returned to Benton Harbor about 9:15, after which he went to Slosson's party store and bought a fifth of wine.

He went back to the cab company, turned in the money and trip sheet, and went to the Office Lounge for about two minutes when Marshall pulled up in his (Marshall's) cab.

Marshall took him to his parents' house on Whitcomb court.

"I laid around the house until about 10:30, talking to my mother and father," and had an argument with his mother about using the family car.

He finally got the car, picked up a woman, and went to the Office about 10:45. He stayed there until about 1:15 a.m., then took two women from the bar to their house so they could change clothes. They went back to the Office, but it was closed.

Marshall, in his cab, was outside of the Office, along with Howard. Marshall wanted Lacy to show Howard where his (Marshall's) apartment was later that day (Sunday).

All went their separate ways.

Lacy and some women and another man went to the Milner hotel to eat, Marshall arrived about 2:15, and while the food was being prepared, Lacy went to the Ponderosa bar and purchased some beer and wine.

They went to a woman's house and partied all night, went out for breakfast about 6:45, dropped off the women, and then Lacy "slid straight back to my lady's house."

He returned the car to his mother about 10:45, and fell asleep at his parents' house. He woke up about noon, and Howard came by at about 1. "To stay awake all night I had dropped two hits of speed," he said.

He and Howard went to Marshall's apartment, where Lacy "smoked a reefer and drank some wine."

Ford: "Did you have any weapons?"

Lacy: "No, I didn't have none."

Lacy said Marshall then gave Howard Howard's .38.

Marshall paid him $25 he owed him from a previous loan.

Ford: How much money did you have?

Lacy: "It kicked my knot to $207." (A knot is rolled up bills.)

Lacy testified he, Marshall, and Howard, all got into Howard's car, went to Howard's home where Howard dropped off his "piece" (gun), and then went to a mall in Michigan City.

"I didn't see nothin' I liked," Lacy told jurors, so they left the mall "and slid to Gary."

At that point in the testimony, Judge Hughes stopped the testimony because of the lateness of the day, and ordered testimony resume at that point today.

Witnesses Claim Slayer Is Still 'Mentally Ill'

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A mental competency hearing for a man who without provocation shot and killed a Benton township police sergeant with the officer's own gun in 1970 moved into its second day today in Berrien probate court after prosecution witnesses tetified the slayer is still "mentally ill."

The hearing for Earl Everett Harrison, 37, formerly of Benton Harbor, is being held before Probate Judge Zoe S. Burkholz. The hearing is to determine if Harrison is still mentally ill and whether he should remain confined in a mental institution or be freed.

The hearing was occasioned by a recent ruling of the Michigan Supreme court. The high court judges held that persons committed to mental institutions in the past because they were found innocent of crimes by reason of insanity must be given a committment hearing to determine if they are still mentally ill. If sane, they are free to return to society.

Harrison has spent the last 4½ years in state hospitals after he was found innocent by reason of insanity in 1970 by Berrien Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes.

Harrison was accused of slaying Sgt. Robert Stevens at the Holmstead restaurant on Napier avenue in April, 1970. In his 1970 verdict, Hughes said Harrison entered the Holmstead, pulled Stevens' service revolver from its holster while the officer sat at a table, and fired shots that killed the 36-year-old officer.

Dr. Ames Robey, director of the Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Ypsilanti, where Harrison has been confined, said Harrison is still mentally ill. Dr. Robey added that while Harrison is not dangerous to himself, he is dangerous to others.

"He's been getting more and more hostile since Christmas," Robey testified, but said Harrison has not yet done anything "overt."

He noted, though, that Harrison has "flare-ups" around April and Christmas. The murder occurred in April, and Harrison attacked another psychiatrist at another state hospital during a recent Christmas season, according to Robert U. McDowell, Berrien chief assistant prosecutor, one of two prosecution attorneys presenting the state's case.

Harrison "flared and became accutely psychotic in 1970, which led to the murder," Robey testified.

Dr. Lynn Blunt, also of the Forensic Center, concurred with Robey's diagnosis, and said Harrison is still mentally ill.

Dr. William Decker, medical superintendent at the Kalamazoo state hospital, where Harrison was confined until September, 1974, when he was transfered to Ypsilanti for security reasons, told the six-member jury that Harrison's condition can't improve.

Under questioning from Assistant Prosecutor John Bruha he said the psychosis will remain, and can only deteriorate.

Two other staff members at the Kalamazoo hospital testified that Harrison had threatened staff members, and tried to attack Dr. C.M. Schrier, former director of the Kalamazoo hospital.

The only defense witness called yesterday by St. Joseph Atty. Dean Jennings, representing Harrison, said there is no evidence that Harrison is suffering from any mental disorder, and that Harrison is not psychotic (psychotic, essentially, means mentally ill).

The witness, Dr. Herbert Fowler, former superintendent of the Kalamazoo state hospital, added that Harrison would only become psychotic if he consumed liquor.

But under cross-examination by McDowell, Fowler said Harrison may have been in a period of "remission" when he (Fowler) examined him, and that he may not have detected any psychosis. The jury must determine whether the defendant requires treatment because he falls under the guidelines of the state mental health code. The judge then either re-commits the defendant to a mental institution or frees him.

Material Witness Not Jailed

Charles Howard, 22, of 692 Pavone avenue, Benton Harbor, held as a material witness in connection with the George Lacy, Jr., murder trial, is not being held at the county jail as stated previously in stories about the trial.

A spokesman for the Berrien prosecutor's office said Howard is still under protective custody at an undisclosed place due to alleged threats on his life.

Howard has already testified against Lacy, who is accused of murdering Oasis party store owner John Govatos Jan. 4. The spokesman said Howard is being sheltered in case he has to be recalled to the stand.

Caseworker Complains; 2 Arrested

State police of the Benton Harbor post Thursday arrested a man and a woman on charges of taking indecent liberties with a 15-year-old girl.

Booked at the county jail were Bonnie Erly Johnson, 41; and George Moore, 69, both of route 1, box 143, Sodus township.

Troopers described the girl as a special education student in a St. Joseph school.

Burton Woman Tearful $200,000 Lottery Champ

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Linda Webb cried before, during and after Thursday's weekly Bureau of the State Lottery superdrawing in which she won the $200,000 top prize.

Mrs. Webb, 28, and her husband, Timothy, live in Burton. They are shop workers for Chevrolet in Flint and have five children.

One of her children is a newspaper delivery boy, but after she was announced the big winner in the drawing at the Tel-12 Mall in this Detroit suburb, Mrs. Webb said her son will give up his paper route.

Asked what she planned to do with her winnings, Mrs. Webb said her family really didn't need anything. They "have each other," she said.

The $50,000 winner in Thursday's drawing was Myrtice McIntyre, 54, of L'Anse, a widow with eight children.

Winning $25,000 was Chester Pietraz, 47, of Dearborn, a delivery man for Keebler Biscuit Co. in Redford Township. His wife, Helen, is a secretary for Teamsters Local 51 in Detroit. They have two sons.

The $10,000 winners were: Nida Cochran, 89, of Los Angeles; Gerald McGlynn, 74, of Grosse Pointe Woods; John Leonard, 25, of Melvindale, and Edward Rau Jr., 22, of Lapeer.

Mrs. Cochran qualified for the drawing with her membership in the lottery's subscription program. Her daughter, Margaret Smith, also of Los Angeles, represented her at the drawing.

Leonard, who is single, is a welder for Anchor Conveyors in Dearborn.

McGlynn, a widower, is a retired member of the Detroit Board of Education.

Rau is a painter for Ron Simmons in Davison. His wife, Lynn, is a secretary for the Lapeer County drain commissioner's office.

CHECKING OUT: Resident of 57-year-old Shejby hotel in Detroit carts his belongings through the lobby Thursday as the hotel closed for the second, and perhaps last, time in its history. Detroit Edison turned off electricity and heat because of an unpaid $46,000 bill. (AP Wirephoto)

Senate Near Passage Of $30 Billion Tax Cut

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is on the verge of passing a $30-billion tax cut bill designed to stimulate the economy while providing some immediate and long-term tax relief to most American families.

After removing parliamentary roadblocks and voting higher taxes on major oil companies, the Senate aimed to pass the bill today.

That schedule would allow a Senate-House conference to work out final details of the bill and have it sent to President Ford for his signature by Wednesday.

The tax relief would be felt by mid-May, when the Treasury Department would mail 1974 tax rebates of up to $240 to taxpayers across the nation.

Senators planned to consider a dozen amendments to the bill today, but the final Senate version of the tax cut is expected to provide:

—$10 billion in rebates on 1974 taxes, with almost all families assured of a minimum $120 check and a maximum $240.

—An additional $1.7 billion refund for working families whose earned income totals less than $8,000 this year. This "earned-income credit" would be 10 per cent of taxable income up to a maximum credit of $400.

This provision, which the Senate endorsed Thursday night on a 78 to 12 vote, has the effect of offsetting the Social Security tax bite on families too poor generally to pay income taxes but whose paychecks still are subject to the Social Security withholding.

—A 4 per cent reduction in the tax rate on the first $4,000 of taxable income. This $2 billion provision is aimed at providing relief to low-and middleincome families, but virtually every family would receive at least a $40 reduction in 1975 and 1976 taxes.

—An optional $200-per-person credit against taxes instead of the current $750-per-person tax exemption. Although this provision could help taxpayers who do not itemize deductions, it is designed especially to aid larger families that do itemize. The cost is $6.1 billion for 1975.

—A $100 across-the-board government payment this year to every person who receives a Social Security or railroad retirement benefit.

State Dousing Eternal Flame

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Gov. Jerry Apodaca will shut off the gas today to what was intended to be an eternal flame on a monument dedicated to New Mexico servicemen and women, his office says.

Officials say the purpose is to conserve energy.

Kelley Wants Well Plugged

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley wants a gas well that leaked and forced evacuation of a northern Michigan town two years ago plugged and abandoned permanently.

But another state agency official said the report from Kelley's office was "the work of childish minds."

Kelley made the proposal in what he called a "critical analysis" of a Department of Natural Resources environmental impact statement recommending the Grand Traverse County well be reopened.

The attorney general contended the DNR statement is a whitewash making Amoco Production Co. look like "an innocent bystander" in the eruption incident.

But a report prepared for Kelley's office by a geological consultant, plus an earlier DNR report to the governor, directly linked Amoco's alleged poor judgment and neglect of safety precautions with the eruptions from its Whitewater E1-22 well near Williamsburg.

Because of the eruptions, 89 families had to flee their homes in Williamsburg and some had to remain away for months after the natural gas blowout in April 1973.

RUSSIAN SUBMARINE

Two Warheads Said Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA is believed to have recovered at least two nuclear torpedo warheads in its effort last summer to raise wreckage of a Soviet submarine that sank in the Pacific Ocean, The Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said sources described recovery of the nuclear-tipped torpedoes as a major victory for U.S. intelligence.

Meanwhile, the head of the Senate's special intelligence committee said Thursday there is a chance the panel may subpoena billionaire Howard Hughes, who contracted to build and operate the mammoth oceanographic vessel which was used in the CIA submarine-raising mission.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, made the remark in response to a question at a meeting with reporters. However, an aide to Church later said: "There's no big plan to subpoena Howard."

The Post account said the two nuclear torpedo warheads retrieved were in the portion of the Soviet submarine raised northwest of Hawaii from an ocean depth of 17,000 feet by the Hughes ship Glomar Explorer, under the CIA's direction. The sub sank in 1968.

The newspaper quoted one source as commenting on the intelligence value of the reported find:

"It makes no difference that torpedo warheads are relatively small compared to missile warheads. Any kind of warhead gives us a priceless insight into their technology and their approach to solving nuclear weapons problems."

The Soviet submarine — said to be a conventional-powered G-class craft — is believed to have been fitted with three launching tubes for nuclear-armed missiles. There has been one unconfirmed report that one of the missile warheads was recovered.

The Post also said one report "being circulated by intelligence sources on the fringe of the CIA" claims the Glomar Explorer actually retrieved the entire sunken submarine rather than just one-third of it, as most other accounts have indicated.

Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Service Committee, said Thursday he knew about the CIA submarine operation from the beginning and fully supported it.

"I would emphasize that there is nothing about this project for which any apology is needed," the Mississippi Democrat said.

FOR ARTIFICIAL LIMBS

Senate Bill To Add Coverage

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has approved legislation to require health insurance policies to cover replacement of body parts with prosthetic devices.

Two bills, one dealing with Blue Shield and the other with private insurance companies, passed on votes of 26-3 and 25-4 respectively Thursday and went to the House. They cover only medical care resulting from accident or illness, and would not pay for cosmetic surgery.

The first legislation of its kind in the nation, the bills would require health insurance companies to pay for prosthetic devices—such as artificial limbs—and any therapy or treatment needed for adjustment to them.

Some devices cost thousands of dollars, but insurance companies said policies would only go up a dollar or so a year to cover them.

The legislation would cover mastectomies—the removal of a breast—which have increased dramatically in fighting cancer in women.

The Senate also approved, 29-0, and sent to the House a bill requiring insurance companies to provide information on medical malpractice suits to the state insurance commissioner.

The bill would require information on the insurance policy, a copy of the complaint and the answer of the insured doctor. Following a judgment, settlement or dismissal, the company would have to provide details of the disposition of the case.

The House, meanwhile, okayed a bill allowing persons whose Vietnam Veterans Bonus Fund claims are rejected to appeal to the Court of Claims.

The bill was approved, 94-0, with immediate effect and sent to the Senate.

Under the bill the governor would appoint an attorney as commissioner to the court to help handle these apeals.

A person whose claim was rejected would be notified of that fact by the state adjutant general. Upon receiving that notice, he would have 60 days in which to appply to the court for a hearing.

If he were living outside the continental United States he'd have 120 days to apply for a hearing. If the notice sent to him were returned undelivered, the court would hold his case open for one year.

In other House action, Rep. John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, dropped plans to challenge Wednesday's 101-5 House approval of a bill delaying the effective date of Michigan's new campaign finance reform law.

The bill delays from April 1 to July 1 the law's effective date. Supporters say this will give the Secretary of State's office time to promulgate rules for operating the new law and time to run those rules through appropriate state channels for approval.

Engler, tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to amend the bill so that the effective date would be delayed only to May 1. This would have assured that June school board elections would be covered by the new law.

Engler said he decided not ask for reconsideration of the vote because he did not have enough support.

The House also passed, 97-0, and sent to the Senate a bill providing that a marriage license be valid for 33 days after it is issued.

Under the bill, given immediate effect, a license would be void unless the marriage took place within 33 days after application took place.

The offenses are misdemeanors. He could be fined $5,000 on each.

Progress Reported On Sinai Agreement

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned from Egypt today with four major elements of a Sinai agreement close to being settled, U.S. officials said.

Still unresolved, however, was the principal issue of how far Israel will pull back and whether it will give up the Mitla and Gidi passes and the Abu Rudeis oil field, newsmen were told.

"We are not at the brink of an agreement," one official said as Kissinger flew in from Aswan for a meeting here with the Israeli negotiating team.

The key items nearing completion are:

—Both sides would give "certain assurances" only to the United States while others would be made public.

—A mutual obligation by Israel and Egypt that they would not resort to force. That is a modification of the nonbelligerency pledge sought by Israel but turned down by President Anwar Sadat.

—The Israeli withdrawal — however deep it is — would be carried out in a number of steps.

—United Nations forces would take over most — but not all — of the territory given up by Israel.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA is believed to have recovered at least two nuclear torpedo warheads in its effort last summer to raise wreckage of a Soviet submarine that sank in the Pacific Ocean. The Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said sources described recovery of the nuclear-tipped torpedoes as a major victory for U.S. intelligence.

Meanwhile, the head of the Senate's special intelligence committee said Thursday there is a chance the panel may subpoena billionaire Howard Hughes, who contracted to build and operate the mammoth oceanographic vessel which was used in the CIA submarine-raising mission.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, made the remark in response to a question at a meeting with reporters. However, an aide to Church later said: "There's no big plan to subpoena Howard."

The Post account said the two nuclear torpedo warheads retrieved were in the portion of the Soviet submarine raised northwest of Hawaii from an ocean depth of 17,000 feet by the Hughes ship Glomar Explorer, under the CIA's direction. The sub sank in 1968.

The newspaper quoted one source as commenting on the intelligence value of the reported find:

"It makes no difference that torpedo warheads are relatively small compared to missile warheads. Any kind of warhead gives us a priceless insight into their technology and their approach to solving nuclear weapons problems."

The Soviet submarine — said to be a conventional-powered G-class craft — is believed to have been fitted with three launching tubes for nuclear-armed missiles. There has been one unconfirmed report that one of the missile warheads was recovered.

The Post also said one report "being circulated by intelligence sources on the fringe of the CIA" claims the Glomar Explorer actually retrieved the entire sunken submarine rather than just one-third of it, as most other accounts have indicated.

Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Service Committee, said Thursday he knew about the CIA submarine operation from the beginning and fully supported it.

"I would emphasize that there is nothing about this project for which any apology is needed," the Mississippi Democrat said.

Progress Reported On Sinai Agreement

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned from Egypt today with four major elements of a Sinai agreement close to being settled, U.S. officials said.

Still unresolved, however, was the principal issue of how far Israel will pull back and whether it will give up the Mitla and Gidi passes and the Abu Rudeis oil field, newsmen were told.

"We are not at the brink of an agreement," one official said as Kissinger flew in from Aswan for a meeting here with the Israeli negotiating team.

The key items nearing completion are:

—Both sides would give "certain assurances" only to the United States while others would be made public.

—A mutual obligation by Israel and Egypt that they would not resort to force. That is a modification of the non-belligerency pledge sought by Israel but turned down by President Anwar Sadat.

—The Israeli withdrawal — however deep it is — would be carried out in a number of steps.

—United Nations forces would take over most — but not all — of the territory given up by Israel.

FOR ARTIFICIAL LIMBS

Senate Bill To Add Coverage

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has approved legislation to require health insurance policies to cover replacement of body parts with prosthetic devices.

Two bills, one dealing with Blue Shield and the other with private insurance companies, passed on votes of 26-3 and 25-4 respectively Thursday and went to the House. They cover only medical care resulting from accident or illness, and would not pay for cosmetic surgery.

The first legislation of its kind in the nation, the bills would require health insurance companies to pay for prosthetic devices—such as artificial limbs—and any therapy or treatment needed for adjustment to them.

Some devices cost thousands of dollars, but insurance companies said policies would only go up a dollar or so a year to cover them.

The legislation would cover mastectomies—the removal of a breast—which have increased dramatically in fighting cancer in women.

The Senate also approved, 290, and sent to the House a bill requiring insurance companies to provide information on medical malpractice suits to the state insurance commissioner.

The bill would require information on the insurance policy, a copy of the complaint and the answer of the insured doctor. Following a judgment, settlement or dismissal, the company would have to provide details of the disposition of the case.

The House, meanwhile, okayed a bill allowing persons whose Vietnam Veterans Bonus Fund claims are rejected to appeal to the Court of Claims.

The bill was approved, 94-0, with immediate effect and sent to the Senate.

Under the bill the governor would appoint an attorney as commissioner to the court to help handle these apeals.

A person whose claim was rejected would be notified of that fact by the state adjutant general. Upon receiving that notice, he would have 60 days in which to appply to the court for a hearing.

If he were living outside the continental United States he'd have 120 days to apply for a hearing. If the notice sent to him were returned undelivered, the court would hold his case open for one year.

In other House action, Rep. John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, dropped plans to challenge Wednesday's 101-5 House approval of a bill delaying the effective date of Michigan's new campaign finance reform law.

The bill delays from April 1 to July 1 the law's effective date. Supporters say this will give the Secretary of State's office time to promulgate rules for operating the new law and time to run those rules through appropriate state channels for approval.

Engler, tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to amend the bill so that the effective date would be delayed only to May 1. This would have assured that June school board elections would be covered by the new law.

Engler said he decided not ask for reconsideration of the vote because he did not have enough support.

The House also passed, 97-0, and sent to the Senate a bill providing that a marriage license be valid for 33 days after it is issued.

Under the bill, given immediate effect, a license would be void unless the marriage took place within 33 days after application took place.

Ways Of IRS Explored Tonight By ABC Special

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of us now are sweating over federal tax returns. So, with excellent timing, ABC's "Closeup" unit tonight is airing a show that will increase one's sweat — and anger — at the taxman.

It's a well-researched, well-edited study of the awesome power of the Internal Revenue Service and the potential for abuse of that power, be it by White House officials or overeager IRS agents.

Save for a few taxpayers' horror tales and a surprising list of persons and groups closely scrutinized by a Nixon-era intelligence unit, there's little in the show that already hasn't been written about.

Yet ABC's study is well worth watching because of the way it logically threads together stories ranging from White House taxpayer-watching to "jeopardy assessments" into a comprehensive package that has impact.

Sometimes it strains a bit for impact, particularly in its effort to show that "any administration" — not just Richard Nixon's — is tempted to use IRS power for its own political purposes.

It cites "confidential memos" of the Kennedy administration it says show that the White House and the Justice Department pressured for close study of the tax-exempt status given "extremist organizations."

Most of those groups, the show says, "were conservative." It asks Mortimer Caplin, IRS chief in the Kennedy years, if the IRS then was being asked to focus on "rightwing organizations."

"Let me say this," replies Caplin. "We felt it was not proper ... to look into one segment. We found that the history of the prior (Eisenhower) administration had been heavily geared toward left-wing organizations."

End of query. But if you don't listen carefully, you may feel that Caplin is somehow justifying political tit-for-tat in taxation. He's not. He's just making a frank non-admission of engaging in it.

The show is on sturdier ground in studying the operations of a since-disbanded IRS "Special Service Staff" formed in 1969 to gather intelligence on "dissidents" and "extremists."

It reveals that one triple-S list, containing names of 8,000 persons and 3,000 organizations, includes such folks as former Eisenhower aide Sherman Adams and performers Julie Andrews, Connie Stevens and Jose Jiminez (his real name is Bill Dana).

The program doesn't succeed in learning why these names were listed. But it does succeed in showing that the confidentiality of tax returns is shaky indeed, and that audits can be triggered by a simple, anonomously-written "squeal letter" even IRS agents can get put in the mail.

No doubt the IRS will complain that these and other abuse-of-power problems studied by "Closeup" are overblown. But ABC's show is a valuable alarm bell for citizens and the Congress alike. Both should see it.

Reminder: The first of CBS' two-part, $25,000 interviews with former White House staff chief H.R. Haldeman airs this Sunday. No reports on it are possible today because CBS won't show it to newsmen until Saturday.

But the hour-long interview may contain surprising goodies. A CBS official says that, among other things, the show questions why the damning White House tapes on Watergate conversations never were destroyed.

U-M Taking Telescope To Arizona

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — University of Michigan astronomers want to see stars. So they've moved their largest telescope to Tucson, Ariz., where the "sky light" won't interfere with star light.

After operating in Michigan for eight years, the $300,000 telescope will be moved to Kitt Peak, an observatory owned and operated by several universities, including U-M.

Professor W. Albert Hiltner, chairman of the U-M Astronomy Department said he hopes to see ten times more in Arizona than he could in Michigan.

He said Arizona doesn't have as much "sky light" as Michigan's sky does. Sky light — the artificial light radiated by large cities — gets in the way of star light, he explained.

Dr. Richard Sears, associate astronomy professor estimated the telescope with its 82-inch, 1,680-pound mirror will have ten times more observing days in Arizona than it had in Michigan.

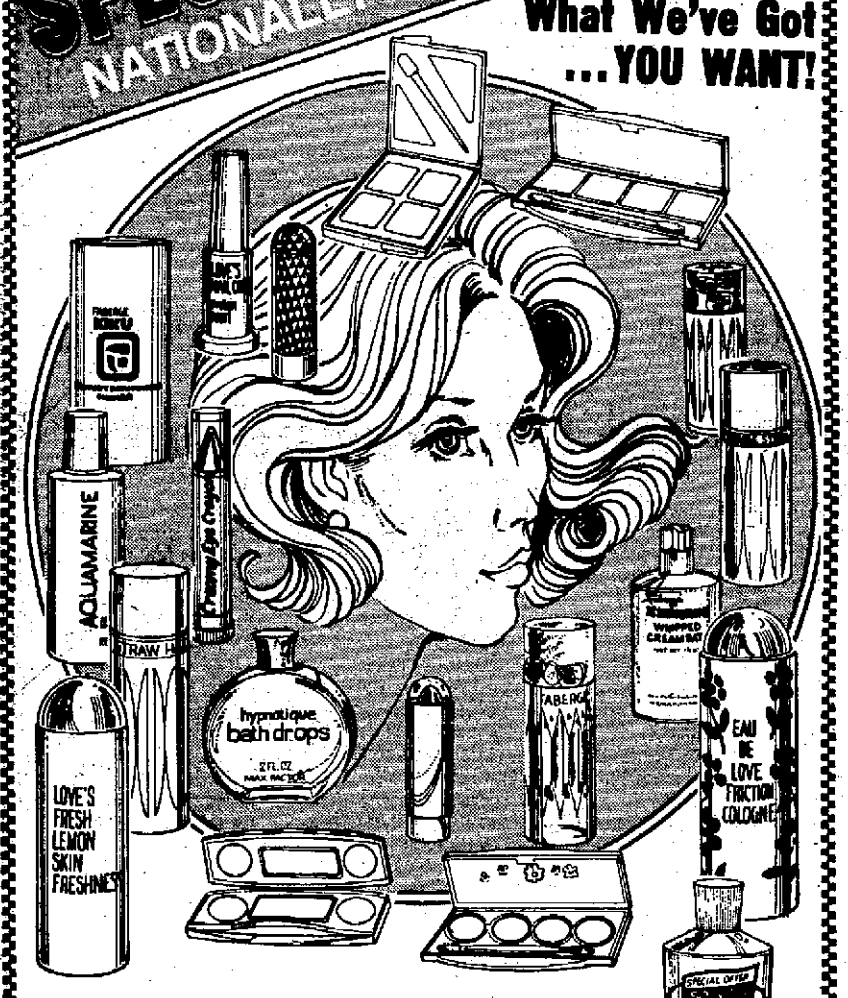

The weather is another reason for moving the huge telescope. "The weather in Michigan is so terrible," Sears said Tuesday.

SOIL SURVEY RESULTS

Hagar Building Sites Limited

RIVERSIDE — Interested Hagar township residents were told last night that about one-half of the township has soils that are unfavorable to septic tank systems and to basement construction.

Results of a soil survey completed in the township were unveiled during the gathering at the Hagar township hall, attended by members of the township board and zoning board.

Representatives of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service soil survey team and the county planning office released results of their findings as they apply to agriculture, land use, sewage disposal, drainage and other soil uses.

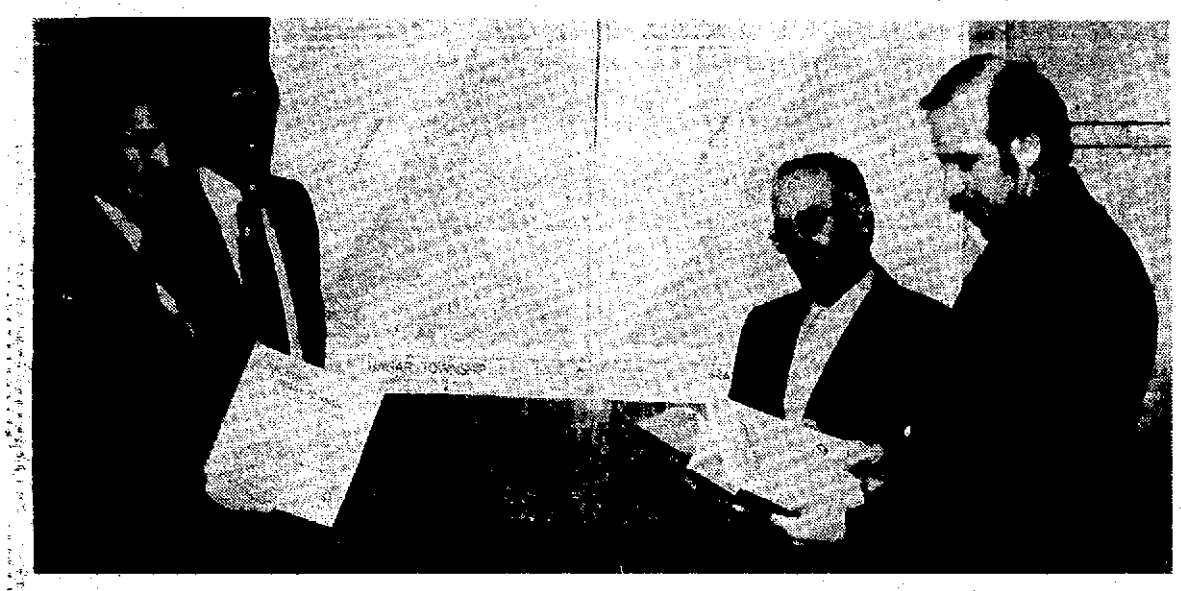

The Hagar survey was the first completed in a five-year soil survey project that will map the soil composition across all of Berrien county.

Charles Eckenstahler, county planning director, said, "Hagar township was selected as the first township to have the survey completed because of the high number of building permits being issued and the fact the township has no public water or sewage systems available."

Information obtained from the soil survey report are available from the county planning office, St. Joseph River Soil Conservation Service office at Scottdale, or from the Hagar township board without charge, according to Jerry Larson, soil survey team leader.

According to Larson, information in the report will assist individuals and developers in reducing development costs and give them better plan useage for all areas of the township.

Results of the Hagar soil testing indicated that a large area of the township is restricted for basement construction, installing septic tanks and constructing roads without special engineering techniques.

Burkholz (right) examine copies of newly-completed survey of soil composition in township. 'Beauty' Contest At U-M Crumbles Sex Barriers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Seven bathing beauties circled the stage Thurday night, parading their smooth skin and svelte bodies for the benefit of the judges panel. But Bert Parks probably wouldn't have approved. The contestants — all young men — flexed their rippling muscles and struck dynamic poses to the accompaniment of cheers and wolf calls. The pageant, attended by 200 wildly enthusiastic fans, was the second annual West Quad Male Beauty Contest at the University of Michigan. It was organized as part of the dormitory's Human Sexuality Week. The winner of the contest was U-M student Jon Udell of Elkins Park, Pa. He got the best combined rating in the bathing contest, talent show, and question-answer test. Udell's talent was doing a graceful series of splits while commenting: "This is a good way to break in a new pair of jeans." Several other contestants put on tumbling and acrobatics performances. One combined the display with music and shouting, and another sang, "I've Been Working on the Railroad," while strutting back and forth and flexing his muscles.

One student read a poem by John Keats, another tried juggling with only modest success and one contestant told an erotic limmerick. Prior to the talent show, the seven men lined up before the audience and judges and had their biceps measured by a smiling female master of ceremonies. In the question-answer finale, Udell was asked what his major is in school. "Remedial breathing," he answered. Moments later, Udell was crowned and hugged by the other contestants as the audience cheered him.

Study's Addict Figures Rapped

troit area, Bashara agreed.

"The report says 22,000 white heroin users and 11,000 black heroin users and that's a grossly underestimated figure, especially regarding numbers of black addicts," said Leibson.

"The emphasis of treatment programs has been flowing away from the big cities," said Leibson.

"I think the state got half a loaf for its money," said Leibson. "The data on alcohol and legally prescribed drugs is pretty good. The study of the illicit activities was strictly a bomb."

Robert Hamlin, chairman of Macro Systems Inc. of Silver Spring, Maryland, admitted the statistics he gathered on heroin and hard drug use "are not reliable, it's difficult if not impossible to get a handle on the problem."

The state should spend $30 million a year for alcohol and drug treatment programs, said J. Irvin Nichols, administrator of the state Office of Substance Abuse Services. The state is spending $17.5 million this year, with a $1 million reduction recommended by the governor.

"All we want is a fair hearing before the governor and the legislature to make them understand the scope of the problem," said Nichols, whose office commissioned the study. "We're saying if we can get $30 million a year for the next five years, we can make some real progress."

Alcohol abuse costs society $1.5 billion a year in lost production in business, traffic accidents and other items, the report showed.

The social cost of drug abuse in Michigan is $420 million a year.

Other findings in the report showed:

More than 540,000 Michigan residents drink alcohol every day and about 135,000 of those down five or more drinks per day.

Some 350,000 Michigan residents used marijuana last year.

One in five youths age 13-17 used marijuana last year, divided equally among boys and girls. In the 18-34 age group marijuana use by males is double that for females.

The use of hallucinogens are the most widely used illicit drugs, but their use is far less than for marijuana.

Use of heroin and illegal methadone is centered in the Detroit area, while hallucinogens and marijuana are used most frequently in Lansing, East Lansing, Kalamazoo, Ann Arbor and other towns where universities are located. Marijuana use in those spots, however, is not necessarily limited to the college campuses.

Police Spies Effective

CHICAGO (AP) — Police who infiltrated Chicago community groups were so successful that one agent served as president of one group for two years, according to police documents obtained by the groups.

The undercover cop's successor as president of the neighborhood group said Thursday it sank to "rock bottom" in those two years.

Police officials admitted Thursday that undercover agents of the department's so-called "Red Squad" — the Police Intelligence Division — used to join and spy on a number of organizations which were frequently at odds with City Hall and the police department.

But, acting police Supt. Michael Spiotto said the program ended "some months back" and denied its aim was to disrupt the groups.

He said the idea was to keep police informed about upcoming demonstrations so they could plan traffic control.

he's willing to "let the pressure build" in defying the governor's wishes and the House, which passed the tax bill. "We're going to get it and we're going to get it now, or they can stew in their own juices," he said.

There were some lawmakers who said Bowman was more interested in pleasing the voters in Macomb County—where rapidly increasing property taxes have led to taxpayer rallies in protest—than in achieving real property tax reform.

"He's just talking for his constituents," said House Majority Floor Leader Joseph Forbes, D-Oak Park. "He's doing it for his own advantage," commented Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, chairman of Senate Appropriations Committee.

Forbes pointed out the House defeated property tax amendments to the bill, and said the House would not accept such a package.

An aide to the governor said he saw no current possibility of an agreement, and Dr. Gerald Miller, director of the Department of Management and Budget, agreed. The rollback would cost the state $60 million the first year in school funds and jump to $382 million the fifth year when the full five per cent reduction took effect, Miller said.

U.S. Drops Some Draft Dodge Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has decided to drop draft dodging cases against 50 to 75 persons whose names were inadvertently omitted from a final list of those still subject to prosecution for draft evasion.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi said Thursday he decided not to press charges because the department had assured Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that the list delivered to him on Jan. 24 was final.

Since then, Justice officials discovered that U.S. attorneys by mistake omitted some names from lists they submitted to the department of individuals in their jurisdictions still under indictment or under investigation for Selective Service offenses.

Cable TV Franchise Plan Tabled By Stevensville

Stevensville village council last night tabled for further study any action on a proposed cable television franchise with Omega of Michigan.

Councilmen said they want more time to study materials given them by Craig Crystal, the company's regional manager who appeared before the council last night.

Omega has proposed a cable television service for the village and Lincoln township.

The firm needs village council approval before it is submitted to village residents for an approval in an election.

Crystal told the council the franchise would meet with Federal Communications commission requirements and would permit the council to revoke the franchise if the project was not begun within six months and completed within one year after council and election approval.

The village also has authority for approval of any transfer of ownership, he said.

According to Crystal, the monthly service charge will not exceed $7 and the installation fee of $15 can be but is not usually charged the customer. The village will receive a $1 rebate per customer annually.

Police Chief Richard Beck and Councilman Lloyd Mallett reported they interviewed eight customers in the Watervliet-Coloma area who are serviced by Omega and all said they were satisfied with the company.

Omega went into operation in the Coloma-Watervliet area in October, 1974, and now has 500 customers, Crystal said. The service is not required and customers may disconnect at any time.

In addition to Michigan, Indiana and Illinois stations received over cable television, Crystal said the company also offers a local current events channel which broadcasts local programs by videotape.

Crystal reported initial facilities needed to operate would include a small building for office, storage and studio and a 200 to 300 foot tower.

If the franchise is approved by the council it will then be placed on an election ballot.

In other business, the council approved the fee of $20 for a building permit now required for inspection of new sites in mobile home parks.

Each mobile home setting up in a park must now be inspected for approval, proper tie down, electrical and plumbing hookup, skirting and smoke detector, according to Fred Albrecht, building inspector.

Council also approved an interim zoning ordinance requiring 1,100 square feet of living space for single story, single family dwellings and 800, 900 and 1,000 square feet for 1, 2 and 3 bedroom duplex dwellings.

The ordinance is subject to change when the new zoning ordinance is completed, Village President Arthur Kasewurm reported.

Operation "Clean Sweep, Stevensville" was approved by the council. Kevin Green, department of public works employee, told the council the project is planned for Saturday, March 29, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. He said from 50 to 75 children from the fifth grade at Stevensville elementary school and Pioneers, a group from St. Paul's Lutheran school, will be involved.

The children, under supervision of parents and school principals Les Collins and Thomson Wharton, will cover the entire Stevensville area, collecting litter on the streets, alleys, parking lots and along the railroad tracks.

The council voted to pay for refreshments for the participants after the project is completed and approved usage of the village pickup and dump trucks to dispose of the litter.

Authorization was given to village attorney Thomas Adams Jr. to draw up an ordinance regulating commercial amusements.

Councilman William Heyn told the council the village can apply for a change in the flood control zone where deemed necessary. The proposed zone covers an area of 400 feet on both sides of Hickory creek.

SOIL SURVEY RESULTS

Hagar Building Sites Limited

RIVERSIDE — Interested Hagar township residents were told last night that about one-half of the township has soils that are unfavorable to septic tank systems and to basement construction.

Results of a soil survey completed in the township were unveiled during the gathering at the Hagar township hall, attended by members of the township board and zoning board.

Representatives of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service soil survey team and the county planning office released results of their findings as they apply to agriculture, land use, sewage disposal, drainage and other soil uses.

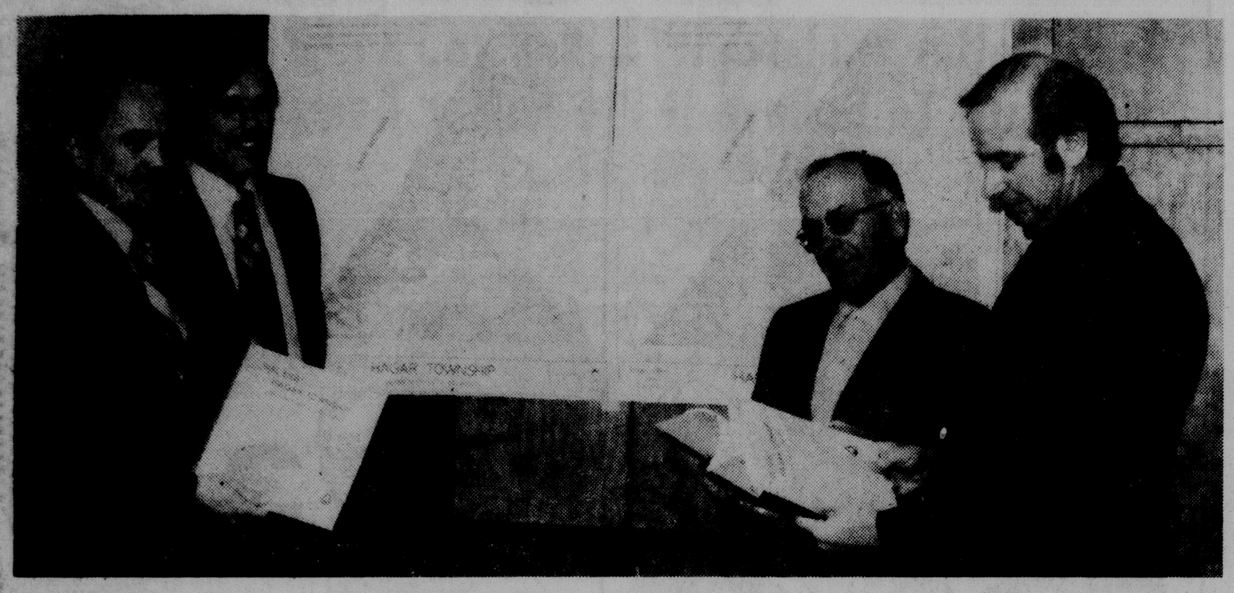

The Hagar survey was the first completed in a five-year soil survey project that will map the soil composition across all of Berrien county.

Charles Eckenstahler, county planning director, said, "Hagar township was selected as the first township to have the survey completed because of the high number of building permits being issued and the fact the township has no public water or sewage systems available."

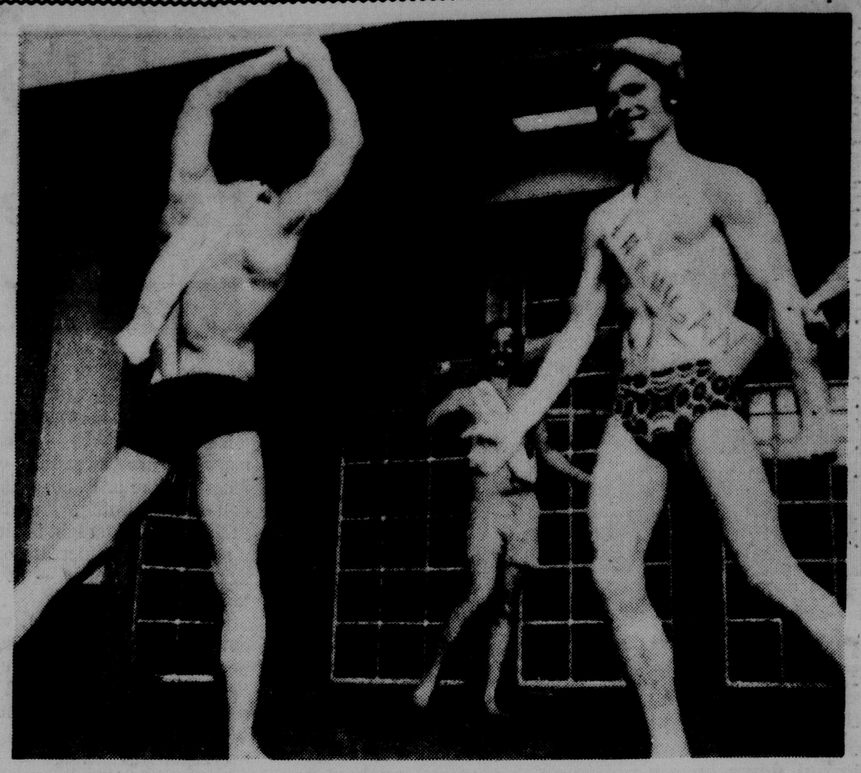

Information obtained from the soil survey report are available from the county planning office, St. Joseph River Soil Conservation Service office at Scottdale, or from the Hagar township board without charge, according to Jerry Larson, soil survey team leader.

According to Larson, information in the report will assist individuals and developers in reducing development costs and give them better plan useage for all areas of the township.

Results of the Hagar soil testing indicated that a large area of the township is restricted for basement construction, installing septic tanks and constructing roads without special engineering techniques.

'Beauty' Contest At U-M Crumbles Sex Barriers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Seven bathing beauties circled the stage Thurday night, parading their smooth skin and svelte bodies for the benefit of the judges panel. But Bert Parks probably wouldn't have approved. The contestants — all young men — flexed their rippling muscles and struck dynamic poses to the accompaniment of cheers and wolf calls. The pageant, attended by 200 wildly enthusiastic fans, was the second annual West Quad Male Beauty Contest at the University of Michigan. It was organized as part of the dormitory's Human Sexuality Week. The winner of the contest was U-M student Jon Udell of Elkins Park, Pa. He got the best combined rating in the bathing contest, talent show, and question-answer test. Udell's talent was doing a graceful series of splits while commenting: "This is a good way to break in a new pair of jeans." Several other contestants put on tumbling and acrobatics performances. One combined the display with music and shouting, and another sang, "I've Been Working on the Railroad," while strutting back and forth and flexing his muscles.

One student read a poem by John Keats, another tried juggling with only modest success and one contestant told an erotic limmerick. Prior to the talent show, the seven men lined up before the audience and judges and had their biceps measured by a smiling female master of ceremonies. In the question-answer finale, Udell was asked what his major is in school. "Remedial breathing," he answered. Moments later, Udell was crowned and hugged by the other contestants as the audience cheered him.

The social cost of drug abuse in Michigan is $420 million a year.

Other findings in the report showed:

More than 540,000 Michigan residents drink alcohol every day and about 135,000 of those down five or more drinks per day.

Some 350,000 Michigan residents used marijuana last year.

One in five youths age 13-17 used marijuana last year, divided equally among boys and girls. In the 18-34 age group marijuana use by males is double that for females.

Cable TV Franchise Plan Tabled By Stevensville

Stevensville village council last night tabled for further study any action on a proposed cable television franchise with Omega of Michigan.

Councilmen said they want more time to study materials given them by Craig Crystal, the company's regional manager who appeared before the council last night.

Omega has proposed a cable television service for the village and Lincoln township.

The firm needs village council approval before it is submitted to village residents for an approval in an election.

Crystal told the council the franchise would meet with Federal Communications commission requirements and would permit the council to revoke the franchise if the project was not begun within six months and completed within one year after council and election approval.

The village also has authority for approval of any transfer of ownership, he said.

According to Crystal, the monthly service charge will not exceed $7 and the installation fee of $15 can be but is not usually charged the customer. The village will receive a $1 rebate per customer annually.

Police Chief Richard Beck and Councilman Lloyd Mallett reported they interviewed eight customers in the Watervliet-Coloma area who are serviced by Omega and all said they were satisfied with the company.

Omega went into operation in the Coloma-Watervliet area in October, 1974, and now has 500 customers, Crystal said. The service is not required and customers may disconnect at any time.

In addition to Michigan, Indiana and Illinois stations received over cable television, Crystal said the company also offers a local current events channel which broadcasts local programs by videotape.

Crystal reported initial facilities needed to operate would include a small building for office, storage and studio and a 200 to 300 foot tower.

If the franchise is approved by the council it will then be placed on an election ballot.

In other business, the council approved the fee of $20 for a building permit now required for inspection of new sites in mobile home parks.

Each mobile home setting up in a park must now be inspected for approval, proper tie down, electrical and plumbing hookup, skirting and smoke detector, according to Fred Albrecht, building inspector.

Council also approved an interim zoning ordinance requiring 1,100 square feet of living space for single story, single family dwellings and 800, 900 and 1,000 square feet for 1, 2 and 3 bedroom duplex dwellings.

The ordinance is subject to change when the new zoning ordinance is completed, Village President Arthur Kasewurm reported.

Operation "Clean Sweep, Stevensville" was approved by the council. Kevin Green, department of public works employee, told the council the project is planned for Saturday, March 29, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. He said from 50 to 75 children from the fifth grade at Stevensville elementary school and Pioneers, a group from St. Paul's Lutheran school, will be involved.

The children, under supervision of parents and school principals Les Collins and Thomson Wharton, will cover the entire Stevensville area, collecting litter on the streets, alleys, parking lots and along the railroad tracks.

The council voted to pay for refreshments for the participants after the project is completed and approved usage of the village pickup and dump trucks to dispose of the litter.

Authorization was given to village attorney Thomas Adams Jr. to draw up an ordinance regulating commercial amusements.

Councilman William Heyn told the council the village can apply for a change in the flood control zone where deemed necessary. The proposed zone covers an area of 400 feet on both sides of Hickory creek.

Berrien Discarding Two Grant Programs

Commissioners Retaining Four

Consumer Protection, Metro Crime Axed

By JERRY KRIEGER
County-Farm Editor

Berrien county commissioners Thursday voted to let the county metro crime unit and the consumer protection unit die when current federal grants for these programs expire.

They did agree to pay 50 per cent of the cost of operating four other Office of Criminal Justice grant programs in the county for a third year. However, the grant applications will carry the stipulation that the county will not obligate itself to continuing these programs for a fourth year and paying 100 per cent of the cost. Whether the federal agency will accept this stipulation by the county is not known yet.

The programs okayed for third year grant applications and the county's 50 per cent cost share are: Youth Service Bureau, a temporary counseling program for pre-delinquent juveniles, $75,000; Deferred Prosecution, a pre-prosecution probation program for first-time offenders, $19,500; LINK program for runaway children, $32,500 (for 6 months only); Jail Inmate Rehabilitation, an educational program for county jail inmates, $27,846.

The county metro narcotics squad is to be allowed to continue a fourth year, to June 30, 1976. Commissioner Otto Grau, chairman of the administration committee, explained there will be no federal funds then, but it will cost the county only $32,208. He said the various police departments in the county furnish and pay the salaries of officers assigned to the so-called "Narc" squad. The county's costs are only for operating expenses.

The metro crime unit also is comprised of officers from various police departments in the county, but the county has to pay their wages. Grau said he would agree to a request for a third year grant for the crime unit only if the local departments pick up the salaries of the officers they assign.

The current second year grant for the crime unit expires June 30.

In the first two years, the Office of Criminal Justice has funded the metro crime unit at an annual rate of $353,041, and the county has paid a five per cent match, about $17,650 annually. A third year for the squad would cost the county around $185,000.

The Office of Criminal Justice grants were set up to require the county to pay only five per cent of the project cost for the first two years. In the third year, the local share jumps to 50 per cent and the county is required to agree, if it accepts the third year grant, to conduct the program for a fourth year and pick up the entire bill.

While deciding which of the grant programs to continue or discard, the commissioners yesterday decided not to ask for a third year grant for operation of the county juvenile center. Grau explained the Michigan Child Care Fund will pay 50 per cent of the cost if the Office of Criminal Justice doesn't. "We felt it was just as well to switch over to the Child Care Fund grant now," Grau stated.

Being discontinued is a centralized police records and identification program at the sheriff's department to serve all police units in the county. The system will be completed within the second year, and it was the original intent to ask for grants for only two years, according to Grau.

The LINK program for runaway children is proposed for continuation through the first six months of its third year. Grau said a new federal program will take over the function then and pay the entire cost.

Grau did not comment on any other reasons for dropping the metro crime unit, beyond the costs of the 16-member squad.

Of the Consumers Protection Unit, Grau said only it was being dropped "not because it hasn't been doing some good. But we just had to make a cutoff some place."

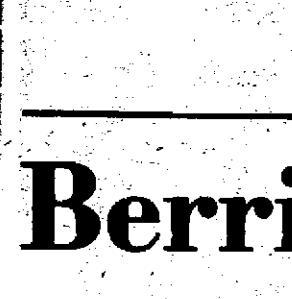

In another action yesterday, the commissioners voted to rent space in the old Coca Cola plant building, 2609 Niles avenue, St. Joseph for a bigger service area for the repair of some 72 motor vehicles operated by county departments. The rent, for about 4,500 square feet of space, will be $500 per month. The jail garage service area has become too small for the work.

Also the veterans affairs office will be moved from its current location in the courthouse to office space to be rented in the same building at an additional cost of $400 per month. The building owner is David Upton, St. Joseph.

The space vacated in the courthouse by the veterans office will be made into a fourth courtroom for Fifth District court.

'River Route' Isn't Dead, State Says

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county planning commission yesterday learned that a proposed "river route" for an I-94 business route into St. Joseph is not "dead," but that it may be a future extension of the route now being considered.

However, according to a letter to the commission from the state highway department, the department wants to get the penetrator in as soon as possible, and to do a project the size of one including the river route would take too much time.

Although an environmental impact study is being conducted on various possible routes for the penetrator, the highway department has already decided upon the route it will follow, and has acquired the property. The interceptor the highway department will build will follow the old Michigan Central railroad bed from I-94 to near Niles avenue at Hilltop road, and then along Niles into the city.

The proposed river route, would also follow the railroad bed, but then go along Hickory creek ravine and the west bank of the St. Joseph river, finally connecting with new bridges now being built over the Morrison channel and river in St. Joseph.

The letter basically said that while the river route is not necessarily dead, it might be considered at a future date as an extension of the penetrator.

In other business at the commission meeting, members voted to change meeting dates from the third Thursday of each month to the second Tuesday of each month. The change goes into effect with the April meeting.

Commissioners also re-elected Chairman C. Winslow Henkle and Vice Chairman Robert Pagel.

$460,000 Addition Hailed At Buchanan

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

BUCHANAN — Groundbreaking ceremonies were held here yesterday for a $460,000, four-building addition to Metea Court, an apartment development for senior citizens.

Developer and general contractor for the project is the Donlon - Lofgren - Manehout (DLM) corporation of Mishawaka, Ind.

Mrs. Ruth Irvine, manager of the development, said the four buildings will contain a total of 24 apartments. Two buildings will contain eight one and two bedroom apartments and two will contain four apartments each, she said.

Joseph Donlon, DLM president, said the apartments will be constructed on the site of the "Barton" or "Redden" house as it is known to local residents. He said the house, located on Liberty avenue, between Front and Rynearson streets, will be torn down beginning next week.

Target date for opening the new apartments, located adjacent to the Metea development on Rynearson street, will be next January, Donlon said.

Mrs. Irvine said the property was purchased from the estate of the late Frank Fabiano. She said the building has stood vacant for over a year and earlier housed machines sold y Fabiano.

Metea Court was built in 1972 with a $1.2 million loan to the Buchanan Area Non-profit Housing commission from the state housing development authority. It has 76 units and a community building.

The Buchanan commission, at the urging of the state housing authority, transferred the project to the control of the Mishawaka firm on a limited dividend basis to help generate funds to keep the project up.

On hand for yesterday's ceremonies were DLM representatives, housing commission officials, and Elton Orpurt Jr. of Orpurt Plumbing and Heating of Buchanan, mechanical subcontractor for the project.

Notre Dame, North Carolina Fall In NCAA Tourney

Indiana, Kentucky Await Rematch

From Associated Press

Fifth-ranked Kentucky has been pointing for a rematch against unbeaten No. 1 Indiana ever since the Hoosiers gunned down the Wildcats 98-74 earlier this season.

The time for the shootout virtually is at hand — Saturday at Dayton, Ohio.

Both teams reached the final of the NCAA Mideast Regional basketball tournament with victories at Dayton Thursday night, Kentucky trouncing unranked Central Michigan 90-73 and Indiana beating 13th-ranked Oregon State 81-71.

Meanwhile, in the East Regional at Providence, R.I., No. 20 Syracuse upset sixth-rated North Carolina 78-76, and 17th-ranked Kansas State downed unranked Boston College 74-65.

At Las Cruces, N.M., in the Midwest Regional, No. 3 Louisville stopped 12th-ranked Cincinnati 78-63 and fourth-rated Maryland trimmed No. 9 Notre Dame 83-71.

And in the West Regional at Portland, Ore., second-ranked UCLA squeaked past unheralded Montana 67-64 and No. 7 Arizona State topped 16th-rated Nevada-Las Vegas 87-84.

All the winners will meet Saturday for the regional titles, then the winners will advance to the national semifinals at San Diego March 29. The championship will be at San Diego March 31.

Indiana's victory over Oregon State was its 34th in a row over two years and 31st this season. The Big Ten Conference champions got 34 points from Steve Green, who connected on 14 of 19 field goal attempts, and 23 points from Kent Benson.

Kentucky, 24-4, led upstart Central Michigan by only two points with eight minutes left, before pulling away with three straight baskets. Kevin Grevey paced Kentucky with 17 points.

Syracuse's victory over North Carolina was the biggest upset so far in the far-ranging NCAA tourney. The Orangemen, 22-7, won it on Jim Lee's field goal with three seconds remaining. Lee finished with 24 points.

Chuck Williams' 32 points, 24 in the second half, led Kansas State, 20-8, past Boston College. The Eagles rallied to within 65-63, but couldn't overcome the Wildcats, who shot a sparkling 63 per cent from the field, hitting 34 of 54 attempts.

Louisville, 26-2, used first-half streaks of 15-0 and 10-0 in building a 42-25 lead and beating Cincinnati, ending the Bearcats' 16-game winning streak.

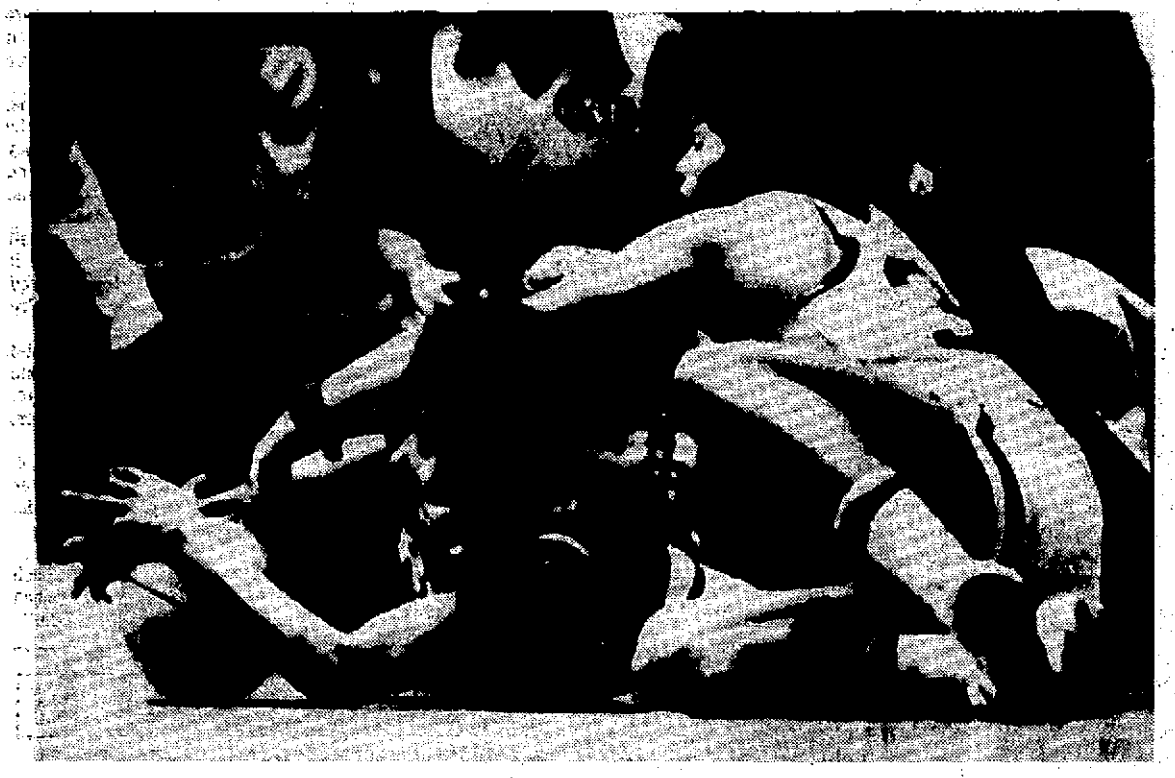

Maryland, 24-4, rallied from a 15-5 deficit against Notre Dame and finally forged ahead to stay 50-48 early in the second half on a field goal by John Lucas, its high scorer with 24 points.

UCLA, 25-3, had to scramble all the way warding off lightly regarded Montana. Two free throws by Marques Johnson with 38 seconds left and two more foul shots by Pete Trgovich with 16 seconds to go proved decisive.

Gary Jackson's three straight baskets with less than two minutes remaining boosted Arizona State over Nevada-Las Vegas, which had led by eight points with less than six minutes to play.

It's Curtains For Central

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fifth-ranked Kentucky closed the curtain on Central Michigan's surprising basketball campaign Thursday night with a 90-73 victory in the semifinals of the NCAA Mideast Regional tournament.

Forward Kevin Grevey scored 14 first half points and ignited an offensive spurt which carried Kentucky into Saturday's Regional finals against top-ranked Indiana, 81-71 victor over Oregon State.

Grevey excited the highly partisan Kentucky contingent among the 13,500 at the University of Dayton arena when he scored six of Kentucky's eight points in a spurt which put his team into a 44-37 lead at halftime.

Central Michigan, taking advantage of 6-10 center Rick Robey's foul problems, opened up a four-point lead 22-18 with a little more than 10 minutes to go in the first half after outscoring the Wildcats 8-2.

Then Grevey and Mike Phillips, who went into replace Robey at center, went to work and gave Kentucky its halftime margin.

Grevey scored only three more points in the second half but Phillips, who had returned to the game when Robey picked up his fourth foul early in the second half, continued the scoring pace and finished with 15 points.

The Chippewas, who finished the season at 21-6 after clinching the Mid-American Conference title, closed to within two points with eight minutes remaining in the game on a basket by Russ Davis.

The Wildcats then unloaded their final scoring burst of the night, hitting three unanswered baskets to pull away for good.

Dan Roundfield and James McElroy provided the Central Michigan offensive punch throughout the game.

Both played major roles in the Chippewas' early first-half lead with Roundfield getting 11 first-half points and nine rebounds while McElroy scored eight. Roundfield finished the game with 20 points and McElroy had 17.

Kentucky shot 48 per cent from the field compared to 36 per cent for Central Michigan in the game.

Kentucky Coach Joe Hall said the final score was no real indication of the game. But he admitted his team might have been thinking about Saturday's final game.

"Without criticizing our own team, we have a lot saved for Saturday afternoon," Hall said "I don't think we were up for this game."

The Kentucky coach found many things wrong with his Southeast Conference champions, who are now 24-4.

"The reasons for our play were obvious," Hall said. "We weren't alert and we weren't aggressive. Still I was pleased with it. I would have been pleased with a one-point victory.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pay attention, please, the Princeton Tigers are giving a basketball clinic.

Notice how they move the ball. See them hit the open man. Watch the ball go in the basket.

"We played as well as we can," said Princeton Coach Pete Carril after his Tigers put on a near-perfect performance in beating South Carolina 86-67 Thursday night in the quarterfinals of the 38th National Invitation Tournament.

The impressive victory advanced the Ivy Leaguers into Saturday's semifinals against Oregon, which beat Oral Roberts 68-59 in Thursday night's first game at Madison Square Garden. St. John's and Providence, victors in earlier quarter-final games will meet in Saturday's other semifinal game.

Princeton dispatched South Carolina with clinical ease, astonishing even Carril.

"I couldn't believe some of the things I saw out there, we were so perfect," said Carril, whose team simply blew by the Gamecocks and scored at least a dozen baskets on easy layups.

The Tigers, perhaps the best drilled of the 16 teams in this post-season tourney, executed with precision behind Tim Van Blommesteyn and Armond Hill and held a stunning 42-24 lead at the half. Van Blommesteyn and Hill got free for 24 and 22 points, respectively, to lead all scorers as the Tigers won their 11th straight game.

Greg Ballard scored 23 points and collected 15 rebounds to lead Oregon's triumph in the opener, another lopsided game. The Ducks came back from a nine-point deficit in the first half, took a 33-32 lead at the half and poured it on after intermission behind their high scorer.

Ballard had 12 points and nine of his rebounds in the opening half, then led a 15-4 scoring burst that helped Oregon move to a 48-36 lead with less than 12 minutes remaining.

The Titans clicked off the next six points, closing to 48-42, but that was the closest they got the rest of the way. Led by Ballard, the Ducks stretched their lead to as many as 16 points before Harter put in his reserves.

Van Lier Comment Ignites Cavs

Earn Edge For Last Playoff Spot By Beating Bulls

From Associated Press

Norm Van Lier of the Chicago Bulls claimed he was innocent. The Cleveland Cavaliers, however, found him guilty.

And the Cavaliers, apparently fired-up by a comment by the misunderstood Van Lier, beat the Bulls 87-83 Thursday night and gained a one-half game lead over the idle New York Knicks in thhe battle for the final playoff berth in the Eastern Conference of the National Basketball Association.

Van Lier, the backcourt sparkplug of the Midwest Division-leading Bulls, had ignited the struggling Cavaliers by being quoted as saying it was difficult to get mentally up for a team like Cleveland.

After the game, Van Lier said, "I don't like cutting up another team. That's not what I meant to do."

What Van Lier meant to do and the way the Cavaliers interpreted his remarks were completely different.

"What I meant was it's not hard to get mentally ready for some of these teams that have won championships," Van Lier added in self-defense. "You can't possibly be mentally ready for every team, and if you don't get up for these teams who haven't had a lot of success in the past, they can beat you."

Meanwhile, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings moved within 1½ games of Chicago in the Midwest Division, beating the New Orleans Jazz 101-95, and the Golden State Warriors edged the Portland Trail Blazers 97-95.

The Cleveland fans, also aware of Van Lier's comments, screamed and hollered at the Bulls throughout the game.

Jim Chones paced Cleveland with 22 points, including two consecutive field goals at the outset of the fourth quarter that put the Cavs ahead to stay 67-65. The second field goal came after the 6-foot-11 Chones grabbed a rebound and drove the length of the court.

Chet Walker paced Chicago with 31 points.

Kansas City, helped by 31 points by Nate Archibald and 21 by 6-7 rookie Scott Wedman, starting at guard for the first time in his career in place of injured Jimmy Walker, was clinging to a 93-92 lead with 2:06 remaining when the Jazz "fouled" itself up.

At that point, New Orleans' E.C. Coleman was called for a two-shot foul against Sam Lacey. Coleman protested the call and was assessed a technical by referee Bob Rakel. Then, Jazz Coach Bill van Breda Kolff protested the call on Coleman and he also received a technical.

While Archibald was shooting the two technicals, New Orleans' Pete Maravich antagonized Rakel and he was ejected. After the furor, Kansas City wound up with a 97-92 lead.

Butch Beard capped a season-high 29-point performance with a jump shot with two seconds remaining, lifting Golden State past Portland and clinching a playoff spot for the Warriors, the Pacific Division leaders. The Warriors need three more victories to earn their first division title since 1967.

Rick Barry added 24 points for Golden State, while Lenny Wilkens and Sidney Wicks each scored 20 points for Portland.

Tates Locke Quits Amid Rumors

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Amid a flurry of rumors regarding a National Collegiate Athletic Association investigation into the Clemson recruiting program, Tates Locke has resigned as head basketball coach of the South Carolina school, effective immediately.

Locke, contacted at home in Easley, S.C., told The Associated Press his resignation was the result of pressure which built up during the entire basketball season.

"There were a lot of personal rumors, accusations and allegations that were very difficult to live with," he said.

Locke, 38, said his decision had nothing to do with basketball.

"You can divorce basketball from this completely. I'm just tired of it. A basketball coach is not a politician and it has been very difficult for me. The public has been very ruthless," Locke said.

Clemson Athletic Director Bill McLellan said Locke declined to give any reason for his decision. "We are very appreciative of the guidance coach Locke has given our basketball program. He has recruited quality players, has made us competitive in the Atlantic Coast Conference, attendance has more than doubled since he came here five years ago and he has brought us into the national limelight with our best record since the 1966-67 season," McLellan said.

McLellan said he hopes the recent rumors and allegations concerning violations in the recruitment of basketball athletes had nothing to do with the resignation.

Clemson completed its season last Saturday, losing to Providence in the opening round of the National Invitational Tournament in New York, the Tigers' first participation in a post-season tournament.

Clemson was ranked nationally for the first two months of the season for the first time in history, going as high as 11th.

Their record for the past season was 17-11, the best in eight years.

Locke's overall Clemson record stands at 62-70. In his 11 years as a head basketball coach he holds a 159-127 record.

McLellan said "no thought has been given to a successor for Locke" but the school is launching an immediate search for a new coach.

Notre Dame, North Carolina Fall In NCAA Tourney

Indiana, Kentucky Await Rematch

From Associated Press

Fifth-ranked Kentucky has been pointing for a rematch against unbeaten No. 1 Indiana ever since the Hoosiers gunned down the Wildcats 98-74 earlier this season.

The time for the shootout virtually is at hand — Saturday at Dayton, Ohio.

Both teams reached the final of the NCAA Mideast Regional basketball tournament with victories at Dayton Thursday night, Kentucky trouncing unranked Central Michigan 90-73 and Indiana beating 13th-ranked Oregon State 81-71.

Meanwhile, in the East Regional at Providence, R.I., No. 20 Syracuse upset sixth-rated North Carolina 78-76, and 17th-ranked Kansas State downed unranked Boston College 74-65.

At Las Cruces, N.M., in the Midwest Regional, No. 3 Louisville stopped 12th-ranked Cincinnati 78-63 and fourth-rated Maryland trimmed No. 9 Notre Dame 83-71.

And in the West Regional at Portland, Ore., second-ranked UCLA squeaked past unheralded Montana 67-64 and No. 7 Arizona State topped 16th-rated Nevada-Las Vegas 87-84.

All the winners will meet Saturday for the regional titles, then the winners will advance to the national semifinals at San Diego March 29. The championship will be at San Diego March 31.

Indiana's victory over Oregon State was its 34th in a row over two years and 31st this season. The Big Ten Conference champions got 34 points from Steve Green, who connected on 14 of 19 field goal attempts, and 23 points from Kent Benson.

Kentucky, 24-4, led upstart Central Michigan by only two points with eight minutes left, before pulling away with three straight baskets. Kevin Grevey paced Kentucky with 17 points.

Syracuse's victory over North Carolina was the biggest upset so far in the far-ranging NCAA tourney. The Orangemen, 22-7, won it on Jim Lee's field goal with three seconds remaining. Lee finished with 24 points.

Chuck Williams' 32 points, 24 in the second half, led Kansas State, 20-8, past Boston College. The Eagles rallied to within 65-63, but couldn't overcome the Wildcats, who shot a sparkling 63 per cent from the field, hitting 34 of 54 attempts.

Louisville, 26-2, used first-half streaks of 15-0 and 10-0 in building a 42-25 lead and beating Cincinnati, ending the Bearcats' 16-game winning streak.

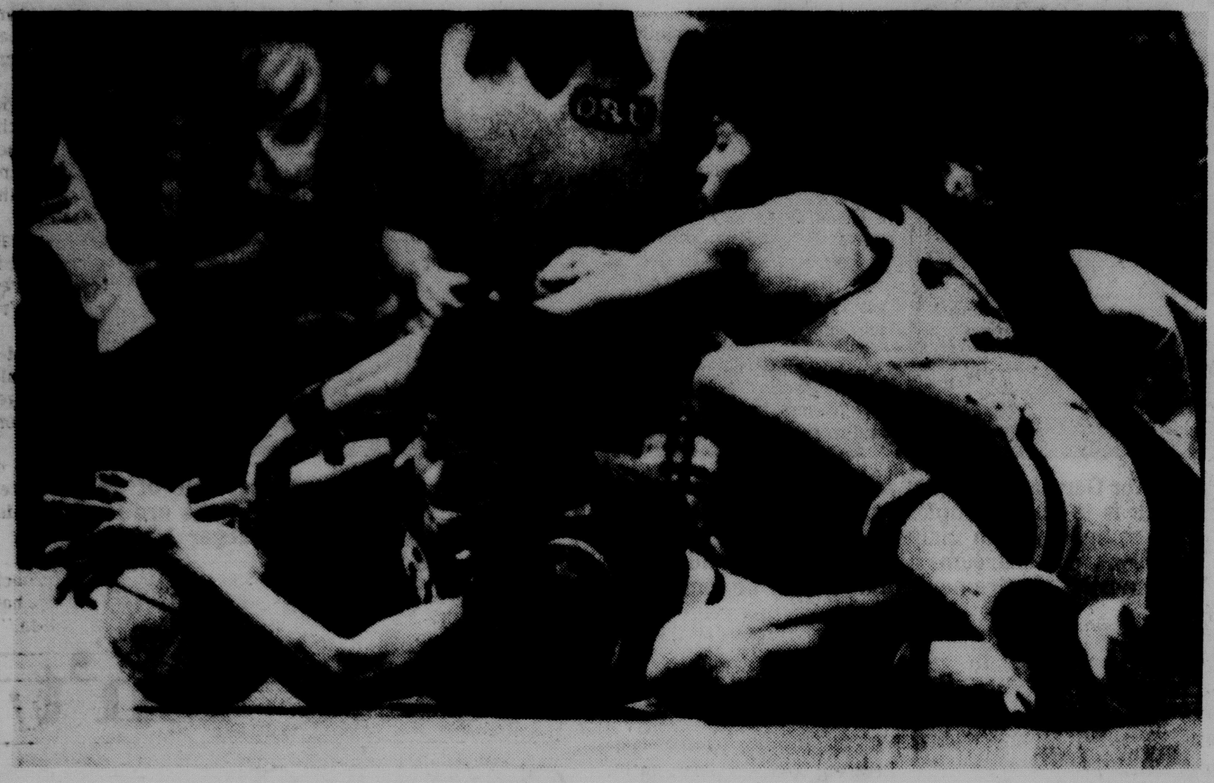

Maryland, 24-4, rallied from a 15-5 deficit against Notre Dame and finally forged ahead to stay 50-48 early in the second half on a field goal by John Lucas, its high scorer with 24 points.

UCLA, 25-3, had to scramble all the way warding off lightly regarded Montana. Two free throws by Marques Johnson with 38 seconds left and two more foul shots by Pete Trgovich with 16 seconds to go proved decisive.

Gary Jackson's three straight baskets with less than two minutes remaining boosted Arizona State over Nevada-Las Vegas, which had led by eight points with less than six minutes to play.

It's Curtains For Central

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fifth-ranked Kentucky closed the curtain on Central Michigan's surprising basketball campaign Thursday night with a 90-73 victory in the semifinals of the NCAA Mideast Regional tournament.

Forward Kevin Grevey scored 14 first half points and ignited an offensive spurt which carried Kentucky into Saturday's Regional finals against top-ranked Indiana, 81-71 victor over Oregon State.

Grevey excited the highly partisan Kentucky contingent among the 13,500 at the University of Dayton arena when he scored six of Kentucky's eight points in a spurt which put his team into a 44-37 lead at halftime.

Central Michigan, taking advantage of 6-10 center Rick Robey's foul problems, opened up a four-point lead 22-18 with a little more than 10 minutes to go in the first half after outscoring the Wildcats 8-2.

Then Grevey and Mike Phillips, who went into replace Robey at center, went to work and gave Kentucky its halftime margin.

Grevey scored only three more points in the second half but Phillips, who had returned to the game when Robey picked up his fourth foul early in the second half, continued the scoring pace and finished with 15 points.

The Chippewas, who finished the season at 21-6 after clinching the Mid-American Conference title, closed to within two points with eight minutes remaining in the game on a basket by Russ Davis.

The Wildcats then unloaded their final scoring burst of the night, hitting three unanswered baskets to pull away for good.

Dan Roundfield and James McElroy provided the Central Michigan offensive punch throughout the game.

Both played major roles in the Chippewas' early first-half lead with Roundfield getting 11 first-half points and nine rebounds while McElroy scored eight. Roundfield finished the game with 20 points and McElroy had 17.

Kentucky shot 48 per cent from the field compared to 36 per cent for Central Michigan in the game.

Kentucky Coach Joe Hall said the final score was no real indication of the game. But he admitted his team might have been thinking about Saturday's final game.

"Without criticizing our own team, we have a lot saved for Saturday afternoon," Hall said "I don't think we were up for this game."

The Kentucky coach found many things wrong with his Southeast Conference champions, who are now 24-4.

"The reasons for our play were obvious," Hall said. "We weren't alert and we weren't aggressive. Still I was pleased with it. I would have been pleased with a one-point victory.

'Clinic' Won By Princeton

Tigers Near-Perfect In NIT Triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — Pay attention, please, the Princeton Tigers are giving a basketball clinic.

Notice how they move the ball. See them hit the open man. Watch the ball go in the basket.

"We played as well as we can," said Princeton Coach Pete Carril after his Tigers put on a near-perfect performance in beating South Carolina 86-67 Thursday night in the quarterfinals of the 38th National Invitation Tournament.

The impressive victory advanced the Ivy Leaguers into Saturday's semifinals against Oregon, which beat Oral Roberts 68-59 in Thursday night's first game at Madison Square Garden. St. John's and Providence, victors in earlier quarter-final games will meet in Saturday's other semifinal game.

March Madness Climaxes In State Finals Saturday

By HARRY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

Grown men sort of get the willies and women have palpitations. Students walk around in a trance while teachers try to act bemused.

It's March Madness!

By late Saturday it will all be over, and Michigan will have crowned four prep basketball champions at the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena.

"We aren't getting much in the way of education accomplished this week," Cassopolis Principal Dave Smith said. "It's pretty hard to keep the kids' minds on the books."

Cassopolis (24-3) and defending state champ Bay City All Saints (26-1) conclude the four-game all-day basketball circus when they play for the Class C title at 8:30 p.m.

In order, the other games feature: Mount Pleasant (19-7) vs. Lake Odessa Lakewood (26-1) for the Class B crown at 11 a.m.; Highland Park (22-3) vs. Flint Northwestern (20-6) for the Class A title at 2:30 p.m. and Allendale (18-8) vs. Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart (23-3) for the Class D championship at 7 p.m.

Class A

Both Class A clubs made it to the finals without the aide of a really big man.

Highland Park is a slick-shooting club that scores fast, then plays defense. The attack leans heavily upon 6-foot-2 Terry Duerod, who is averaging 27 points a game. He scored 43 in the quarterfinal game against Berkley.

"This is the most unselfish team I have ever coached," said Coach Darrell Pursiful. "I feel that we have as many as four players who could play major college ball."

Pursiful, whose Parkers finished the regular season tied for No. 6 in the final Class A poll, does his share, too. He eats a plate of liver and onions in the locker room before each game and wears his lucky red checkered suit.

Flint Northwestern's tallest starter will be 6-foot-6 James Person.

Coach Grover Kirkland already has seen his club drop a 20-point contest to Highland Park earlier in the season and knows his Wildcats are underdogs Saturday.

"We have plenty of speed and quickness," Kirkland said, "and we've improved as the season has progressed. But I still may ask for help from above against Highland Park."

He'll look first, however, to sophomore guard Eddie Simmons, who almost single-handedly led the Wildcats into the title game with his play against Plymouth Salem in the semifinals.

If Simmons can do a job on Duerod it will be anybody's game.

Class B

Mount Pleasant only has two high schools, and they both are in the finals. And they both cheer for the other to win, since they aren't in the same class.

After their Class B semifinal victory over Wyoming Godwin Heights at Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse last Saturday, the Mount Pleasant High players went cross-town to the Lansing Civic Center to cheer Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart to a Class D victory over top-ranked Detroit East Catholic.

The Oilers and Coach George Noch were given a standing ovation by Sacred Heart fans as they entered the Civic Center.

"That standing ovation made us feel good," Noch said, "but our players just wanted to go and root for Sacred Heart."

Both the Oilers and Lake Odessa seemed well matched going into Saturday's showdown, despite Mount Pleasant's lackluster record.

"I know we'll be the underdog," Noch said, "but that doesn't mean a thing because it's what happens on the floor that counts."

Mount Pleasant looks to Kim Tillotson, a 6-foot-3 forward, for its scoring punch. Tillotson broke 14 school records while scoring over 800 points in his prep career.

Lake Odessa is a small town about 35 miles west of Lansing. It is a consolidated school district, however, drawing students from the nearby communities of Sunfield, Woodland and Clarksville.

Lakewood Coach Rollie Krauss centers his fast-breaking attack around 6-foot-7 Mike O'Mara, but guards Al Westendorf and Stacey Bosworth run the attack. It was their play that got Lakewood past third-ranked Jackson Lumen Christi in the semifinal game.

"I know we're favored, but we're definitely not taking Mount Pleasant lightly," Krauss said.

Class C

Cassopolis builds its attack around the shooting of 6-foot guard Roger Walters. The slick-shooting senior has scored over 1,200 points in his prep career.

Coach Bob Fullett believes his bench will be the key, however, if the Rangers are to pull an upset over heavily favored Bay City All Saints.

"We can go eight or nine deep," Fullett said. "We give up something in height, but nothing in speed and quickness."

All Saints, under Coach R.J. "Lefty" Franz, is almost in a class by itself. The Cougars finished the regular season No. 1 in the state and have done nothing in the tournament to alter that image.

"I don't expect Cassopolis to show us anything we haven't encountered several times this season," Franz said.

All Saints will look to Billy Harris, a 6-foot-1 senior forward who scored 33 in leading the Cougars to the Class C title last year.

Class D

It has been six years since Allendale was taking 120-point lickings from Western Michigan opponents, but Coach Ken Pierce and his Falcons haven't forgotten.

Pierce is the only coach the Falcons have had since the school was established six years ago. His seniors have been playing for him since they were eighth graders.

"No matter what you tell kids, they're going to read the papers," Pierce said. "So they know we're the underdogs going against Sacred Heart in the finals.

"But our guys have seen it all season, and they've resented it sometimes. I think it inspired them to play better. We're here!"

Mark Wiersma, a 6-foot-3 junior, is the top Allendale scorer with an 18.5 average. Mark Hansen, a 6-foot-2 senior, averages about 10.

Sacred Heart will look to 6-foot-6 Dave Simons at center and a pair of hot-handed guards; Bill Myler and Bob Horan.

"We have good shooters ... and we expect to win," Coach Dennis Kuiper said. "We've had a lot of confidence all season."

Feud Erupts Into Warfare

Billy Martin, Maddox Central Figures

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Did Billy Martin have a contract out on Elliott Maddox and, if so, was Jim Bibby his hit man?

The year-old feud between center-fielder Maddox of the New York Yankees and Texas Manager Billy Martin erupted in a rare spring training beanball war during the Rangers' 32 10-inning triumph Thursday. It wound up with Yankee Manager Bill Virdon tangled on the ground with Texas slugger Jeff Burroughs.

The hard feelings between Maddox and Martin began last spring when, according to Maddox, then with the Rangers, Martin reneged on a promise to give him plenty of playing time. Shortly thereafter, the outfielder was sold to the Yankees.

Maddox repeated the charges in a local newspaper last week. "He lied to me," Maddox said. "That makes him a liar."

This is what happened:

Texas pitcher Bibby clipped Maddox on the shoulder with a first-inning pitch. Then New York's Rudy May brushed back Texas' Joe Lovitto in the second inning.

Maddox' bat flew halfway to mound in the third inning and Stan Thomas of the Rangers fired a pitch over Maddox' head in the sixth.

The Yanks' Mike Wallace did it twice to Texas' Dave Nelson in the seventh ... and that triggered the fracas.

Martin denied he ordered his pitchers to throw at Maddox. Maddox, of course, had a different version. "When Billy Martin is the manager, you expect anything," said the outfielder, who added he heard "through the grapevine" to "hang loose" because Martin was "teed off." He said two Yankee teammates, who had talked with some Texas players, warned him, "Watch out, Martin's after you."

"Our guys were not told to throw at Maddox," Martin insisted. "But our guys can read, too. They saw the paper.

In more serene action, the Pittsburgh Pirates snapped their six-game losing streak with a vengeance. The Pirates split their squad. One half went to Sarasota, Fla., and swept an unusual exhibition doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 4-1 and 6-5. The rest of the Bucs journeyed to St. Petersburg, Fla., and defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Dodgers shaded the Montreal Expos 4-2, the California Angels trimmed the Cleveland Indians 5-1, the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Houston Astros 7-2, the Kansas City Royals nipped the Baltimore Orioles 8-7, the New York Mets blanked the Atlanta Braves 3-0, the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox 5-3, the San Francisco Giants trounced the Milwaukee Brewers 8-1, the Minnesota Twins ripped the Philadelphia Phillies 7-1 and the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Diego Padres 4-1.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit scored three times off Louis Tiant in the second inning on four straight singles, a force-out and an error as the Tigers took a 5-3 exhibition baseball victory Thursday night over the Boston Red Sox.

Singles by Bill Freehan and rookies Dan Meyer and Tom Veryzer gave Detroit its first run after catcher Bob Montgomery fumbled a throw to the plate to allow Freehan to score.

Rookie Leon Roberts followed with an RBI single, then Aurelio Rodriguez' fielder's choice grounder brought in the third.

Willie Horton singled in a Detroit run in the fifth and Ron LeFlore singled in another in the sixth to give Joe Coleman the victory.

Coleman became the first Tiger to pitch six innngs. He gave up runs in both the third and sixth and scattered five hits.

John Hiller mopped up for Detroit, giving up a run in the ninth.

Bernie Carbo, Carl Yastrzemski and Rick Burleson drove in the Red Sox runs.

It was Detroit's third straight victory in a 6-9 record. Boston is 6-8.

'Dreaming' Wepner Facing Reality Monday Against Ali

CLEVELAND (AP) — Chuck Wepner will try to turn a dream into reality Monday night when he fights heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali.

The odds are heavily against him, so against him in fact that as of Thursday, Las Vegas bookmakers hadn't even established a betting line on the fight.

Wepner admits to having bet $700 on himself as a 10-1 underdog, and manager-trainer Al Braverman says he has bet an undisclosed amount of money on his fighter at even longer odds.

Ali has said he's not in top condition and hasn't trained properly but "I'm doing enough for this man."

When someone asked Ali if Wepner should be considered a "White Hope," the champion replied, "It's the only one he's got."

But Wepner has this recurring dream.

"I dream I knock him out in the 13th round," said the liquor salesman - challenger from Bayonne, N.J., "Howard Cosell is jumping up and down and hollering, "I don't believe it. I don't believe it."

"A lifetime you look for a break; this is our break," Braverman said of the 35 - year - old Wepner's shot at the title in the 11th year of a 41-fight pro career which has seen him lose nine times.

"This is the pinnacle of my career, right now," said Wepner. "I intend to win. If I don't, everything is downhill from now on. But I'm not gonna travel to Washington and Scranton and places like that. I'm not gonna become an opponent."

March Madness Climaxes In State Finals Saturday

By HARRY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

Grown men sort of get the willies and women have palpitations. Students walk around in a trance while teachers try to act bemused.

It's March Madness!

By late Saturday it will all be over, and Michigan will have crowned four prep basketball champions at the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena.

"We aren't getting much in the way of education accomplished this week," Cassopolis Principal Dave Smith said. "It's pretty hard to keep the kids' minds on the books."

Cassopolis (24-3) and defending state champ Bay City All Saints (26-1) conclude the four-game all-day basketball circus when they play for the Class C title at 8:30 p.m.

In order, the other games feature: Mount Pleasant (19-7) vs. Lake Odessa Lakewood (26-1) for the Class B crown at 11 a.m.; Highland Park (22-3) vs. Flint Northwestern (20-6) for the Class A title at 2:30 p.m. and Allendale (18-8) vs. Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart (23-3) for the Class D championship at 7 p.m.

Class A

Both Class A clubs made it to the finals without the aide of a really big man.

Highland Park is a slick-shooting club that scores fast, then plays defense. The attack leans heavily upon 6-foot-2 Terry Duerod, who is averaging 27 points a game. He scored 43 in the quarterfinal game against Berkley.

"This is the most unselfish team I have ever coached," said Coach Darrell Pursiful. "I feel that we have as many as four players who could play major college ball."

Pursiful, whose Parkers finished the regular season tied for No. 6 in the final Class A poll, does his share, too. He eats a plate of liver and onions in the locker room before each game and wears his lucky red checkered suit.

Flint Northwestern's tallest starter will be 6-foot-6 James Person.

Coach Grover Kirkland already has seen his club drop a 20-point contest to Highland Park earlier in the season and knows his Wildcats are underdogs Saturday.

"We have plenty of speed and quickness," Kirkland said, "and we've improved as the season has progressed. But I still may ask for help from above against Highland Park."

He'll look first, however, to sophomore guard Eddie Simmons, who almost single-handedly led the Wildcats into the title game with his play against Plymouth Salem in the semifinals.

If Simmons can do a job on Duerod it will be anybody's game.

Class B

Mount Pleasant only has two high schools, and they both are in the finals. And they both cheer for the other to win, since they aren't in the same class.

After their Class B semifinal victory over Wyoming Godwin Heights at Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse last Saturday, the Mount Pleasant High players went cross-town to the Lansing Civic Center to cheer Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart to a Class D victory over top-ranked Detroit East Catholic.

The Oilers and Coach George Noch were given a standing ovation by Sacred Heart fans as they entered the Civic Center.

"That standing ovation made us feel good," Noch said, "but our players just wanted to go and root for Sacred Heart."

Both the Oilers and Lake Odessa seemed well matched going into Saturday's showdown, despite Mount Pleasant's lackluster record.

"I know we'll be the underdog," Noch said, "but that doesn't mean a thing because it's what happens on the floor that counts."

Mount Pleasant looks to Kim Tillotson, a 6-foot-3 forward, for its scoring punch. Tillotson broke 14 school records while scoring over 800 points in his prep career.

Lake Odessa is a small town about 35 miles west of Lansing. It is a consolidated school district, however, drawing students from the nearby communities of Sunfield, Woodland and Clarksville.

Lakewood Coach Rollie Krauss centers his fast-breaking attack around 6-foot-7 Mike O'Mara, but guards Al Westendorf and Stacey Bosworth run the attack. It was their play that got Lakewood past third-ranked Jackson Lumen Christi in the semifinal game.

"I know we're favored, but we're definitely not taking Mount Pleasant lightly," Krauss said.

Class C

Cassopolis builds its attack around the shooting of 6-foot guard Roger Walters. The slick-shooting senior has scored over 1,200 points in his prep career.

Coach Bob Fullett believes his bench will be the key, however, if the Rangers are to pull an upset over heavily favored Bay City All Saints.

"We can go eight or nine deep," Fullett said. "We give up something in height, but nothing in speed and quickness."

All Saints, under Coach R.J. "Lefty" Franz, is almost in a class by itself. The Cougars finished the regular season No. 1 in the state and have done nothing in the tournament to alter that image.

"I don't expect Cassopolis to show us anything we haven't encountered several times this season," Franz said.

All Saints will look to Billy Harris, a 6-foot-1 senior forward who scored 33 in leading the Cougars to the Class C title last year.

Class D

It has been six years since Allendale was taking 120-point lickings from Western Michigan opponents, but Coach Ken Pierce and his Falcons haven't forgotten.

Pierce is the only coach the Falcons have had since the school was established six years ago. His seniors have been playing for him since they were eighth graders.

"No matter what you tell kids, they're going to read the papers," Pierce said. "So they know we're the underdogs going against Sacred Heart in the finals.

"But our guys have seen it all season, and they've resented it sometimes. I think it inspired them to play better. We're here!"

Mark Wiersma, a 6-foot-3 junior, is the top Allendale scorer with an 18.5 average. Mark Hansen, a 6-foot-2 senior, averages about 10.

Sacred Heart will look to 6-foot-6 Dave Simons at center and a pair of hot-handed guards; Bill Myler and Bob Horan.

"We have good shooters ... and we expect to win," Coach Dennis Kuiper said. "We've had a lot of confidence all season."

Feud Erupts Into Warfare

Billy Martin, Maddox Central Figures

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Did Billy Martin have a contract out on Elliott Maddox and, if so, was Jim Bibby his hit man?

The year-old feud between center-fielder Maddox of the New York Yankees and Texas Manager Billy Martin erupted in a rare spring training beanball war during the Rangers' 32 10-inning triumph Thursday. It wound up with Yankee Manager Bill Virdon tangled on the ground with Texas slugger Jeff Burroughs.

The hard feelings between Maddox and Martin began last spring when, according to Maddox, then with the Rangers, Martin reneged on a promise to give him plenty of playing time. Shortly thereafter, the outfielder was sold to the Yankees.

Maddox repeated the charges in a local newspaper last week. "He lied to me," Maddox said. "That makes him a liar."

Maddox' bat flew halfway to mound in the third inning and Stan Thomas of the Rangers fired a pitch over Maddox' head in the sixth.

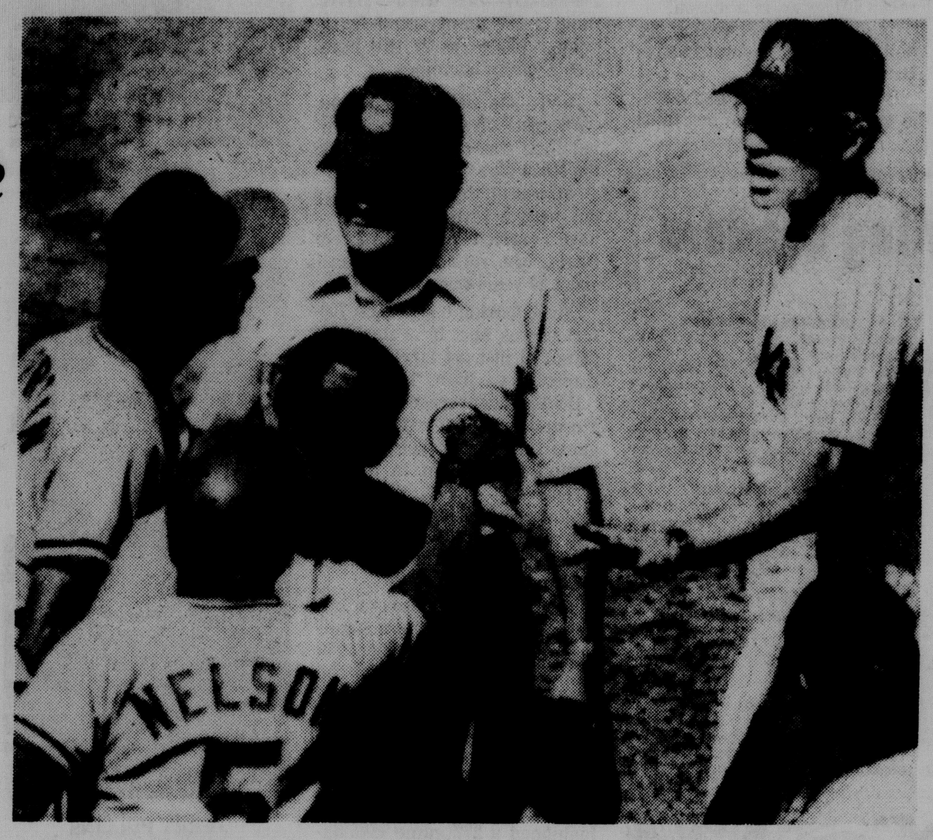

The Yanks' Mike Wallace did it twice to Texas' Dave Nelson in the seventh ... and that triggered the fracas.

Martin denied he ordered his pitchers to throw at Maddox. Maddox, of course, had a different version. "When Billy Martin is the manager, you expect anything," said the outfielder, who added he heard "through the grapevine" to "hang loose" because Martin was "teed off." He said two Yankee teammates, who had talked with some Texas players, warned him, "Watch out, Martin's after you."

"Our guys were not told to throw at Maddox," Martin insisted. "But our guys can read, too. They saw the paper.

680 Highest Women's Series Of Season

Pin-Busting Weekend For Hersh

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

A pin-busting weekend!

That's what Barb Hersh had last Saturday and Sunday while bowling at Gersonde's Recreation.

The veteran St. Joseph bowler smashed a fantastic 680 series Saturday afternoon in a postponed match and then came back Sunday night with a "regular" 652.

The 680 is the highest series rolled this season in southwestern Michigan by a woman bowler and is the fourth (tie) highest in area history.

However, the 680 is still only Barb's second best career series. She owns a 717 series, which ironically was also bowled in March (1969) on the same pair of alleys (27 and 28) at Gersonde's as the 680. The 717 is second to Carol Rohl's 734.

"I just love it," exclaimed Barb, who averaged 222 over the six games. "I can't believe it. I hope no one wakes me up. And I thought I had had it with that 501 series on Thursday. You better believe alleys 27 and 28 are my favorites.

"Some of our members of our team were out of town the previous week, so we agreed with the other team to postpone our match to Saturday. I didn't mind the postponement at all!"

Barb, bowling in the Sunday Night Six O'Clock league, had a chance for another 700.

"In my last game (256) I needed a double and nine count in the tenth frame for a 700. But I threw a Brooklyn and left the No. 10 pin. You bet I was nervous. I get so nervous I almost can't move."

The 256, following games of 190 and 234, was Barb's second 256 game in two weeks.

Barb, averaging 183 in the Sunday league, added the 652 with games of 203-236-213.

Barb is enjoying her best season in her illustrious bowling career. She now has eight 600's this season, four coming in the last month. Her previous best as seven 600 series in a season.

"I guess I'm just rolling the ball better than before," states Barb.

Barb, who has 57 career 600's, is well on her way to her third straight 600 "title." Her eight 600 series are tops this season and three more than Carol Nisi's total of five.

Teammates Pete Morgan and Jim Davis both produced hefty efforts Tuesday night in the Twin City league at Gersonde's.

Morgan popped his second 700 series within a month with a 235-233-234—702 while Davis flung a 289 game, good for a second place tie in the high men's games standings.

Davis started his opening game with 10 strikes in a row but then was stopped dead by the No. 5 pin.

"It wasn't that good of a hit but with a little luck I could have carried it," observed Davis, who rolled a 289 game about 20 years ago.

Davis, looking for his first 700 series, was hurt by a final 146 game...up too high."

Davis, who averages 183, and Morgan, who also rifled a 289 game this season, helped their Louie's Cafe team to a 2887 series.

Morgan, who had a previous 700 at Blossom Lanes, is the fourth area kegler to notch twin 700's this season.

Rose Mary Jones also cracked the women's high games standings this week with her 255 game Wednesday night in the Heath Ladies league at Blossom. The 255 is good for a third-place deadlock.

Jerry Pullins, only 17, fashioned a 272 game last Saturday in the junior bowling program at Lakeshore Lanes.

Pullins, a junior at Lakeshore, started with a turkey, coverted the 5-8-10 split and then fashioned seven more strikes in a row for the 272, 138 pins over his 134 average.

"I just decided to take my time and relax," offers Pullins, whose previous high was 169. "I got in the pocket every time but I was getting a little shaky near the end."

The 272 is believed the highest game ever bowled in the youth league at Lakeshore Lanes.

Pullins sandwiched games of 166 and 121 around the 272 to end with a 559 series.

The early leader in the team event of the women's city tournament is Let's Get It On. The squad fired a 2876 handicap series Monday for high series among only six teams bowling at Gersonde's. BoBo's Restaurant took second at 2844. Bowling will resume March 31.

Split conversions this week included the 6-7-10 by Pat Olson, J. Vincent, Bill Griffis, Stan Miskowitz, Deane Hubbard, Ed Williams, Maria Ball, Marion Sauer, Thelma Marquardt, Evelyn Keigley, Paul Flagel, Vickie McDonald and Lavonda Phillips; the 6-7 by Shirley Ellis, Lewis Evans, Lydia Groth and Bob Edwards; the 4-7-10 by Mary Justice, Dorothy Roberts, Ellen McNees, Rose Hadley and Kerry Dorstewitz; the 4-10 by Carole Kepner and Eldonna Hendrix; the 4-6-10 by Bev Burkett and the 4-7-9-10 by Bud Saetre.

Erv Ryno hit an 149 triplicate and junior bowler Ivy Schewe an 112 triplicate. Cheryl Matthews, a prep bowler, shot a 211 game, 101 pins over her average. Doug Roemer had a Dutch 200.

Ref Assists Cap Futility

Wings' Redmond Back, Hawks Still Win

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Washington Capitals keep piling up records for futility in their first National Hockey League season and Coach Red Sullivan contends the officials are adding insult to injury.

"When you're down, they figure you can't win," Sullivan barked after the Caps lost 5-1 to the Minnesota North Stars Thursday night and set an NHL record with their 61st defeat.

"That was the worst officiated game I've ever seen," Sullivan fumed. "We had a good hockey game going, the people were up and all of a sudden zip-zip-zip and the ballgame was over."

Sullivan referred to three penalties called on Washington by referee Steve Dowling during a 1:28 span of the second period, just after a goal by Dennis O'Brien had given Minnesota a 2-1 lead. The North Stars followed with power-play goals by Dwight Bialowas and Doug Hicks and the Caps no longer had a chance to win their seventh game in 72 starts.

Elsewhere, the Buffalo Sabres trounced the New York Rangers 6-3, the Chicago Black Hawks whipped the Detroit Red Wings and the Los Angeles Kings edged the St. Louis Blues 3-2.

The North Stars, slipping back in recent seasons, are having a tough year with a 21-44-6 record. But that's nothing compared to the Caps' 6-61-5 log.

Washington's 61 defeats, which tops the 60 set two years ago by the New York Islanders, is only one of six negative records owned by the Caps. They also have lost the most consecutive games on the road, 35; the most at home, 26; given up the most goals, 395; allowed the most power-play goals, 86, and the most shorthanded goals, 15.

Next on the horizon is the record longest losing streak of 15, set way back in 1930-31 by the Philadelphia Quakers. The Caps can tie that at Boston Saturday night.

The explosive Sabres got goals from Gilbert Perreault, Danny Gare and Pete McNab in a span of less than three minutes early in the game. The outcome boosted Buffalo's commanding lead to 14 points over runner-up Boston in Division 4 and prevented the Rangers from extending their three-point edge over the third-place New York Islanders in Division 1.

Detroit welcomed back high-scoring Mickey Redmond but his brother Dick helped spoil the event by setting up two Chicago goals. The triumph moved Chicago within a point of Vancouver, the leader in Division 2, and pushed them two points in front of St. Louis.

Mickey Redmond, a 50-goal scorer last season, was sidelined for 51 games because of an operation to correct a ruptured disc in his back. Playing for the first time since Dec. 8, he scored his 11th goal of the season in the second period but it came after Chicago had a 3-0 lead.

Los Angeles' Mike Murphy and Danny Maloney scored third-period goals after outstanding goaltending by the Blues' Eddie Johnston stymied the Kings for the first two periods. The 39 - year - old veteran turned back five breakaways while his team took a 2-0 lead on goals by Larry Sacharuk and Floyd Thomson.

Koch Still Tops

Bob Koch ran his record to 8-0 with a 6-2, 7-5 victory over Bill Hartz in the Alpine Racquet Club tennis league this week.

Chi-Chi Miller also remained unbeaten by downing Fred Jung 6-2, 2-6, 6-4 for his fourth victory while Sam Henderson outlasted Tom Butler 2-6, 6-3, 6-3 and Jim Gersonde beat Bruce Canyboare 6-3, 6-2.

Battle Creek Native Eyes Job With Sox

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Bill Stein's big chance hasn't come, but he's making the most of his little chance.

Stein, a Battle Creek, Mich., native, has been an impressive baseball player about wherever he's been. But to make it in the major leagues he's never really been in the right place at the right time.

This year Stein should make the grade with the Chicago White Sox as a third baseman, but still not as a regular because Bill Melton has the job sewn up.

"If I make the ball club I'll be satisfied, because I figure I'll play more than I did with St. Louis," he said, while with the White Sox for a spring training game at Lakeland against Detroit.

Stein, who moved to Cocoa, Fla., when he was 10, following the death of his father, was an All-State baseball player in Florida and then became a first-team All-America at Southern Illinois University.

The St. Louis Cardinals signed him in 1969 and he played briefly with them in 1972, batting .314 in 35 at-bats. The next year he went to the plate 55 times but batted only .218.

St. Louis traded him to the California Angels, who loaned him to the White Sox for their Iowa farm. Chicago quickly traded pitcher Steve Blateric to the Angels for him after Stein's impressive showing.

He was the top hitter for Iowa with a .328 average, third best in the American Association. He led the league with 107 runs, 178 hits and 274 total bases and was on the All-Star team.

Stein, 28, joined Chicago late in the season and in 13 games batted .328.

"I never had a bad year," the affable, righthanded hitter said. "But the situation at St. Louis was that they were loaded."

Stein signed as a shortstop but played outfield for St. Louis. With the White Sox he expects to play some third and some second.

He is one of seven players with Michigan backgrounds in the Chicago spring training camp at Sarasota. Veteran pitcher Jim Kaat is from Zeeland, Pitchers Larry Monroe and Chuck Sprinkle, plus outfielder Nyls Nyman, are from Detroit. All live in other states now.

Still Michigan residents are catcher Jeff Sovern of Battle Creek and infielder Mike Squires of Kalamazoo. All but Kaat, Nyman and Stein are nonroster hopefuls invited to camp.

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire boys baseball association will hold a meeting this coming Monday at the village hall starting at 7:00 p.m.

Election of officers will take place and expansion plans will be discussed.

Palmer One Stroke Back

Thompson And McLendon Jacksonville Leaders

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) —Arnold Palmer is a contender again.

"It's getting better," Palmer said after his four-under-par 68 Thursday put him only one stroke back of co-leaders Barney Thompson and Mac McLendon in the first round of the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

"It's encouraging," Palmer continued. "That's the best I've hit my irons in a long time."

And the 45-year-old Palmer, who has let two victory opportunities slip away from him this season, is determined to hang on here.

"I took off last week and spent the whole week practicing," said Palmer, who hasn't won in more than two full seasons. "Actually, I'm playing reasonably well.

"Poor play isn't the problem. It's just that I mess it up with one not-good round. You can't do that and win. To win you have to play three very good rounds and one fairly good one.

"I've been playing one round that wasn't good enough."

Palmer didn't have a bogey in his effort over the 7,143-yard Deerwood Country Club course and was tied with five others behind McLendon and Thompson, who matched 67s.

In addition to Palmer, the group at 68 included Ben Crenshaw, Jim Dent, Grier Jones, Bob Dickson and Lee Elder, prepping for his role as the first black to play in the Masters.

"My game's back," said Elder, who has had problems since winning the Monsanto Open last year. "I'm ready. You'll hear from me this week. If my putter will come back just a little more, I can take it right on in there and win."

Hubert Green, the defending champion, shot a 71 in the mild, sunny weather.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin carded a 73.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller are not competing in this event that offers $30,000 to the winner.

680 Highest Women's Series Of Season

Pin-Busting Weekend For Hersh

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

A pin-busting weekend!

That's what Barb Hersh had last Saturday and Sunday while bowling at Gersonde's Recreation.

The veteran St. Joseph bowler smashed a fantastic 680 series Saturday afternoon in a postponed match and then came back Sunday night with a "regular" 652.

The 680 is the highest series rolled this season in southwestern Michigan by a woman bowler and is the fourth (tie) highest in area history.

However, the 680 is still only Barb's second best career series. She owns a 717 series, which ironically was also bowled in March (1969) on the same pair of alleys (27 and 28) at Gersonde's as the 680. The 717 is second to Carol Rohl's 734.

"I just love it," exclaimed Barb, who averaged 222 over the six games. "I can't believe it. I hope no one wakes me up. And I thought I had had it with that 501 series on Thursday. You better believe alleys 27 and 28 are my favorites.

"Some of our members of our team were out of town the previous week, so we agreed with the other team to postpone our match to Saturday. I didn't mind the postponement at all!"

Barb, bowling in the Sunday Night Six O'Clock league, had a chance for another 700.

"In my last game (256) I needed a double and nine count in the tenth frame for a 700. But I threw a Brooklyn and left the No. 10 pin. You bet I was nervous. I get so nervous I almost can't move."

The 256, following games of 190 and 234, was Barb's second 256 game in two weeks.

Barb, averaging 183 in the Sunday leauge, added the 652 with games of 203-236-213.

Barb is enjoying her best season in her illustrious bowling career. She now has eight 600's this season, four coming in the last month. Her previous best as seven 600 series in a season.

"I guess I'm just rolling the ball better than before," states Barb.

Barb, who has 57 career 600's, is well on her way to her third straight 600 "title." Her eight 600 series are tops this season and three more than Carol Nisi's total of five.

Teammates Pete Morgan and Jim Davis both produced hefty efforts Tuesday night in the Twin City league at Gersonde's.

Morgan popped his second 700 series within a month with a 235-233-234—702 while Davis flung a 289 game, good for a second place tie in the high men's games standings.

Davis started his opening game with 10 strikes in a row but then was stopped dead by the No. 5 pin.

"It wasn't that good of a hit but with a little luck I could have carried it," observed Davis, who rolled a 299 game about 20 years ago.

Davis, looking for his first 700 series, was hurt by a final 146 game. "I just got lazy that last game...up too high."

Davis, who averages 183, and Morgan, who also rifled a 289 game this season, helped their Louie's Cafe team to a 2887 series.

Morgan, who had a previous 700 at Blossom Lanes, is the fourth area kegler to notch twin 700's this season.

Rose Mary Jones also cracked the women's high games standings this week with her 255 game Wednesday night in the Heath Ladies league at Blossom. The 255 is good for a third-place deadlock.

Jerry Pullins, only 17, fashioned a 272 game last Saturday in the junior bowling program at Lakeshore Lanes.

Pullins, a junior at Lakeshore, started with a turkey, coverted the 5-8-10 split and then fashioned seven more strikes in a row for the 272, 138 pins over his 134 average.

"I just decided to take my time and relax," offers Pullins, whose previous high was 169. "I got in the pocket every time but I was getting a little shaky near the end."

The 272 is believed the highest game ever bowled in the youth league at Lakeshore Lanes.

Pullins sandwiched games of 166 and 121 around the 272 to end with a 559 series.

The early leader in the team event of the women's city tournament is Let's Get It On. The squad fired a 2876 handicap series Monday for high series among only six teams bowling at Gersonde's. BoBo's Restaurant took second at 2844. Bowling will resume March 31.

Erv Ryno hit an 149 triplicate and junior bowler Ivy Schewe an 112 triplicate. Cheryl Matthews, a prep bowler, shot a 211 game, 101 pins over her average. Doug Roemer had a Dutch 200.

Ref Assists Cap Futility

Wings' Redmond Back, Hawks Still Win

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Washington Capitals keep piling up records for futility in their first National Hockey League season and Coach Red Sullivan contends the officials are adding insult to injury.

"When you're down, they figure you can't win," Sullivan barked after the Caps lost 5-1 to the Minnesota North Stars Thursday night and set an NHL record with their 61st defeat.

"That was the worst officiated game I've ever seen," Sullivan fumed. "We had a good hockey game going, the people were up and all of a sudden zip-zip-zip and the ballgame was over."

Sullivan referred to three penalties called on Washington by referee Steve Dowling during a 1:28 span of the second period, just after a goal by Dennis O'Brien had given Minnesota a 2-1 lead. The North Stars followed with power-play goals by Dwight Bialowas and Doug Hicks and the Caps no longer had a chance to win their seventh game in 72 starts.

Elsewhere, the Buffalo Sabres trounced the New York Rangers 6-3, the Chicago Black Hawks whipped the Detroit Red Wings and the Los Angeles Kings edged the St. Louis Blues 3-2.

The North Stars, slipping back in recent seasons, are having a tough year with a 21-44-6 record. But that's nothing compared to the Caps' 6-61-5 log.

Washington's 61 defeats, which tops the 60 set two years ago by the New York Islanders, is only one of six negative records owned by the Caps. They also have lost the most consecutive games on the road, 35; the most at home, 26; given up the most goals, 395; allowed the most power-play goals, 86, and the most shorthanded goals, 15.

Next on the horizon is the record longest losing streak of 15, set way back in 1930-31 by the Philadelphia Quakers. The Caps can tie that at Boston Saturday night.

The explosive Sabres got goals from Gilbert Perreault, Danny Gare and Pete McNab in a span of less than three minutes early in the game. The outcome boosted Buffalo's commanding lead to 14 points over runner-up Boston in Division 4 and prevented the Rangers from extending their three-point edge over the third-place New York Islanders in Division 1.

Detroit welcomed back high-scoring Mickey Redmond but his brother Dick helped spoil the event by setting up two Chicago goals. The triumph moved Chicago within a point of Vancouver, the leader in Division 2, and pushed them two points in front of St. Louis.

Mickey Redmond, a 50-goal scorer last season, was sidelined for 51 games because of an operation to correct a ruptured disc in his back. Playing for the first time since Dec. 8, he scored his 11th goal of the season in the second period but it came after Chicago had a 3-0 lead.

Los Angeles' Mike Murphy and Danny Maloney scored third-period goals after outstanding goaltending by the Blues' Eddie Johnston stymied the Kings for the first two periods. The 39 - year - old veteran turned back five breakaways while his team took a 2-0 lead on goals by Larry Sacharuk and Floyd Thomson.

Koch Still Tops

Bob Koch ran his record to 6-0 with a 6-2, 7-5 victory over Bill Bartz in the Alpine Racquet Club tennis league this week.

Chi-Chi Miller also remained unbeaten by downing Fred Jung 6-2, 2-6, 6-4 for his fourth victory while Sam Henderson outlasted Tom Butler 2-6, 6-3, 6-3 and Jim Gersonde beat Bruce Conybeare 6-3, 6-2.

Battle Creek Native Eyes Job With Sox

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Bill Stein's big chance hasn't come, but he's making the most of his little chance.

Stein, a Battle Creek, Mich., native, has been an impressive baseball player about wherever he's been. But to make it in the major leagues he's never really been in the right place at the right time.

This year Stein should make the grade with the Chicago White Sox as a third baseman, but still not as a regular because Bill Melton has the job sewn up.

"If I make the ball club I'll be satisfied, because I figure I'll play more than I did with St. Louis," he said, while with the White Sox for a spring training game at Lakeland against Detroit.

Stein, who moved to Cocoa, Fla., when he was 10, following the death of his father, was an All-State baseball player in Florida and then became a first-team All-America at Southern Illinois University.

The St. Louis Cardinals signed him in 1969 and he played briefly with them in 1972, batting .314 in 35 at-bats. The next year he went to the plate 55 times but batted only .218.

St. Louis traded him to the California Angels, who loaned him to the White Sox for their Iowa farm. Chicago quickly traded pitcher Steve Blateric to the Angels for him after Stein's impressive showing.

He was the top hitter for Iowa with a .328 average, third best in the American Association. He led the league with 107 runs, 178 hits and 274 total bases and was on the All-Star team.

Stein, 28, joined Chicago late in the season and in 13 games batted .328.

"I never had a bad year," the affable, righthanded hitter said. "But the situation at St. Louis was that they were loaded."

Stein signed as a shortstop but played outfield for St. Louis. With the White Sox he expects to play some third and some second.

He is one of seven players with Michigan backgrounds in the Chicago spring training camp at Sarasota. Veteran pitcher Jim Kaat is from Zeeland, Pitchers Larry Monroe and Chuck Sprinkle, plus outfielder Nyls Nyman, are from Detroit. All live in other states now.

Still Michigan residents are catcher Jeff Sovern of Battle Creek and infielder Mike Squires of Kalamazoo. All but Kaat, Nyman and Stein are nonroster hopefuls invited to camp.

Palmer One Stroke Back

Thompson And McLendon Jacksonville Leaders

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer is a contender again.

"It's getting better," Palmer said after his four-under-par 68 Thursday put him only one stroke back of co-leaders Barney Thompson and Mac McLendon in the first round of the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

"It's encouraging," Palmer continued. "That's the best I've hit my irons in a long time."

And the 45-year-old Palmer, who has let two victory opportunities slip away from him this season, is determined to hang on here.

"I took off last week and spent the whole week practicing," said Palmer, who hasn't won in more than two full seasons. "Actually, I'm playing reasonably well.

"Poor play isn't the problem. It's just that I mess it up with one not-good round. You can't do that and win. To win you have to play three very good rounds and one fairly good one.

"I've been playing one round that wasn't good enough."

Palmer didn't have a bogey in his effort over the 7,143-yard Deerwood Country Club course and was tied with five others behind McLendon and Thompson, who matched 67s.

In addition to Palmer, the group at 68 included Ben Crenshaw, Jim Dent, Grier Jones, Bob Dickson and Lee Elder, prepping for his role as the first black to play in the Masters.

"My game's back," said Elder, who has had problems since winning the Monsanto Open last year. "I'm ready. You'll hear from me this week. If my putter will come back just a little more, I can take it right on in there and win."

Hubert Green, the defending champion, shot a 71 in the mild, sunny weather.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin carded a 73.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller are not competing in this event that offers $30,000 to the winner.

Panel Suggests Limited Fishery

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Great Lakes fishing should be managed on sound biological principles "employing seasons, bag limits and quotas" to benefit both sport and commercial fishermen, a Lake Michigan Fisheries task force has concluded.

It said the management should also include "limits on the kind of gear and on the number of fishermen along with allocation of allowable harvests among users."

The decision by the 14-member task force, appointed by Wisconsin's Department of Natural Resources, was a victory for commercial fisherman. In the past, DNR decisions on conflicts between sports and commercial fishermen were decided in favor of the sportsmen.

Jack Hemphill of Minneapolis, regional director of the federal Fish and Wildlife Service and task force chairman, told the Natural Resources Board Wednesday that the final policy was adopted unanimously.

The group included sport and commercial fishermen, biologists and consumer representatives.

It said the concept of a limited fishery was valid and that catches must be controlled based on changing lake conditions.

In approving the need for controls, the task force noted that lake trout, whitefish, lake herring, perch and chubs could be overfished in Lake Michigan, while smelt, alewife, suckers and burbot apparently can not.

It recommended that the commercial quota for lake trout be limited to those caught incidentally while seeking other fish, and that chubs be taken only under assessment quotas and marketed through licensed dealers.

The task force also agreed to support reciprocity legislation that would limit the number of commercial fishing licenses for non-Wisconsin residents to the number that state allows to Wisconsinites.

Cutback Of Crops Is Eyed

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Some 4,000 farmers from six corn Belt states — fresh from a grassroots meeting Thursday — are deciding whether they will reduce their corn and soybean planting this spring by 10 per cent to try to bolster a sagging market.

Leaders of the movement expressed concern that American consumers do not understand that farmers might be paid less at market than it costs to produce corn and soybeans. The result might mean financial ruin for many farmers, they said.

"This gathering tells me that you're beginning to get smart," said keynote speaker Jon Wefald, the Minnesota Agriculture Commissioner. "Farmers of America can't feed the world for nothing."

"The only way you'll know those grain prices will hold up until next fall is if you cut back."

Farmers were asked to sign pledges to voluntarily reduce their planting and to ask their neighbors to do the same.

Backers of the meeting, reportedly the largest since the movement began in January, said a tabulation of the pledges might take several days.

"We're terribly concerned about a surplus of corn and beans this fall, and if we produce this surplus, we'll have disastrous prices," said Gail Hemmingsen, an Akron farmer.

He said the Ford administration has urged all-out production by farmers and that the Department of Agriculture is "asking a 6.5-billion-bushel corn crop."

"We had 4.7 billion bushels in 1974, and now we have corn reduced in price by more than $1 a bushel since last fall. We're scared to death of what that price would drop to if we had full production," he said.

Radials An Option

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet Division of General Motors said Thursday it will make steel-belted radial tires a "delete option" on its standard-size Bel Aire, reducing the sticker price by $131. The action, a response to a similar pricing move by Ford Motor Co., means customers must specifically order a car with regular tires to save $131. Unless the item is expressly deleted, the car will come with the radial tires. The price of the Bel Aire four-door sedan with regular tires is now $4,214.

House Committee Okays Dog Racing

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Billed as medicine for Michigan's economic ills, a measure to legalize greyhound dog racing has been approved by the state House Agriculture Committee.

Greyhound racing could pump between $3 million and $4 million a year into the state treasury and from $7 million to $8 million into local treasuries, said Rep. Donald Albosta, D-St. Charles, committee chairman.

"I feel we can reduce property taxes in 1977 and support the loss of revenue through this type of voluntary tax, up to speak," Albosta said.

His committee voted, 5-3, Thursday in sending the bill to the House Appropriations Committee, which will make a further study of the fiscal ramifications of legalizing the tracks.

A similar bill is in the House Taxation Committee, but it would combine both dog racing and off-track betting.

Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Nagaunee, appropriations committee chairman, has been a long-time supporter of dog racing. He has been especially vocal about getting such tracks as money-makers in the Upper Peninsula.

The measure would create a Greyhound Racing Commission and authorize 10 dog tracks around the state. No dog track could be within 50 miles of another dog track.

But there would be no distance restrictions concerning dog and horse tracks. That means dog tracks could compete directly with horse tracks in the Detroit area.

STRIKE CONTINUES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Subways, trollies and buses remained idle today while the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transit Authority (SEPTA) sought funds to pay for a tentative pact ending the city's week-long transit strike.

Strike Threatens New Baby Cadillac

DETROIT (AP) — A mini-strike by some 4,000 workers at General Motors Fisher Body Fleetwood plant here enters its third day today, threatening to delay production of Cadillac's new small Seville.

Officials of United Auto Workers Local 15 said little progress was made Wednesday in negotiations over worker grievances involving line speedups.

Joe Gaston, president of Local 15, said the workers would return to their jobs Monday with or without a settlement, but he said the union might strike again next week if the local's demands aren't met.

Under a mini-strike, described by one union official as "a guerilla-type strategy," a local may strike for a brief period, return to work and then strike again for a short period.

Using that ploy repeatedly, workers can keep pressure on management while bringing home pay for the days they work.

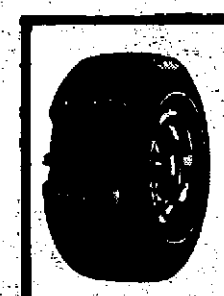

The strike, which began Monday morning, has forced GM to shut the nearby Cadillac assembly plant and lay off 5,500 workers. The Fleetwood plant supplies bodies, which are assembled at the companion facility.

Passes for Benton Harbor residents for free use of the city's boat landing are now available at the police station. The season passes are obtained by presenting a boat registration and personal identification. Det. Fred Byers said launching fees or passes will be required starting April 1 when an attendant will be on duty at the landing, located off Riverview drive. Passes may then also be obtained at the landing, Byers said the city is considering the possibility of issuing season tickets to non-residents. The fee for a non-resident ticket has not been determined.

Consumer Prices Up

DETROIT (AP) — Despite slackening demand for many items because of widening joblessness, consumer prices rose seven-tenths of a per cent from January to February in the Detroit metropolitan area.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Thursday that the Consumer Price Index for Detroit rose to 156.7. That means goods costing $10 in 1967 cost $15.67 in February 1975. The bureau said cereals, bakery products, fresh vegetables, property taxes, gas and electricity, medical care and beer caused most of the increase. Declines were noted for meats, poultry, sugar and some clothing items.

Justice Kavanagh Hospitalized

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh of the Michigan Supreme Court was reported in fair condition at St. Lawrence Hospital Thursday recovering from surgery. A court spokesman said Kavanagh, 65, underwent surgery for "an intestinal disorder" Tuesday. He was expected to remain in the hospital for 10 days, the spokesman said.

GM Production Up

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors announced Thursday it will step up production in the second quarter at three plants, while Chrysler Corp. said next week's layoff schedule will keep one shift of assembly workers idle. GM reported it would work all its assembly plants for the next two weeks, except a medium-duty diesel truck plant in Pontiac, Mich., where 2,200 will be laid off for a week beginning March 31.

Rail Data 'Incorrect'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A federal report saying 1,400 miles of Michigan railroads are unprofitable is misleading and based on incorrect data, businessmen testified this week. The U.S. Railway Association report fails to show that nearly 3,200 carloads of grains and beans originated and terminated in the small town of Ottawa Lake near the Ohio border, said G. A. Seely, traffic manager of the Michigan Elevator Exchange. Track near Clinton in Lenawee County is profitable, but is not included in ConRail because it is connected to a line which showed a loss in 1973, said Joseph Stoerrle, corporate traffic manager for the Budd Co.

Fire Set On Purpose

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — A fire that destroyed the boys gym Highland Park high school and did an estimated $600,000 damage to the high school and college complex was set on purpose, fire officials say. Highland Park fire authorities said there are no suspects in the case. School officials said the fire began when someone ignited a number of wrestling mats and basketball nets in the gym. Classes for both the high school and the community college have been cancelled for this week because of smoke and water damage in classrooms. School Supt. Charles Mitchell Jr. said it is possible that the arson was "not malicious, but something of a prank."

No Instant Approval

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State Insurance Bureau will not just hand Blue Cross and Blue Shield a 33 per cent rate increase, one official says.

"The Blues have asked for a rate increase of fantastic proportions," Dr. Kenneth Tannenbaum, bureau deputy director, said Thursday. He accused the blues of attemptiong to "mask the basic issues."

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A nationally known environmentalist, Dr. William Cooper, has been named chairman of the Michigan Environmental Review Board. He administers a National Science Foundation research grant for MSU on the "Design and Management of Rural Eco-Systems" and has taught at the University of Massachusetts.

Fire Blamed On Wiring

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — Faulty electric wiring in a converted sugar shanty was the apparent cause of a fire which claimed the lives of six children last week, the state fire marshal's department said. The children's mother, Mrs. Della Fletcher, 37, her daughter, Colleen, and a friend, Joe Hackworth, 23, escaped the blaze which raged through the converted house in a maple grove five miles southwest of Hillsdale last Thursday. Detective Sgt. Albert Ruff of the fire marshal's department at Jackson said the family had moved into the Cambria Township house, which was heated by an oil furnace, on Jan. 3. Ruff said he is continuing his investigation to pinpoint the cause of the apparent electrical problem.

Auto Repair Hearings

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Proposed rules to control deceptive auto repair practices will be discussed at three public hearings around Michigan next month. The hearings will focus on defining deceptive practices and major and minor repair services, Secretary of State Richard Austin said Wednesday. They also will go into proposals to require that customers get back parts which are replaced on a repair job, Austin said.

The hearings are scheduled for the Detroit City-County Building at 9 a.m. April 1; Lansing's Law Building at 8:30 a.m. April 2; and the Grand Rapids City-County Building at 1:30 p.m. April 3.

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet Division of General Motors said Thursday it will make steel-belted radial tires a "delete option" on its standard-size Bel Aire, reducing the sticker price by $131. The action, a response to a similar pricing move by Ford Motor Co., means customers must specifically order a car with regular tires to save $131. Unless the item is expressedly deleted, the car will come with the radial tires. The price of the Bel Aire four-door sedan with regular tires is now $4,214.

Consumer Prices Up

DETROIT (AP) — Despite slackening demand for many items because of widening joblessness, consumer prices rose seven-tenths of a per cent from January to February in the Detroit metropolitan area.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Thursday that the Consumer Price Index for Detroit rose to 156.7. That means goods costing $10 in 1967 cost $15.67 in February 1975. The bureau said cereals, bakery products, fresh vegetables, property taxes, gas and electricity, medical care and beer caused most of the increase. Declines were noted for meats, poultry, sugar and some clothing items.

Justice Kavanagh Hospitalized

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh of the Michigan Supreme Court was reported in fair condition at St. Lawrence Hospital Thursday recovering from surgery. A court spokesman said Kavanagh, 65, underwent surgery for "an intestinal disorder" Tuesday. He was expected to remain in the hospital for 10 days, the spokesman said.

GM Production Up

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors announced Thursday it will step up production in the second quarter at three plants, while Chrysler Corp. said next week's layoff schedule will keep one shift of assembly workers idle. GM reported it would work all its assembly plants for the next two weeks, except a medium-duty diesel truck plant in Pontiac, Mich., where 2,200 will be laid off for a week beginning March 31.

Rail Data 'Incorrect'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A federal report saying 1,400 miles of Michigan railroads are unprofitable is misleading and based on incorrect data, businessmen testified this week. The U.S. Railway Association report fails to show that nearly 3,200 carloads of grains and beans originated and terminated in the small town of Ottawa Lake near the Ohio border, said G. A. Seely, traffic manager of the Michigan Elevator Exchange. Track near Clinton in Lenawee County is profitable, but is not included in ConRail because it is connected to a line which showed a loss in 1973, said Joseph Stoerrle, corporate traffic manager for the Budd Co.

Fire Set On Purpose

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — A fire that destroyed the boys gym Highland Park high school and did an estimated $600,000 damage to the high school and college complex was set on purpose, fire officials say. Highland Park fire authorities said there are no suspects in the case. School officials said the fire began when someone ignited a number of wrestling mats and basketball nets in the gym. Classes for both the high school and the community college have been cancelled for this week because of smoke and water damage in classrooms. School Supt. Charles Mitchell Jr. said it is possible that the arson was "not malicious, but something of a prank."

No Instant Approval

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State Insurance Bureau will not just hand Blue Cross and Blue Shield a 33 per cent rate increase, one official says.

"The Blues have asked for a rate increase of fantastic proportions," Dr. Kenneth Tannenbaum, bureau deputy director, said Thursday. He accused the blues of attemptiong to "mask the basic issues."

Chairing Environmental Panel

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A nationally known environmentalist, Dr. William Cooper, has been named chairman of the Michigan Environmental Review Board. Cooper, 37, of Haslett, has been associate professor of zoology at Michigan State University since 1966. He administers a National Science Foundation research grant for MSU on the "Design and Management of Rural Eco-Systems" and has taught at the University of Massachusetts.

Fire Blamed On Wiring

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — Faulty electric wiring in a converted sugar shanty was the apparent cause of a fire which claimed the lives of six children last week, the state fire marshal's department said. The children's mother, Mrs. Della Fletcher, 37, her daughter, Colleen, and a friend, Joe Hackworth, 23, escaped the blaze which raged through the converted house in a maple grove five miles southwest of Hillsdale last Thursday. Detective Sgt. Albert Ruff of the fire marshal's department at Jackson said the family had moved into the Cambria Township house, which was heated by an oil furnace, on Jan. 3. Ruff said he is continuing his investigation to pinpoint the cause of the apparent electrical problem.

Auto Repair Hearings

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Proposed rules to control deceptive auto repair practices will be discussed at three public hearings around Michigan next month. The hearings will focus on defining deceptive practices and major and minor repair services, Secretary of State Richard Austin said Wednesday. They also will go into proposals to require that customers get back parts which are replaced on a repair job, Austin said.

The hearings are scheduled for the Detroit City-County Building at 9 a.m. April 1; Lansing's Law Building at 8:30 a.m. April 2; and the Grand Rapids City-County Building at 1:30 p.m. April 3.

Van Buren GOP Dinner

PAW PAW — Tickets, at a cost of $10 per person for the Van Buren county Lincoln Day dinner, may be obtained from Mrs. Elmyra Hearns of Paw Paw. The banquet will be held April 5 at the Lion's Den, South Haven, with a happy hour scheduled for 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30 p.m. The event is being held under the direction of co-chairmen Susan Lackey of Paw Paw and Dave Hampton of Hartford. Mrs. Sandra Hanson of Decatur is in charge of decorations, Keith Nelson of Breedsville is publicity chairman, and Mrs. Bunny Hover of Lawrence hostess chairman.

Michigan To Sell 127,000 Cases

USDA Making Large Sauce Buy

The United States Department of Agriculture announced this week that it will purchase some 708,000 cases of apple sauce for the school lunch program.

Michigan processors will get 127,000 cases of the order, according to Tom Butler, manager of the Michigan Processing Apple Growers.

Helping to fill this "extremely large purchase," Butler said, will be Burnette Farms, Keeler, Musselman Fruit, Paw Paw, Stokley, Hart, and National Fruit, Bailey.

Butler said the average Michigan price for each case of six number 10 cans is $7.42, slightly below current market price.

This first sauce buy for the school lunch program in the last two years will help lower processor inventories and might require that processors buy stored apples to fill the order, he said.

"The number of apples in storage are now more manageable than one month or six weeks ago," Butler commented.

Several groups worked to make the deal possible, according to Butler. They are: Women for the Survival of Agriculture in Michigan, the Processed Apple Growers, Michigan Farm Bureau and the Michigan Apple Committee.

Feeder Pig Price Goes Sky High

CASSOPOLIS — Feeder pigs are selling for as much as $20 a head more than they did this time last year, says William Ellis, manager of the Michigan Livestock Exchange here.

According to Ellis two factors are leading farmers to bid up the price for young pigs to current levels of $38 to $45 a head.

First, the number of feeder pigs currently on the market is down from 10 to 12 per cent compared to last year. And the price of corn is far below last year's levels, meaning that farmers can better afford to feed the pigs.

Feeder pigs, Ellis explained, weigh from 40 to 70 pounds. They are bought at the age of two or three months, fed corn and concentrated feed for about three months, then sold at a weight of 200 to 230 pounds.

Ellis says that it costs about 32 cents a pound to fatten a feeder pig to market weight so farmers must be thinking that butcher weight hogs will sell for $45 per 100 pounds in June.

Currently, he added, butcher hogs are bringing from $38.50 to $38.75 per hundredweight.

Last year, when hog numbers were higher than the year before, feeder pigs were selling for $25 to $30 a head, he said.

Ellis says that the current number of cattle is up about as much as hog numbers are down: 10 to 12 per cent. Cattle prices are currently "way down." Lambs are now bringing a good price and numbers are down over last year.

National Farmers Union Urges Production Cuts To Reduce Farmer Risk

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Delegates to the National Farmers Union convention, by an overwhelming vote, have urged all 250,000 NFU members to cut back farm production immediately.

Ben Radcliff, president of the South Dakota Farmers Union, read the special order on the convention floor Wednesday:

"Farmers desire to produce to full capacity, and the Farmers Union has consistently supported food production adequate to meet the demands of domestic consumers and those around the world.

"However, in the face of rapidly escalating production costs and the resulting threat to their entire farming operation, unless Congress and the administration will assure farmers a realistic return on their production, we recommend that farmers reduce their risk and reduce production in an amount necessary to protect their operation."

An original resolution called for a 10 per cent cutback, but the final measure deleted the specific percentage figure.

In a speech Wednesday night, a Catholic priest cautioned against reducing farm production and urged farmers to continue their efforts to pass legislation guaranteeing a fair price.

"It is unthinkable that we take land out of production when there are millions starving around the world, and it is unthinkable that we in turn would not guarantee a just income to farmers," said the Rev. John McRaith, executive director of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference.

"The theory that government should stay out of agriculture is to say that government doesn't have a responsibility for the common good," he said.

"What applies to food policy must be applied to all necessities for human life," he said. "The greatest challenge of this decade is a more just distribution of all natural resources."

Florida Tomato Can Be Picked Red-Ripe

Florida tomato growers are taking advantage of a fairly new variety which can be harvested red-ripe, then shipped to northern markets during the winter months.

This very firm variety is called MH-1 and consumer tests published in the magazine HortScience indicate that shoppers prefer buying these red-ripe tomatoes over pinks.

MH-1 was grown experimentally here a few years ago, according to Jim Neibauer, Berrien Extension vegetable agent. Although the tomatoes were extremely firm Neibauer says researchers noted that the fruit were too small and that plants were prone to develope early blight, Michigan's most common tomato disease.

Neibauer noted that Florida's tomato researchers are looking for a tomato that can be harvested with mechanical aids or mechanical harvesters. For that reason, the firm variety is more popular there.

The magazine report states that growers have to be more careful when harvesting red-ripe fruit, even a very firm variety such as MH-1. The riper a tomato when harvested, the less chance of the ripening process being interrupted or incomplete due to mishandling.

Future Spray Might Increase Growth

The farmer of the future may one day spray chemicals that would simultaneously increase growth of specific crops while killing competing weeds, according to Dr. Robert Bandurski of Michigan State university.

Bandurski, a botanist-biochemist, is studying the chemical nature and structure of auxins, which are plant growth hormones.

"Auxins have been known for more than half a century," he said, "and synthetic auxins have been used as herbicides."

Somehow, synthetic auxins appear to increase plant growth to such a rapid rate that the plant outgrows the resources of its environment and dies.

"But most of the auxin molecules normally found in plants are in a bound form," he explains. "They are attached to some other molecule, an X factor."

Until recently, the "X factor' was unknown because harsh chemical purification techniques split off the X factor.

Using new purification and analysis techniques, scientists in Dr. Bandurski's laboratory have uncovered the missing X factor.

"What we found was not a single X factor, but almost 20 of them. We have also synthesized some of them," he reports.

All of his hormone research was done with corn seeds. But he says that other kinds of plants produce other kinds of X factors attached to auxins.

This means that some auxin-X factor compounds may have different effects on different plants.

"What may promote growth in one plant could kill another," he says.

Bandurski's research is in the theory stage at present, but the potential importance for farming and the world's food supplies is interesting.

Michigan Farm Labor Supply Should Be No Problem In '75

There should be no agricultural labor shortage this season in Michigan, manpower specialists say.

Last year some 23,000 migrant workers, those over 12-years-old, came to Michigan, according to M.J. Buschlen, operations manager of Michigan Agricultural Services Association, an affiliate of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"The general concensus is that about that number will be here again this year," he said.

Mrs. Amelia Scherer, of the Keeler Rural Manpower Center, says that it is anticipated that more local people will be seeking field work this year due to economic conditions.

Mrs. Mattye Rashleigh, manager of the Keeler manpower office and of the St. Joseph office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, says it is "hard to say" how many local people will turn to agricultural work.

Persons drawing unemployment may work long enough each week to earn less than 50 per cent of the amount of their unemployment check without losing any payments, she explained.

Guillermo Lopez, manpower specialist from United Migrants for Opportunity, Inc., (UMOI), notes that migrant families are already arriving in Southwestern Michigan. High unemployment in Texas, the home state of many migrants, will increase the number who come to Michigan, he estimated.

RESENTMENT

Buschlen says he attended a meeting last month in San Antonio, Texas, along with migrants, crew leaders and Texas employment office personnel. He noted "some little bit of resentment" still brewing from last year's announcement that children under the age of 11 couldn't work in fields.

Some crew leaders at the meeting, he said, vowed to get out of that business after he explained the new amendments to the Crew Leader Registration Act. That act, Buschlen explained, makes both crew leader and farmer responsible for things told to migrants during recruitment.

Both crew leaders and farmers could be sued in Federal District court for failing to provide the kind of job promised the migrant, he added.

New Jersey Court Makes Important Housing Ruling

A significant legal victory for farmers has been achieved in a farm labor housing dispute in New Jersey, the Farm Bureau News reports.

Recently the New Jersey Farm Bureau received word that a lower court decision rendered in favor of the defendant, a farmer, stands. The plaintiff's appeal was dismissed.

In what is known as the "Calderone Case," the Camden (N.J.) Regional Legal Service, Inc., took a farmer to court, charging that he violated the state's landlord-tenant law.

The farmer had asked workers to leave seasonal farm labor housing on his farm. The workers, according to the farmer, had refused to work and were no longer employed on the farm.

Legal service attorneys advised the workers that the housing in question, furnished without rent to the workers, came under the state landlord-tenant law and the workers could not be forced to vacate the premises without first having a notice. The farmer, they claimed, had to abide by all the legal procedures provided for in the law.

The New Jersey Farm Bureau created a Legal Defense Fund and entered the case as a friend of the court. It felt that the issues involved in the case would affect hundreds of farmers in New Jersey and thousands of farmers in other states.

Farm Bureau felt a precedent might be established in the case but the court ruled in favor of the farmer's right to evict non-working tenants and stated that the New Jersey housing law did not apply.

Tariff On Cheese Is Applauded

Michigan Farm Bureau President Elton R. Smith applauded Treasury Secretary Simon's recommendation to impose tariffs on subsidized imports of foreign cheese from the European Common Market countries.

Smith, meeting with a group of Michigan farmers in Washington, D.C., said: "We as dairymen can compete with dairymen of other countries, but not with foreign governments."

"Subsidizing the sale of cheese to this country," he said, "creates unfair competition for U.S. dairymen and I am hopeful President Ford will initiate countervailing duties immediately."

Countervailing duties are used by importing countries to prevent foreign goods from underselling their own products.

Simon's recommendation has gone to President Ford and officials say his decision is expected this week.

Ore-Ida Complaint Filed

The Michigan Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining board has filed a formal complaint against Ore-Ida Foods, according to Tom Moore, board administrator.

Following investigation of a complaint filed by the Michigan Potato Growers the board filed a complaint against the frozen potato processor. According to Moore, complaint alleges that Ore-Ida did not bargain this year in good faith.

According to the complaint, Ore-Ida refused to formally bargain with the growers. Ike Lynch, manager of the Greenville plant, has said this procedure was followed because Ore-Ida wanted to be sure it would not have to bargain with the binding arbitration stipulation which the act contains.

Moore said a hearing on the complaint will be held April 30 at 9 a.m. in the Lewis Cass Building, Lansing.

All stops on the Southwestern Michigan Beef tour will be in Kalamazoo county, according to Fred Hinkley, Van Buren extension agent.

The tour will begin March 25 at 9:30 a.m. at the Robert Schuring farm, north of Vicksburg, then move to the farms of Mathew Scholten, Hayward farms, then to the Kalamazoo County Center building for lunch.

Afternoon visits include the farms of John Schuring, Milford Weinberg and Stanley Weinberg.

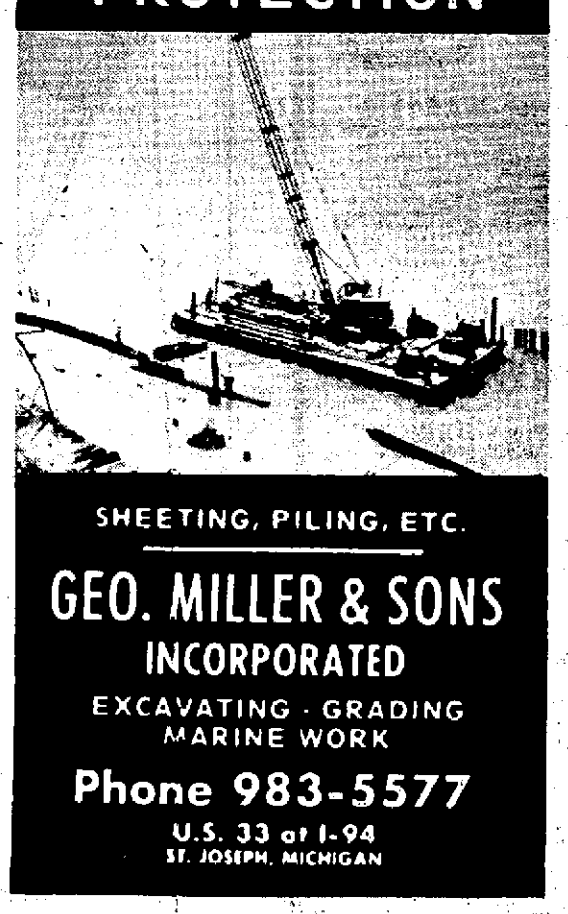

Contract Signed For Kraut Cabbage Growers

The Kraut Cabbage Growers, a division of the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing association, signed a contract with Vlasic Foods, Bridgeport, under terms of the state's marketing and bargaining act. Contract calls for 13,000 tons of cabbage at an average price of $32 a ton, compared to last year's $24 a ton price.

Berrien Grant Programs Getting Axe

HOSTING CONVENTION: Partridge & Associates, headquartered at Pontiac, is sponsoring three-day convention at St. Joseph Holiday Inn for some 125 real estate people from affiliated firms throughout the state. From left are Ward Partridge, association president; Mrs. Partridge and Robert Findling of Findling & Associates, St. Joseph, a member of Partridge & Associates. Association operates similar to a multiple listing system with members throughout the state specializing in business and commercial listings. Some 53 firms are represented at the educational and marketing sessions that are scheduled to wind up today.

December, but it got a bill for membership dues of $2,622 for the first half of 1975. Finance Committee Chairman Lad Stacey said MACOG efforts in regional planning are duplicative and unncessary, and that MACOG now is frustrating and hindering efforts of the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission. He said the bill would not be acknowledged.

The county board adopted a 303-page Overall Economic Development Plan that County Planning Director Charles Eckenstahler said is a key document to making Berrien county eligible for Federal Economic Development Administration grants to both governmental units and private firms. The grants will be for projects that will increase employment opportunities in the county.

Other actions of the commissioners yesterday in brief form:

-Urged the state legislature to adopt and the governor to sign legislation that would ameliorate the medical malpractice insurance problem in the state.

-Adopted a set of rules and procedures to be followed by persons who propose to make "earth changes" on one or more acres of land in the county. The county drain commissioner will be the enforcing agent. The rules provide for implementation of the State Soil Erosion and Sedimentation act.

—Accepted a state Social Services department grant of $64,572 for continuation of the welfare fraud and child support team program in the county for another year.

—Gave county health department approval to ask for $37,000 grant from state Comprehensive Health Planning Agency for an Alcoholism Educational program from July 1 this year through June 30, 1976.

—Heard Commissioner R.J. Burkholz report that lakefront property owners along Lake Michigan shoreline would prefer local zoning control of 1,000-foot Shorelands zone called for in new state Shorelands zoning act. Preference was over control of high risk erosion areas by Department of Natural Resources.

—Approved appointment of Commissioner Burkholz to new Paw Paw Lake Improvement board, and of Robert Wolff and Samuel VanderWeg, both of Niles, to county's Comprehensive Employment Training Administration board.

Whirlpool Names New Manager

DANIEL B. SPEAR
Promoted

Daniel B. Spear has been promoted to national manager retail education, at Whirlpool corporation's educational center in Benton Harbor, according to Thomas Bartley, general manager of market training services.

Richard Cox, former manager, retired in December and is now a special consultant to Whirlpool and other manufacturers.

Spear first came in contact with Whirlpool's dealer education program in 1966 when he attended a management session at the educational center.

An appliance retailer from Colorado, Spear sold his business in 1972 after 25 years and was employed by Whirlpool in 1973 as a sales training representative.

According to Whirlpool, Spear's responsibility in the dealer education department will include instructing independent dealers in all phases of dealer management and supervising multi-store retail education.

He, his wife, Helen, and two sons live in St. Joseph.

TOMORROW

Can, Bottle Pickup Starting In St. Joe

Regular Saturday collections of cans and bottles for recycling will start tomorrow in St. Joseph by girls of Cadet Scout Troop 317.

People are asked to bring bottles and cans to the St. Joseph public works department, 1160 Broad street, where the scrap will be placed in containers.

Mrs. Paul Taglia, troop leader, said bottles should be rinsed and all metal parts removed. It is not necessary to remove labels. Tin cans should be rinsed, labels and ends removed and flattened if possible.

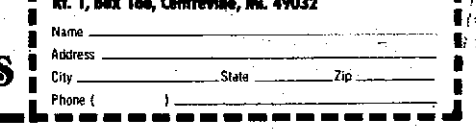

Mrs. Taglia said any glass or cans are acceptable.

Collection hours are 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The scrap will be taken to Owens Illinois Co. at Charlotte for recycling.

Troop 317 is sponsored by Zion EUB church with membership from Upton, Milton and Trinity Lutheran schools. Mrs. Wilber Wolske is co-leader.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Continue Retreat

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated again today in the face of persistent profit taking.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down about a point, and losers took a 5-3 lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

There were some favorable elements in the economic news background. Federal Reserve statistics on money and credit conditions, for example, showed a strong pickup in the nation's money supply in the week ended March 12.

But analysts said it appeared investors were concerned over immediate prospects for the market itself. They noted that many appeared to be taking stocks' behavior this week as a sign that the rally of early December through early March had at least temporarily run its course.

Today's prices included First Mississippi, up ⅛ at 17¼; Union Carbide, down ⅛ at 53½; Gillette, down ¼ at 32, and Bristol-Myers, ¼ lower at 57¼.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 5.48 to 764 even, bringing its loss for the past three sessions to 22.53 points.

Declines outpaced advances by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE in turnover of 20.96 million shares.

The Big Board's composite index dropped to 44.36.

The American Stock Exchange market value index was down .25 to 80.56.

Hospital Union Vote Coming Up In Niles

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

NILES — Over 300 employes at Pawating hospital here will vote Thursday on whether to join local 36 of the Retail Store employes union.

The employes include practical nurses, nurses' aides, clerical workers, custodians and food service workers.

A spokesman for the union said yesterday that the National Labor Relations board (NLRB) set the Thursday election date after an earlier vote scheduled for Jan. 17 was postponed.

Ray Sones, business representative for the AFL-CIO said the Jan. 17 election was postponed when the hospital appealed an NLRB Region 7 decision that would allow high school co-op students to vote.

Sones said yesterday that the co-op students will be allowed to vote under a decision made by the NLRB's main office in Washington, but the votes will be classified as "challenged" ballots and will not be counted in the total.

He said a hearing seeking a decision on whether to count the co-op student votes has been requested, but no date has been set.

In a related matter, Sones said April 16 is the date set for a NLRB hearing on charges of unfair labor practices brought by the union against the hospital.

The union had filed two seperate charges, one on Jan. 27 and a second on Jan. 31, that the hospital has fought unionization attempts by the local since November.

For purposes of the hearing, both charges have been combined, Sones said. He said no location has been set for the hearing.

The two union complaints include allegations that the hospital has questioned employes about union participation, threatened employes with discharge, and has withheld scheduled pay increases because of employe union activities.

Democrats Face New Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disagreement and confusion over the rules governing selection of 1976 convention delegates threaten to touch-off a wide-open battle at the next meeting of the Democratic National Committee.

Blacks and other reformers plan challenges to many of the procedures adopted in January by the Compliance Review Commission, a party panel set up to supervise 1976 rules. Especially troublesome is the decision to limit the application of reforms aimed at greater participation by minorities, women and youth.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Continue Retreat

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated again today in the face of persistent profit taking.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down about a point, and losers took a 5-3 lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

There were some favorable elements in the economic news background. Federal Reserve statistics on money and credit conditions, for example, showed a strong pickup in the nation's money supply in the week ended March 12.

But analysts said it appeared investors were concerned over immediate prospects for the market itself. They noted that many appeared to be taking stocks' behavior this week as a sign that the rally of early December through early March had at least temporarily run its course.

Today's prices included First Mississippi, up 1/8 at 17 1/4; Union Carbide, down 1/8 at 53 1/2; Gillette, down 1/4 at 32, and Bristol-Myers, 1/4 lower at 57 1/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 5.48 to 764 even, bringing its loss for the past three sessions to 22.53 points.

Declines outpaced advances by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE in turnover of 20.96 million shares.

The Big Board's composite index dropped to 44.36.

The American Stock Exchange market value index was down .25 to 80.56.

Hospital Union Vote Coming Up In Niles

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

NILES — Over 300 employes at Pawating hospital here will vote Thursday on whether to join local 36 of the Retail Store employes union.

The employes include practical nurses, nurses' aides, clerical workers, custodians and food service workers.

A spokesman for the union said yesterday that the National Labor Relations board (NLRB) set the Thursday election date after an earlier vote scheduled for Jan. 17 was postponed.

Ray Sones, business representative for the AFL-CIO said the Jan. 17 election was postponed when the hospital appealed an NLRB Region 7 decision that would allow high school co-op students to vote.

Sones said yesterday that the co-op students will be allowed to vote under a decision made by the NLRB's main office in Washington, but the votes will be classified as "challenged" ballots and will not be counted in the total.

He said a hearing seeking a decision on whether to count the co-op student votes has been requested, but no date has been set.

In a related matter, Sones said April 16 is the date set for a NLRB hearing on charges of unfair labor practices brought by the union against the hospital.

The union had filed two seperate charges, one on Jan. 27 and a second on Jan. 31, that the hospital has fought unionization attempts by the local since November.

For purposes of the hearing, both charges have been combined, Sones said. He said no location has been set for the hearing.

The two union complaints include allegations that the hospital has questioned employes about union participation, threatened employes with discharge, and has withheld scheduled pay increases because of employe union activities.

Democrats Face New Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disagreement and confusion over the rules governing selection of 1976 convention delegates threaten to touch-off a wide-open battle at the next meeting of the Democratic National Committee.

Blacks and other reformers plan challenges to many of the procedures adopted in January by the Compliance Review Commission, a party panel set up to supervise 1976 rules. Especially troublesome is the decision to limit the application of reforms aimed at greater participation by minorities, women and youth.

JOHN P. ROCHE

A Word Edgewise

Sources close to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's thinking suggest that he is not sure how much longer he can put up with attacks by small-minded critics. True, these sources say, he realizes he has done brilliantly and recognizes what a blow his resignation would be to the fortunes of the Republic. But how much can a sensitive man tolerate?

Since I suggested as early as 1969 that I had never seen Kissinger walking on the Charles River, no one can accuse me (in Sen. Hugh Scott's phrase) of suddenly joining a "jackal pack." However, I yield to no one in my conviction that the Secretary's performance in the Middle East justifies the strongest possible criticism. It is not a question of being for or against Israel: The real problem is that Kissinger has been played for a sucker by the Soviets and their Arab clients. (I would hold the same view if he had been snookered by the Israelis.)

What Kissinger has consistently failed to realize is that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is a talented actor who, with full cooperation from Moscow, has been sponsoring a first-class charade. I mentioned here a while back the lovely sideshow that occurred in Moscow when, against a background of rumors that Egypt had completely broken with the Soviets and Chairman Brezhnev would not visit Cairo, the military representatives of the two powers were quietly arranging a massive arms deal. Sadat and Brezhnev must have really had a good laugh over the way solemn American pundits bought that bit of burlesque.

Indeed, Sadat has so enjoyed his triumphs as a con artist that recently he supevised the writing of a book by Abdel-Satar Tawila, military correspondent for the Cairo journal "Ruz al-Yusef," which describes his artistry in joyous detail. The book — "The Six Hour War According to a Military Correspondent's Diary" — carries the Egyptian president's personal imprimatur: The newspaper informs us that Sadat encouraged and guided the author, besides giving him access to classified military documents on the Yom Kippur War. Tawila more than reciprocates the favors: The first chapter is built around the theme, "Egypt's Clever Peasant Farmer Deceived the World's Most Powerful Intelligence Organizations."

What follows is virtually a blow by blow of the disinformation scenario Sadat sponsored for our benefit: "The brilliant plan of political camouflage was based on large-scale diplomatic activity. Now and then, several emissaires would fly, as Sadat's representatives, all over the world. . . The Arabic press would print large headlines referring to what were called diplomatic or political activities." Why? To remind "the world and its leaders of the problem on a political level (and give) the impression that the Egyptian regime was incapable of any other type of activity" — that is, military action. Further, "the agencies of the regime spread exaggerated reports and rumors regarding Egypt's deficiency in the weapons necessary to begin the battle against Israel, even while the two parties — Egypt and the USSR — were reaching an agreement about the quantities of arms to be supplied during tthe second half of 1973." (Emphasis added)

As far as the expulsion of Soviet experts in July 1972 was concerned, that too was a ruse: a "diversionary campaign. . . while preparations for war, however, proceeded at full swing. When the war actually broke out, there was the additional surprise of unlimited Soviet support on the international scene and in the form of arms shipments." Moreover, "the world was told that Arab intellectuals. . . regarded the phenomenon of international detente as a potential cause of failure in the armed struggle to liberate Arab land, or as a reason which would force the Arabs to reconsider." Thus, chortles Tawila, Israel was left to sleep in peace: "You may therefore proceed securely for a long time to come, oh people of Zion!"

Perhaps the most interesting piece of information, in retrospect, was that Sadat's contract with an American firm to build an oil pipeline parallel to the Suez Canal — signed a few days before Yom Kippur — was part of the pattern of deception: "This meant that matters were going well, since the administration was considering the construction of projects for peacetime purposes; would it have been reasonable to assume the Canal would be crossed several days later?" Nicely done, Sadat. What are you planning for your "friend" Henry this time?

Don't Ignore Child's Antisocial Behavior

"One of the most alarming responses to tragedy is no response at all. If a child is absolutely unflapped by the death of a parent, it means a powerful defensive reaction has been set in motion."

Does your child manifest extreme antisocial symptoms? Do you ignore his bad behavior because you feel he'll outgrow it? This week's cover story focuses on the troubled child, the "problem" child. True, not every child needs psychological attention, but on the basis of recent findings by the Center for Preventive Psychiatry, early psychotherapy may be useful in eliminating insurmountable anguish in later life. Read how traumatic experiences endanger a child's mental health and what symptoms warrant parent concern.

This interesting article for parents of young children will appear in Family Weekly Saturday, a regular feature of this newspaper.

JOHN P. ROCHE

A Word Edgewise

Sources close to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's thinking suggest that he is not sure how much longer he can put up with attacks by small-minded critics. True, these sources say, he realizes he has done brilliantly and recognizes what a blow his resignation would be to the fortunes of the Republic. But how much can a sensitive man tolerate?

Since I suggested as early as 1969 that I had never seen Kissinger walking on the Charles River, no one can accuse me (in Sen. Hugh Scott's phrase) of suddenly joining a "jackal pack." However, I yield to no one in my conviction that the Secretary's performance in the Middle East justifies the strongest possible criticism. It is not a question of being for or against Israel: The real problem is that Kissinger has been played for a sucker by the Soviets and their Arab clients. (I would hold the same view if he had been snookered by the Israelis.)

What Kissinger has consistently failed to realize is that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is a talented actor who, with full cooperation from Moscow, has been sponsoring a first-class charade. I mentioned here a while back the lovely sideshow that occurred in Moscow when, against a background of rumors that Egypt had completely broken with the Soviets and Chairman Brezhnev would not visit Cairo, the military representatives of the two powers were quietly arranging a massive arms deal. Sadat and Brezhnev must have really had a good laugh over the way solemn American pundits bought that bit of burlesque.

Indeed, Sadat has so enjoyed his triumphs as a con artist that recently he supevised the writing of a book by Abdel-Satar Tawila, military correspondent for the Cairo journal "Ruz al-Yusef," which describes his artistry in joyous detail. The book — "The Six Hour War According to a Military Correspondent's Diary" — carries the Egyptian president's personal imprimatur: The newspaper informs us that Sadat encouraged and guided the author, besides giving him access to classified military documents on the Yom Kippur War. Tawila more than reciprocates the favors: The first chapter is built around the theme, "Egypt's Clever Peasant Farmer Deceived the World's Most Powerful Intelligence Organizations."

What follows is virtually a blow by blow of the disinformation scenario Sadat sponsored for our benefit: "The brilliant plan of political camouflage was based on large-scale diplomatic activity. Now and then, several emissaires would fly, as Sadat's representatives, all over the world. . . The Arabic press would print large headlines referring to what were called diplomatic or political activities." Why? To remind "the world and its leaders of the problem on a political level (and give) the impression that the Egyptian regime was incapable of any other type of activity" — that is, military action. Further, "the agencies of the regime spread exaggerated reports and rumors regarding Egypt's deficiency in the weapons necessary to begin the battle against Israel, even while the two parties — Egypt and the USSR — were reaching an agreement about the quantities of arms to be supplied during tthe second half of 1973." (Emphasis added)
